MANGET WILLING TO BUY, BUT FAILS TO GET DRUGSTORE

Dr. W. B. Franklin Refuses to Sell Prescription Department Until After Consultation With Attorney.

JACKSON SAYS MANGET WILL CALL ANY BLUFF

Dr. Franklin Says That, Under Terms of Lease, He Is Not Allowed to Sub-Let the Department Without Consent of the Owners.

Declaring that he could not sign any document without first consulting his attorneys, and stating that by the terms of his lease he was not permitted to sublet any part of the space occupied by his establishment in the Connally building, Dr. W. B. Franklin, president of the Franklin & Cox Drug company, declined Monday afternoon to sign the sales agreement offered by Marion Jackson, attorney for John A. Manget, Georgia fair price commissioner.

Mr. Jackson refused to make any statement concerning a possible adjustment in the hitch in Monday's proceedings, other than:

"If the druggists of Atlanta don't want their 'bluffs' called in regard to Mr. Manget's offer to buy out any bona fide prescription department in Atlanta, they had better not lay themselves open to a 'call' without being prepared to talk business."

Offer Turned Down.

Dr. Franklin's refusal to complete the expected deal, by which Mr. Manget would have become the proprietor of the prescription department of the large drug store, was made at a conference Monday afternoon in Mr. Jackson's offices between Dr. Franklin and Mr. Jackson.

"I made Mr. Manget's offer," said Mr. Jaskson, "and it was turned down. Whether or not there will be any adjustment of the hitch Tuesday I am not prepared to say, the matter rests wholly on Dr. Franklin."

"When Dr. Franklin came to my office this afternoon," continued Mr. Jackson, "I formally tendered him my check for $50 as the initial payment in clinching the deal. Attached to the check was a sales agreement, which Dr. Franklin had only to sign to complete the transaction. I drew the papers myself, and had been instructed by Mr. Manget to accept the proposition.

"Dr. Franklin refused to sign the papers," stated Mr. Jackson, "declaring he would sign nothing until he had conferred with his attorneys. He further stated that under his present lease, he was prohibited from making any agreement leading to the joint occupancy of any other party to their place of business in the Connally building."

Dr. Franklin's Statement.

When a Constitution representative asked Dr. Franklin for a statement, he declared that certain matters would have to be looked into before he would consent to selling out.

"I cannot sign any agreement permitting the joint occupancy to space occupied by our firm without first talking with the owners of the building. I did not know of the existence of the clause in the lease contract prohibiting this until today, and I haven't yet had time to talk the matter over with the owners. If they consent, then one of the obstacles is removed.

"In our business," continued Dr. Franklin, "it is necessary for us to use automobile trucks, motorcycles and other vehicles in delivering packages to customers. Under the terms of the agreement these valuable adjuncts would prove a total loss to us. They must be taken care of before we can complete any sort of sales agreement."

Dr. Franklin reiterated his announcement of Sunday that he was perfectly willing to sell the prescription end of his business, and that as soon as the obstacles were removed he would complete the deal.

Manget Still Ill.

Still very ill at his apartments at the Georgian Terrace, Mr. Manget could not be reached for a statement concerning the latest development of his challenge to "buy any prescription business in Atlanta, paying cost for salable goods, pay a $500 cash bonus, over the inviced value of the stock, raise the clerks' salaries and cut the prescription prices in half."

It was stated at his offices in the Candler building, however, that he had been apprised of the latest turn in events and had promised an announcement within the next few days.

Letters from every section of the state poured into his offices throughout Monday containing offers of assistance in conducting the affairs of any store he might purchase in Atlanta, and congratulating him on the stand he had taken against alleged profiteers in the prescription line here.

Sales Agreement.

"GEORGIA—FULTON COUNTY:

"Whereas, John A. Manget has stated if any downtown druggist wishes to sell

Atlanta Teachers Vote to Affiliate With Labor Unions

Action Had Been Contemplated for Some Time, Step Having Been Recommended by Directors.

The Atlanta Public School Teachers' association, at a full membership meeting Monday afternoon, voted unanimously to affiliate with the Atlanta Federation of Trades. This action had been contemplated for some time, the directors having voted several weeks ago recommending such a step to the association.

Delegates from the teachers' association will, in the future, attend the bi-monthly meetings of the federation of trades.

The report of the publicity committee, presented by Miss Julia Riordan, gave out a number of facts in regard to teachers' salaries. Statistics from questionnaires, sent out more than a month ago to 38 progressive cities, showed that Atlanta pays her grade teachers from $35 to $40 less than the average salary paid in this group of cities; that high school teachers receive from $218 to $500 per year less than the average, and that principals of grammar and high schools receive from $880 to $2,260 per year less than the average.

Miss Riordan stated that replies to the questionnaires also brought out the fact that the cities heard from had increased the salaries of their teaching forces during the past two years from 60 to 100 per cent, and that according to the standards of those cities, the amount of increase recently requested by the Atlanta teachers was very modest, since if it be granted it will still elave salaries of Atlanta teachers below the maximum salaries paid in the cities referred to.

C. E. Phillips, president of the association, and Miss Mary Barker, secretary, gave interesting accounts of a recent visit to Chicago, where they went as delegates to the convention of the American Federation of Teachers.

Much pride is expressed by the local instructors in the fact that the Atlanta unit has the second largest membership in the country, being exceeded in numbers only by the New York citi local.

Shot Mustard Into the Body Of Mother-in-Law

And Caused Her Death. That Charge Brought Against Young Doctor. Wanted to Prevent Her Wedding Third Time.

Markesan, Wis., January 12.—Dr. J. A. Freudenberg, a young physician of this town, was arrested today charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Nettie Duffies. A coroner's jury formally charged Dr. Freudenberg with causing Mrs. Duffies' death by an injection of mustard in the bladder. The death, under mysterious circumstances, of other members of the Duffies family during the last five years is being investigated and plans have been made for the exhumation and examination of the body of Alfred Duffies, Mrs. Daffies' second husband, who died two years ago.

Dr. Freundenberg was placed in jail at Greenlake. He refused to make a statement. Preliminary hearing in his case was continued for ten days and under the law no bail can be fixed until after this preliminary hearing. The complaint upon which the warrant for the physician's arrest was issued was made by Wilfred E. Perry, brother of Mrs. Duffies.

The arrest followed quickly upon two important discoveries, according to District Attorney Paul. He said he had received evidence tending to show that the physician might have brought about his mother-in-law's death November 1 to prevent her marrying a third time. Some time ago, Mr. Paul said, Edward Mathers, an old acquaintance of Mrs. Duffies, had come from South Dakota to visit her and had remained for several weeks.

Mr. Paul said he had evidence to show that Dr. Freudenberg had sent the brother, Mr. Perry, to the store for mustard the day Mrs. Duffes was taken to a hospital.

Mrs. Duffes' estate is valued at $300,000. The physician's wife and her brother are said to be the only survivink members of the family.

Dr. Freudenberg is 37 years old. Five years ago, virtually penniless, he came to this quiet little village of 1,200 population. He has a baby daughter, Jane. His wife is 31 years old. She says she will stand by her husband.

The district attorney has affidavits from Mrs. Grace Briehl, the nurse who cared for Mrs. Duffies on her death bed and from patients in St. Mary's hospital at Fon du Lac, where Mrs. Duffies died. These patients are said to have overheard conversations between Dr. Freudenberg and a member of the hospital staff regarding his mother-in-law's condition.

BAN IS PROPOSED ON VICTOR BERGER

Washington, January 12.—Victor Lu Berger, Milwaukee socialist twice denied a seat in the house and immediately nominated for the third time, would be declared ineligible for membership in either house or senate, under a bill introduced today by Representative Luhring, republican, Indiana.

WHIPPING WOMEN AT CITY STOCKADE ORDERED STOPPED

INVESTIGATION BEGUN BY STATE AND CITY

J. I. Kelley Will Withhold Report Until Welfare Board Meets—Mayor Refuses to Allow the "Bucking Chair" Photographed.

Instructions that no more women be whipped at the city stockade, pending completion of the investigations of this alleged practice, begun by the state and city, were issued Monday afternoon by the prison committee of council to T. B. Lanford, superintendent at the prison.

This action was taken at a meeting of the committee held at 4 o'clock. Dr. A. H. Cochran cast the only dissenting vote. Two members of the committee were absent.

Mr. Lanford, together with his counsel, Attorney E. C. Buchanan, and members of the prison force appeared at the meeting in anticipation of a hearing. The mayor was also present under the same impression, but Chairman J. L. Carpenter announced that in view of the fact that a councilmanic probe by direction of the full council is to be asked for, the committee would not go into the whipping charges Monday.

State Officers Present.

J. I. Kelley, acting chairman of the state board of public welfare, and Philip Weltner, counsel for the board, who conducted a preliminary investigation at the stockade Monday afternoon, were present at the committee session, but neither made any statement.

They declined to make any public comment of their findings on the ground that these are matters subject to review by the entire board and a report to the governor.

The state board will be called together at the capital at an early date, in regular meeting, said Mr. Kelley, but pending municipal action on matters at the city stockade, no further immediate investigation will be made at that point.

When it was determined that there would be no hearing by the committee Superintendent Lanford asked for permission to make a statement. He declared that he had been assailed as being cruel and inhuman in his treatment of prisoners in his custody and that public reports in this respect had done him an injustice. He asserted that it had always been his purpose to conduct the prison under the rules as given him, and asked the committee if they approved of his going on with the past method of discipline.

Favors Rule of 1919.

Dr. Cochran moved that the rules of 1919 continue to apply until rules for 1920 have been formulated by the committee.

"I wouldn't take any action at all," protested Councilman J. R. Nutting.

"Then under what rules would the prison be governed tomorrow?" returned Mr. Cochran.

"If I were superintendent of the prison I would perform the duties as I saw them, regardless of what people said," commented Alderman I. F. Styron.

Mr. Nutting then launched into a condemnation of the practice of whipping women, and declared that it is against the public conscience for anything of that kind to be allowed. He moved that for the time being the superintendent be instructed to suspend the flogging of women.

Chairman Carpenter asked the mayor for his opinion. "I know you can't manage a prison without discipline," he replied. "If Lanford comes here and says that all this hurrah in the newspapers is weakening his discipline, it is your duty to stand up to him."

Preferred Other Methods.

The problem of the superintendent is rendered more difficult, said the mayor, since many prisoners are sent to the stockade with sentences of only fifteen or twenty days. To these appeal is useless, he said, and some effective means to make them work is necessary. He added, however, that he wished some other method than whipping could be devised.

Refusing request of a reporter for The Constitution to be permitted to photograph the alleged "bucking chair" at the stockade, the mayor stated that by so doing he felt that he would be "making a contribution to hysteria."

The motion of Mr. Nutting was vigorously opposed by Mr. Cochran, who asked the committee to go into the making of the general rules for 1920 or let the whole matter alone. He wished to indorse Mr. Lanford.

To stop whipping women now, said Mr. Cochran, would convey the impression to the public that they were admitting a wrong, and it would be mistaken policy not to uphold the hands of the superintendent. By their vote the others of the committee expressed an opposite

Although declining to make a statement on their findings, Vice Chairman Kelley, following adjournment of the prison committee, said that it is the purpose of the board of public welfare to render every assistance possible to those in charge of institutional work in Georgia, and that an extensive study will be made of municipal workhouses and systems to arrive at the most approved methods of control.

Uplifting Is Sought.

To that end, the prison committee of the city council of Atlanta,

American Troops To Leave Siberia During February

The Czecho-Slovak Soldiers Will Also Quit Siberia When Americans Are Withdrawn.

JAPAN WILL BE LEFT TO ASSIST RUSSIANS

As Japan Is Alarmed About Bolshevik Menace She May Largely Increase the Number of Her Troops in Russian Territory.

Washington, January 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Decision to withdraw the American troops from Siberia upon the completion of the repatriation of the Czecho-Slovak forces next month has been reached by the American government.

The troops were sent to Siberia in accord with an agreement between the United States, Japan and the entante powers to aid the Czechs and protect the Siberian railroad and Japan has been notified by the United States of the cancellation of that agreement, in so far as it affects the presence of an American military expedition.

Rail Commission to Leave.

When the Czechs have been removed, the American railroad commission, headed by John F. Stevens, which has been in Russia since before the fall of the former czar's government, will leave Vladivostok for home and the American soldiers, under Major General Graves, will follow as soon as transports can be made available. Presumably the same ships which are to take the Czecho-Slovaks across the Pacific will be used. Two of these vessels, the President Grant and America, are expected to leave New York within a few days.

With the departure of the Americans, Japan will be left alone to assist the loyal Russians in their efforts to stem the eastward march of the bolsheviki. The rapid progress made by the soviet forces has been a source of apprehension in Japan and the cabinet at Tokio has been to considerable means of combatting what Japanese officials generally regard as a serious menace.

Suggestions have been made that Japan materially increase its force of 30,000 troops in Siberia and it has opened negotiations with the American government with this end in view. So far as was learned today, however, no agreement has yet been reached.

About 8,000 U. S. Troops.

The American force numbers about 8,000 men and was sent into Siberia last summer. Its presence has been the subject of numerous spirited debates in the senate and resulted in the adoption of a resolution calling upon the President Wilson for a statement of the administration's policy. In reply to this resoultion, the state department said the purpose of sending the expedition was solely to assist the Czechs and to guard the railroad in the meantime.

It is not known here what Japan's policy will be now she will be obliged to face alone the problem of checking progress of the eastward flood of bolshevism, but it has been suggested she might immediately avail herself of that provision of the league of nations covenant which permits any party to call for the assistance or advice of the others in meeting any menacing condition such as the bolshevist movement which Japan regards as threatening her.

Japan recently took up with the American government the question of increasing its forces in Siberia so as to check the bolsheviki, and the negotiations are continuing.

Americans Are Volunteers.

The American forces in Siberia are volunteers recently sent there to replace the original drafts of selective service men sent in when the inter-allied movement was launched in the summer of 1918.

Arrangements for the return of the Czechs have been made by the United States and Great Britain, but whether they will go home direct or via the United States or Canada has not yet been determined.

KOREA IS INVADED BY KOREAN ARMY

Reported That National Force Has Crossed the Siberian Frontier Into Korea and Driven Japs From Town.

Honolulu, January 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—A Korean national army has crossed the Siberian frontier into Korea and has captured En Chin from the Japanese provisional government forces, according to a cablegram from Shanghai to the Korean National association here.

$45,000 FOR WORK ON SPRING STREET

Income of City for 1920 Estimated at $4,700,000. Proposal to Levy Emergency Tax Will Be Considered Later.

As one of their most important actions yesterday in an all day session members of the finance committee of council voted to appropriate $45,000 to pay the cost of the work required of the city in the matter of the proposed widening and repaving of Spring street. It now becomes assured that this project will go forward without much longer delay.

When the committee met Monday morning to make up the tentative January budget a big problem confronted it. It was found that the actual income probably would be about $4,700,000, while the expenses of the city are expected to go over $4,000,000.

Informal discussion appeared to bring out unanimous opinion that a substantial increase must be granted the public school teachers, and with this done virtually no money will be left over to take care of a number of public improvements regarded a simperative and which will cost in the aggregate well over half a million dollars.

Emergency Tax Plan.

The resolution providing for the levy of an emergency tax of one-fourth of 1 per cent referred to the committee by council at its last meeting will be taken up later in the week. It was said the committee will most likely be in session the remainder of the week to complete the sheet.

Heads of the police, fire, waterworks and streets departments, appeared before the committee and outlined their needs for the year. Numerous salary raises were asked for which the committee appeared disposed to grant.

Decision to set aside a sum sufficient to pay the salary of six additional plain clothes men in the police department, in accordance with a request of J. W. Maddox, chairman of the police commission, and Police Chief J. L. Beavers was made by the committee.

Twenty-one thousand dollars was placed in the budget to improve and maintain the three sewage disposal plants of the city. To streets $60,000 additional was appropriated, and the committee favored the purchase of the following new equipment for the construction department:

One 8-ton tandem roller, one revolving broom, two sprinklers, two 1-ton trucks, three 2½-ton trucks, three trailers, one 200-gallon asphalt kettle, one outfit of hand tools for a new asphalt squad, aggregating $23,000.

Provide for Cyclorama.

The committee indicated, that it was its purpose to make provision for the cyclorama fund in accordance with the law passed by the Georgia general assembly several years ago, the constitutionality of which was recently upheld by the Georgia supreme court.

This law provided that effective with the passage of the law, which was enacted in 1915, the city council be required to set aside a sum of $10,000 annually, together with the receipts of the cyclorama, which have ranged from $7,000 to $10,000 annually until the sum of $100,000 shall have accumulated, this sum to be expended in building a suitable structure for the cyclorama painting.

Much of the time of the committee Monday was taken up in discussing the detailed items of the reports.

PRICES OF SHOES GOING HIGHER, SAY RETAILERS

Boston, January 12.—"Have shoe prices reached the limit?" A committee of the Boston Retail Shoe Dealers' association, after canvassing the situation in the trade, says "no."

The question and answer are contained in a report given out today in connection with the annual convention of the National Retailers' association, now in session here.

Explaining why higher prices are to be expected, the committee's report says:

"Shoes now on sale were made from leather costing 60 cents to a dollar a foot. Shoes now being made for spring are from materials costing 80 cents to $1.25 a foot, plus higher costs for other materials and additional grants to labor, with less pairs per man produced."

Prices will go down it is said, "when there is more leather and less demand for it here and abroad," and "when strikes cease and labor connected with shoes, buckles down and produces more pairs."

The shoe dealers davise people to shine their own shoes. Aside from the saving in expense, the report say, "it is important to know that the heat or friction burning of the savage onslaught of the professional shoeshiner is responsible for most of the uppers cracking."

Comparison of the cost of a 9-inch black kid woman's boot in September, 1914, and September, 1919, involving twenty-one articles entering into its manufacture, was presented to show that it cost $10.04 four months ago to produce a boot that cost $3.35 in 1914.

WILSON GIVES CALL FOR FIRST MEETING OF LEAGUE COUNCIL

Executive Board of the League of Nations to Meet in Paris at 10:30 Next Friday Morning.

NO REPRESENTATION FOR UNITED STATES

As this Government Has Not Yet Ratified the Treaty—Council Is Expected to Set Up Number of Commissions.

Washington, January 12.—President Wilson today issued the call for the first meeting of the council of the league of nations to be held at Paris at 10:30 a. m. Friday. It was directed to the ambassadors of the entente nations which have become a paty to the exchange of ratifications of the treaty of Versailles, and will not be made public until it has been transmitted by them to their governments.

The call, which was very brief, was issued by the president in accord with the terms of the treaty. The United States will not be represented at the meeting of the council, which is expected to provide for the setting up of a number of commissions, immediate creation of which tocarry out certain provisions of the treatyis mandatory.

Nations to Be Represented.

Paris, January 12.—At the meeting of th eexecutive council of the league of nations, which is to be held in the ministry of foreign affairs January 16, the participating nations will be represented as follows:

Daring Smugglers Bring Contraband Into Washington

(The Constitution—Philadelphia Public Ledger Service—Copyright, 1920.)

Washington, January 12.—One of the most adroit and successful cases of liquor smuggling into the Sacrosanct district of Columbia came to the attention of The Constitution bureau today.

Just before Christmas the Polish minister to the United States, Prince Casimar Lubomirski, was the joyful recipient of a cargo of assorted drinkables from Europe. It is understood to have consisted of 100 bottles of pre-war Scotch whisky and several dozen cases of choice champagne. On the shipment's arrival in New York the Polish legation attempted to have the wet goods forwarded to Washington by the usual railroad route. To Prince Lubromirski's chagrin it proved impossible to send them by rail, as no transportation company was willing to undertake a guarantee of delivery.

It was represented to the distinguished and thirsty Pole that liquor shipments nowadays are more often stolen than delivered. He was told of the reported disappearance of two gross of champagne consigned to his colleague, Baron de Cartier, the Belgian ambassador, and of the story that a whole trainload of gin was "lost" en route to the Atlantic seaboard from the middle west.

Prince Lubomirski was advised to send his priceless consignment south by special motor truck and decided to do so. Before he could arrange matters word of his intentions mysteriously got about. A couple of days later a motor truck, loaded with goods answering in general to the description above mentioned, duly arrived at the district frontier. Bills of lading and other documents were found to be in order, as well as other documents attesting that the truck was on its way to 3147 Sixteenth street, which is the Polish legation. The excise and police officials on duty were suspicious and declined to permit the truck to cross the boundary line.

The truckmen, unperturbed, suggested that if the ninth precinct police would communicate with the Polish legation they would find that everything was in order. This was done. Prince Lubormiski's officials replied, in accents of undisguised joy, that they were expecting some perishable freight of the sort, whereupon the authorities decided to admit it without further quibble or question. But it was not the Polish legation's liquor. It had been cunningly smuggled in by bootleggers and presumably was sold at fancy prices to Washingtonians imbued with a determination to enjoy one more old-fashioned Christmas and New Year's.

Prince Lubomirski's shipment has meantime come to hand. Investigation is in progress, but to date the mystery remains unsolved.

CANADIAN CLUB LIQUOR CONCEALED IN LUMBER

Perth Amboy, N. J., Jan. 12.—Between 500 and 600 cases of Canadian club whisky, concealed in lumber and seized by revenue agents, was shipped today to the New York customs house. The "lumber" was consigned to the "George W. Jackson Lumber company," but there is no company of that nature in town.

CHEAPER SUGAR SEEMS IN SIGHT

American Refining Company Fixes 14 3-4 Cents Pound as the Wholesale Price—This Ought to Mean Lower Price to Consumer.

New York, January 12.—A price of 14¾ cents a pound for granulated sugar refined from the new crop has been established for the wholesale and manufacturing trade by the American Sugar Refining company, it announced tonight. When the refining price was fixed at 9 cents by the sugar equalization board, it allowed a profit of one-half cent a pound to wholesalers and one cent to retailers, making the retail price 10½ cents. Allowing middlemen an additional profit of one cent a pound, making their margin 2½ cents because of the higher basic price and increased overhead expenses, the price per pound to the consumer would be 17¼c, or considerably less than the prevailing retail price.

Export Business Refused.

The statement of the refining company disclosed that it is declining all export business until sugar conditions in this country become easier and that in 1919 it delivered more sugar to the domestic trade than in several years. Since the shortage began last September, deliveries have averaged 125,000,000 pounds a month, most of it east of the Pittsburg-Buffalo line.

"Following the custom of the trade in normal times," the company's statement said, "we are announcing an opening price of bulk granulated sugar refined from new crop raw sugars of 15 cents a pound f.o.b. refinery, less 2 per cent cash discount, based on the present market for new crop raw sugar. This means a net price to the wholesale and manufacturing trade of less than 14¾ cents a pound.

"While we have been offered export business for 1920 delivery in great volume, yet so far we have declined all this foreign business, holding our refining capacity for domestic business until sugar conditions in this country become easier.

Sugar for Domestic Trade.

"During the year 1919 just closed, we have delivered more sugar to the domestic trade than in several years. Since the start of the present sugar shortage last September, we have delivered over 500,000,000 pounds of refined sugar to the domestic trade, being an average of 125,000,000 pounds per month. In December, the month of shortest supplies, we delivered over 52,000,000 pounds, and during the first twelve days of January we have delivered over 14,000,000 pounds.

"A large part of these deliveries have been made since the establishment of distributing zones on October 15, limiting our deliveries to the territory east of the Pittsburg-Buffalo line. All these deliveries have been at the government price of 9 cents f.o.b. refinery, less 2 per cent cash discount to the wholesale and manufacturing trade, a price which has been in effect without change since September 9, 1918, a period of over sixteen months."

BUILDING RECORD FOR MONTH MADE

Building permits aggregating $157,565, issued Monday at the office of the building inspector at the city hall, brought the total in Atlanta for the first twelve days of January up to $1,069,355, smashing to bits any previous record made in the full month of January.

H. B. Schumpert applied for permits to erect eleven residences on Virginia circle, eight of brick veneer to cost $6,000 each; two frame dwellings to cost $5,000 each and one of hollow tile construction, costing $6,750.

Permits for the erection of a $75,000 apartment house at 438 North Boulevard was issued to J. M. Phagan and J. J. Hannah. It will be built of brick and hollow tile and will contain twelve apartments of four and five rooms each.

J. H. Whisenant was granted permits to erect two brick veneer residences, one at 511 and the other at 515 Glenwood avenue, at an estimated cost of $7,500 each.

MISSIONARY IS HELD BY CHINESE BANDITS

Peking, January 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Dr. A. L. Shelton, a Christian missionary, was captured by bandits at Laoyakusn, near Yunnan-Fu, on January 3, and is being held for ransom, according to reports received here. Officials of the American legation here and Chinese authorities are investigating the case.

ARTICLE 10 OF LEAGUE CRUX OF THE CONTEST

One Side or the Other Must Yield on the Article If Treaty Is to Be Ratified—Senator Lodge Very Stubborn in Regard to Article.

By James A. Hollomon.
(By Constitution Leased Wire.)

Washington, January 12.—Do the republican senators want the treaty of peace ratified or crucified?

The day is rapidly approaching for a showdown. In the senate majority there are supposed to be three distinctive groups. The largest of these is represented by Lodge, the chairman of the foreign relations committee, and the titular author of the Lodge schedule of reservations, at least one of which, that on Article X., is considered by democrats to be nullifying in its present draft.

The next largest group is the "mild reservationists," who are willing to ratify with such interpretations as the democrats have been from the first anxious and willing to accept.

The third group, composed of Borah, Johnson, Knox, Poindexter and three or four on the democratic side, are the "irreconcilables" who are opposed to the treaty, league and everything and everybody connected with it.

The Lodge majority made it plain when trying to shift the responsibility for treaty defeat upon democratic shoulders, that it would be willing to strike a compromise. All the while, however, it has played a game of hide and seek, keeping politics in the foreground as a guiding factor.

Knocking at Republican Door.

Now the democrats, nearer united for a liberal compromise than ever before, are knocking at the republican door. In a sense, the senators of both sides are nearer a compromise tonight than ever before, and yet with republicans playing the political game to the sacrifice of everything else, there is no telling what they may do in the end. At any rate, one fact is outstanding—if a compromise ratification is not now effected the burden of its defeat will be absolutely upon the republicans. That much is fixed.

All the democrats at the Owen conference went on record in favor of treaty ratification with reasonable reservations.

It was the unanimous view that the president does not want the treaty taken into the campaign any more than William Jennings Bryan does; that he does want the senate to ratify, and that if it will send him reservations showing the United States is friendly and not antagonistic to the treaty, he will accept them.

There was no suggestion of a revolt against the president's leadership, and no disposition to follow Bryan, though all agreed with him that democrats "should make every effort consistent with America's honor," to ratify the treaty before the campaign begins.

"It was the largest gathering of democratic senators to discuss reservations that has been held since the democratic caucus last session. It was entirely harmonious. Everybody agreed that president Wil-

What Compromise Involves.

From the best information obtainable tonight, the democratic compromise plan involves only the elimination of the preamble from the Lodge ratifying resolution, and for a modification of the reservation dealing with article X. of the league covenant.

The Lodge reservation provides that the United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any country or to interfere in controversies between nations undtr the provisions of article X. or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose "unless in any particular case the congress, which, under the legislation, has the so'e power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall, by act or resolution, so provide."

This reservation relative to article X. has been tentatively redrafted in language, which some of the democratic leaders are inclined to believe will represent what the republican leaders desire without at the same time nullifying the treaty. This redraft, it is understood, provides that in ratifying the treaty the senate understands that the naval and land forces of the United States are not to be used without express approval of congress, but the effort has been to so word the reservations as not to do away with the oral obligations of the United States under the treaty or actually to nullify the treaty.

The position steadfastly maintained in these dispatches that the president's Jackson day letter invited compromise, rather than closed the doors to such a course, is now universally accepted by democratic leaders, and republican propagandists have again been forced to seek cover. It is up to them.

Many Conferences Held.

Senate lobbies and private offices seethed again today with individual conferences, activity being principally on the democratic side. Among the "sounding-out" developments was further exchange of views between "mild reservation" republicans and Senators Kendrick, of Wyoming, and McKellar, of Tennessee, democrats, regarding reservations suggested by the two democrats. The "mild" republicans expressed confidence that the Kendrick-McKellar drafts would form the bases for a definite presentation from the democratic side later with general democratic support.

Another development was the designation of Senator Smith, of Georgia, by a group of democrats, to consult Senator Lodge, republican leader, in an attempt to adjust the dispute over article 10 of the league of nations covenant. Democrats and "mild reservations" senators expressed hope that Senator Lodge and his supporters would agree to modification of the foreign relations committee reservation to article 10.

Bryan Urges Action.

A number of democratic senators received telegrams today from William J Bryan urging ratification of the treaty so the United States could enter the league of nations by the time the league council holds its first meeting next Friday.

Mr. Bryan's position on the treaty was discussed briefly in the senate Senator King, a democrat, Utah, said the proposal for compromise reservations "was not original with Mr Bryan," although a large part of the press was "disseminating the idea that the plan is Mr. Bryan's and that a number of democratic senators are now ready to abandon their previous views and ratify the treaty."

"I also believe the treaty will be ratified promptly," remarked Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, "but I think it will be ratified sooner because Mr. Bryan came to town."

ONE SIDE OR OTHER MUST SURRENDER ON ARTICLE TEN

By Robert T. Barry.

(The Constitution—Philadelphia Public Ledger Service—Copyright, 1920.)

Washington, January 12.—Strip it of its persiflage, penetrate its camouflage, analyze its real motive and the treaty situation in the senate of the United States reveals three very important factors. They are:

First. The treaty of Versailles is as dead today as it was on the 19th day of November when it failed three times of ratification.

Second. The people and a substantial majority of the press of America are being victimized by one of the most flagrant games of political buncombe which politicians ever dared to undertake on so sacred an issue as the good name and honor of the United States, shall, by act or resolution, so provide."

Third. If the treaty is ratified, as a majority of senators now are predicting, it will be because one side or other surrenders on Article X of the league of nations covenant It is possible to compromise phraseology on other reservations There is a fundamental difference as to principle on Article X. Both sides say on this they will never surrender, although each expects or hopes the other will.

The plain fact, stated bluntly, is simply that the democrats and the republicans in the senate, which is akin to saying President Wilson and Senator Lodge, are just as far apart today on Article X. of the covenant for a league of nations as they ever were, and neither has the remotest idea of "surrendering." The members of the senate, best qualified to take the pulse of that body, are talking compromise because they are avowed apostles of the "patriotism above politics" doctrine, but in reality they are snickering into their sleeves over the manner in which press and public are being taken in by the "compromise talk" being handed to newspaper correspondents. They are making a "play" before the people because they have heard the popular demand for conclusive action on the treaty.

The "mild reservation" republicans who really are sincere in their hope for compromise ratification, are not parties to this political game. Neither are many democratic senators who are ready to make genuine concessions in the matter of reservations, in order to end the treaty wrangle which they are aware is becoming daily more disgusting to the American people.

Based on Thorough Investigation.

Coming on the heels of the persistent compromise optimism of many senators, administration officials, republican leaders not holding public office, and other persons who cannot bring themselves to believe the senate is as mischievously obstinate as its conduct has indicated, the statements here set forth may appear radical or unfounded. They are based on a very thorough investigation in the senate. They disregard the statements made for public consumption by senators talking to large groups of newspaper correspondents in the senate lobbies and corridors. They take into consideration what influential senators, those who are saying little, are revealing in private conversations. They are the facts in the case.

Senator Lodge has no more idea today of yielding on the article 10 reservation than he had when the republican majority of the senate decided as a matter of political policy never to yield to the council of a league of nations the right to impose upon the congress or the people of the United States an obligation, moral or legal, to interfere in controversies between other nations or to commit the congress to the employment of the military or naval forces for the preservation of the territorial integrity or political independence of other nations.

A substantial majority of the democrats in the senate have no more notion today than they had when President Wilson attached his signature to the treaty at Versailles on June 28, 1919, of sacrificing the principle that the moral and forceful influence of the United States, the armed force if necessary, should be linked with that of other great powers to prevent "wars for conquest."

The question at issue is not a rearrangement of words or phrase. It involves a compromise of fundamentals. As Senator Hitchcock expressed it today, for the democrats to accept the Lodge reservation on Article X., repudiating the obligation embodied in the covenant, would be not to compromise, but to surrender. Senator Lodge stands for the Article X. reservation, unchanged as to principle, and he has the support of enough republican senators to prevent ratification on any other basis.

Wish Father to Thought.

Wherein then does all this talk of compromise have its foundation? Because with the "mild reservation" republicans and the democrats, the wish is father t othe thought. They believe if they wish hard enough they can bring about a compromise. But all of them admitted today that the negotiations thus far simply have removed the outer brush, and that the real clash must come on Article X.

Senator Lodge believes the democrats will yield in sufficient numbers to ratify with his reservation on Article X. Senator Hitchcock thinks the republicans will consent to a modification of the Lodge reservation. There is a possibility that half a dozen republicans might consent to the Article X. alteration proposed in the Kendrick-McKellar program. There is a prospect that 12 or 15 democrats might "swallow" the Lodge reservation in preference to no ratification. But in neither case does the promise of compromise jibe with the cold mathematics involved in bringing sixty-four senators into agreement for one program or the other.

The republicans, including Mr. Lodge, are willing to grant four important concessions to the democrats. They will sacrifice the preamble requiring affirmative acceptance of the senate reservations by at least three of the principal allies; they will "tone down" the Shantung reservation and do the same with the reservations on the labor sections and to modify the Lenroot reservation, dealing with the six votes of the British empire in the assembly of the league so as to restrict Britain and her dominions to an aggregate of one vote only on issues in which the United States is a direct party at interest. There are approximately 38 republicans who will not budge on Article X.

35 Democrats for Compromise.

About 35 democrats are willing to yield on almost everything else in order to obtain a modification of the Article X reservation. They believe the Shantung, labor and Lenroot reservations can be worded as to become "interpretative reservations" or at least so tempered as to not be obnoxious to the president or the allies.

These facts were set forth clearly in the exchanges between the "mild reservationists" and the democrats following the democratic conference of last night at the home of Senator Robert L. Owens, of Oklahoma.

Both republicans and democrats with all their sanctified love for the treaty and their predictions of the early ratification, are jockeying for "good position" in the forthcoming political campaign, should the treaty become the dominant issue.

It is almost certain now that the democrats will be able to agree upon a program of compromise ratification along the lines outlined at their conference last night. It is entirely probable they will submit a program of reservations representing very material concessions. They are ready to go so far as to support an Article X reservation, providing that there should be no obligation upon the United States to employ its military or naval forces unless congress should so direct.

They believe that if Mr. Lodge and his supporters will not accept that concession, which is the Bryan idea, they will have put him in the position of having stood in the way of compromise ratification. They think this would give them a much better position in the forthcoming political contest than they hold at present. The republicans are ready to meet such an issue.

It is to be expected that the Underwood resolution providing for a senate committee on conciliation will be approved in a few days. It is likely to produce no more results than the informal conference committees. The Knox resolution, repealing the declaration of war, is the next step in contemplation. That, too, is not expected to succeed. The situation then would come down to a further deadlock, with each side waiting for the other to surrender.

RATIFY AT ONCE, DEMAND OF BRYAN.

Lincoln, Neb., January 12.—William Jennings Bryan told members of the Lincoln Commercial club here today it was infinitely more important that the treaty be ratified before January 16, with concessions by both sides in the treaty fight, than to continue a state of war for fourteen months until the people could decide in favor of ratification at the coming elections.

Mr. Bryan expressed the belief that the senate would ratify the treaty next Friday so the United States could enter the league of nations at its first session on that day.

He denounced what he said were accusations of republican newspapers that there had been a split in the democratic party over the league covenant.

The most important thing, he declared, was to secure ratification of the treaty and if compromise efforts to this end between democratic and republican senators failed, the matter could be turned over to the republicans who would be responsible if it was not settled to the satisfaction of the people.

Mr. Bryan reiterated his denial of a "break" between him and President Wilson over the treaty. Neither knew what the other was going to say relative to the treaty prior to the Jackson day banquet recently held at Washington, he declared.

Trust the people, was William Jennings Bryan's particular admonition to the members of the Nebraska constitutional convention, in an address delivered before that body tonight. He urged co-operation and liberality of laws where the people are affected. "I have had to live the last twenty-five years," said Mr. Bryan, "defending myself against hard names because I have believed the government can do better things than private concerns." He said he had been repeatedly called a socialist because he had defanded what he believed to be private rights as against corporation encroachment. He spoke for economy in expenditures, careful study of tax enactments and in opposition to prison plants and factories competing with free labor.

Death Strikes Woman While She Is Praying At Tomb of Husband

New York, January 12.—The frozen body of Mrs. Rose Levy, 56 years old, widow of a wealthy real estate dealer, was found today in front of a tomb in Malmondes cemetery, Brooklyn, where she had knelt to pray yetserday on the anniversary of the death of both her husband and daughter. Despite a heavy snowstorm, Mrs. Levy insisted on going to the cemetery.

SENNETT'S BATHING BEAUTIES ENLIVEN YAARAB BANQUET

The banquet of the 1919 Yaarab Temple Shine team was postponed for a few minutes last night while the forty members engaged in dancing with Mack Sennett's Bathing Beauties as partners, and was noticeably livelier thereafter.

Jazz music, interspersed with lively, humorous speeches, made the occasion most delightful. Forrest Adair acted as toastmaster.

John Gewinner was chairman of the arrangements committee, while talks were made by Imperial Potentate Henry C. Heinz, Walter F. Andrews, Virlin Moore, Claud Mason, Wylie West and many others. Mr. Adair called on practically every member of the team present for a short address.

Appreciation of the work of each member during the past year, and with predictions of even a greater year ahead, was the subject of the speakers. Potentate Heinz complimenting the entire team for its "pep."

ENJOYS HIS 3 MEALS A DAY

Mr. Wooten Thinks Much of ZIRON Because It Made Him His Old Self Again.

Sick people do not get much out of life. In order to enjoy your meals, to do your work well, you must be strong and healthy.

Pale, weak, nervous people frequently need iron to enrich their blood and to restore vitality to their system, and a good way to supply the iron is to follow the example of Mr. Clayton Wooten, of Scotland, Ga., who used Ziron Iron Tonic and has this to say about it:

"I have taken Ziron according to directions and I can truthfully say that it is a fine tonic. It has done me all the good. Since I began taking it, I have gained eight pounds in weight and enjoy eating three meals a day I shall do all I can to recommend Ziron."

Try Ziron! Your druggist sells Ziron on a guarantee to refund your money if the first bottle fails to benefit. You cannot lose anything, but very likely will gain much, by getting a bottle of Ziron, today!

Your Blood Needs ZIRON

IT'S A PLEASURE TO TELL EVERYBODY

"I had rheumatism so bad that life was simply miserable for me, but Tanlac has entirely overcome my trouble," said Mrs. Martha Asbach, of 2226 1-2 Duane street, Los Angeles, Cal.

"For the past six years I was in such a wretched condition I can hardly understand how I held out as long as I did," she continued. "I had rheumatic pains in my knees so bad that it was impossible for me to step up or down the stairs and my hands were so swollen and stiff it was all I could do to hold the broom or dishes. At night I simply ached all over so bad I could not sleep and, in fact, I suffered all the time, night and day. I became very nervous and worried so much over my condition that I became very despondent.

"I tried all the medicines I could hear of, but none of them did me any good until I got Tanlac. I was overjoyed to find that it more than met my expectations. All signs of the rheumatism has left me and I am back doing my housework for the first time in several years. My nerves are as steady as they can be and I sleep all night long and never wake up till morning. I haven't felt so fine in years and it certainly is a pleasure for me to tell everybody about Tanlac."

COUGHED FOR 2 YEARS ORDERED TO DENVER

Doctor said she could't get well in Illinois, but she did.

"I had a very bad cough for two years all the time, day and night. Could sleep but little. I tried everything, but got no relief. Finally my doctor said he could do no more for me, that I had better go to Denver, as I couldn't live in Illinois. Then I tried Milks Emulsion. From the very first it helped me. By the time I had taken 15 bottles my cough left me entirely. I have gained in strength and flesh and am now in perfect health."—Mrs. Alice M. Huntley, 182 North Pearl street, Galesburg, Ill.

Build up your system and give it a chance to fight off disease. Milks Emulsion costs nothing to try and it has done the work for thousands of others.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere. Guaranteed by Chas. A. Smith Drug company.—(adv.)

This is the paint you have been looking for

To prove that Lowe's Paint resists one of paint's greatest enemies: moisture; we made several tests with a two-coat film of our Outside Paint. It measured like all two-coat paint films—less than 1-100th of an inch thick.

Being as flexible as a piece of rubber, we pushed it down in the middle and tied it around the top of a fish globe. Beneath it was a piece of clean cotton. Then we poured red colored water into the cup-shaped film. After eight weeks not a drop of water had come through on the cotton.

To appreciate just how good a film of paint must be, to stand weather's wear and tear, send to us for a piece of two-coat film. It will do more in a minute to convince you of the goodness of Lowe's Paint, than an hour of talking.

PACE NOT CANDIDATE IN AMERICUS RACE

Americus, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—A curious and complex situation which had arisen in connection with the race for solicitor of the city court of Americus straightened out here today when Stephen Pace formally announced he was not a candidate for the position. Mr. Pace, who is one of Sumter's representatives in the legislature, is a law partner of J. A. Hixon and had interviewed numbers of his supporters with the view to entering the contest.

Harry Hawkins, a son-in-law of Hixon, plunged boldly into the contest several days ago, which caused widespread comment throughout the county. It was realized by friends of both aspirants that one or the other would be compelled to withdraw, and little surprise is occasioned by the announcement that Mr. Pace would not be a candidate.

Francis James Oakes, who has just died in New York at the age of 80, often asserted that he fired the first gun from Fort Sumter in defense of the union.

JUDGE DEFENDS SELF AGAINST PULPIT RAP

Contempt Proceedings May Be Instituted Against Parson.

Cedartown, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—Following the attack made upon him yesterday from the pulpit by Rev. Homer Thompson, pastor of the Methodist church of Tallapoosa, for granting bail to Grover Little, convicted murderer, pending an appeal to the supreme court, Judge F. A. Irwin, of the Tallapoosa circuit, at his home here today defended his action on the ground that Little was a menace to the keepers and inmates of the Buchanan jail on account of his having pulmonary tuberculosis.

Little, who was convicted of murder with a recommendation for mercy last summer, for the killing of Policeman Oscar Tolbirt, of the Tallapoosa force on Friday, May 13, 1919, was granted bail Thursday in the sum of $15,000. Immediately after his conviction last summer, Little made a motion for new trial, which was denied by Judge Irwin. Little then made application for bail pending an appeal to the supreme court, and this was granted.

"At the hearing of the application," Judge Irwin said, "it was shown that Little is affected with tuberculosis and was a menace to the keepers of the jail and its inmates, who were constantly exposed. On the strength of this showing and this alone, I granted him bail to keep him from being a menace to the public."

Rev. Thompson attacked Judge Irwin's action at Sunday morning services in Tallapoosa, characterizing it as an outrage against justice and the community. He stated he knows he is liable to arrest for contempt but will stick to his convictions regardless. Rev. Thompson also added that he had called Judge Irwin by long distance phone in Cedartown and told him plainly about his opinion in the matter. If Judge Irwin's action was based on the fact that Little had tuberculosis, the pastor stated, Little should have been removed to the Fulton county Tower or the state institution at Alto, instead of being turned loose on the community to menace it constantly.

"Personally, I feel unsafe with my defenseless wife and baby under the jurisdiction of Judge Irwin," the preacher said. "We should demand better things of our courts and would have less lynching and lawlessness if they did their whole duty and did it promptly."

Judge Irwin stated that, in reply to Rev. Thompson's query by long distance telephone, if he had anything to say about the matter, he explained his reasons for granting bail, and here the conversation terminated.

The judge declined to state whether contempt proceedings will be instituted against Rev. Thompson, explaining that the statement of the latter and the spirit in which it was made will be the determining factor. Judge Irwin will be in Tallapoosa conducting court the latter part of next week, and if proceedings are instituted they will be taken up at that time, he said.

WILL NOT REQUEST BRUCE'S TRANSFER FROM LANIER HIGH

Macon, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—Superintendent C. H. Bruce, of Bibb county schools, today denied a report that the board of education will ask the war department to remove Major Stanley G. Saulnier as commandant of Lanier High school's cadet battalion because of "temperamental unfitness."

Major Saulnier took two weeks' vacation at Christmas time, when the board limited the pupils and teachers to one week. When the major returned he was called before the board to explain why he did not conform to the order of the board. He explained he received his leave from the government and was not aware his contract made him subject to the regulations applying to other instructors. He apologized and his apology was accepted.

It was reported today that four other teachers of Lanier plan to resign, but so far no additional resignations have been placed in the hands of the board. Professor Farrish Talley and Miss Edith Culpepper have both resigned because of the censure given them by the board for signing a petition protesting against a holiday of one week for Christmas.

A statement signed by officers of practically all of parent-teacher associations and women's clubs in Macon was issued today, in which the belief is expressed that the board of education meted out punishment to the teachers entirely too harsh in proportion to the offense committed. The statement says the signers cannot believe that the signing of the petition was intended as insubordination or evinced any disrespect for constituted authority," and expresses confidence in the teachers at the High school.

MOTHER OF CIVIL WAR VETERAN IS HONORED

Mrs. Hemphill, 102 Years Old, Presented With Gold Pin.

Athens, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—As radiant and charming as she was when a belle of the old south, Mrs. Sarah Ann Hemphill was today honored by the Confederate Memorial society, when following appropriate exercises in the historic "blue parlors" of the Lucy Cobb institute, Miss Mildred Rutherford, president of the Laura Rutherford Memorial society, presented Mrs. Hemphill with a bouquet of red and white carnations and a beautiful gold pin in recognition of her fealty for the cause for which she offered her son, Robert, and because she is the mother of a confederate veteran.

Mrs. Hemphill was never in better spirits and although approaching her 102d birthday, she was as happy as a young girl. A fitting program had been arranged, in which the young ladies of the Lucy Cobb glee club participated by singing the songs so dear to the south.

Among those present to witness the presentation of the pin and other tokens of love was Colonel Robert A. Hemphill, of Atlanta, and Mrs. S. E. Haddock, of Athens, a daughter of Mrs. Hemphill. Colonel Hemphill was dressed in the uniform of his rank as colonel on the staff of General Van Zandt, commander of the confederate veterans. After the exercises, a photograph was taken of Mrs. Hemphill and her son and daughter.

At the meeting of the Confederate Memorial association held last fall in Atlanta it was decided to present every mother of a confederate veteran with an etruscan gold pin, on which is engraved the dates 1865-1920, together with the name of recipient. Of the six confederate veterans' mothers, the youngest is 97 years old. Two of them reside in Florida, and Mississippi, Georgia and Virginia are honored with one each.

Georgia's representative, although over a century old, is almost as active as she was when she saw her 16-year-old soldier boy, Robert, follow Jackson, Lee and Gordon in aiding the confederacy. The 102d birthday of Mrs. Hemphill was celebrated August 28, last, when scores of congratulatory messages and presents were sent to the home on Prince avenue.

She is descended from Virginia ancestry, her father being Cody Fowler and her mother a Miss Beazley, both of Virginia. She was born in Jefferson county and reared about six miles from Athens. Since early girlhood she has made her home in Athens, where she is known and revered by the entire city.

The late Colonel William A. Hemphill, of Atlanta, for years connected with The Atlanta Constitution, was her oldest boy. Her only living son, Colonel Robert A. Hemphill, of Atlanta, is 72 years old, a graduate of the University of Georgia in the class of '70. He enlisted in the Troup artillery at the age of 16 and was in two years of the war between the states.

WEBB BADLY INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Americus, Ga., January 12.—(Special)—Clyde Webb, a white farmer living at Sumter, seven miles west of here, was seriously hurt when his automobile collided head-on today with another car driven by J. C. Arrington. Several of Webb's teeth were broken when he was thrown violently against the windshield, and he was otherwise bruised. He will recover.

The occupants of the other car were uninjured beyond slight bruises. The accident occurred on a sharp curve near Stewart's mill sita on the Americus and plains highway. The blame for the accident has not been placed. Both autos were badly wrecked.

The mileage of blood in the human body as it circulates is normally seven miles per hour.

DR. LOVEJOY SPEAKS TO SOCIAL WORKERS

Co-Operation of All Agencies Urged by the Noted Speaker and Expert.

"We Americans just love emergencies; there's nothing we dote on like we do on a crisis," was the terse way in which Dr. Owen R. Lovejoy, president of the National Conference of Social Work, explained America's slowness to realize some of its vital needs before the time for actual correction—rather than prevention—of conditions arrived. This statement was made by Dr. Lovejoy in his address Monday night to social workers of Atlanta, following a dinner of leaders in the various social agencies in the chamber of commerce building.

Dr. Lovejoy's talk to the Atlanta social workers was under the auspices of the Central Council of Social Agencies, and was chiefly along the line of America's duty to the care and protection of children as a national and personal obligation. The speaker said that the nation was realizing the need for such betterment, and that really progressive legislation was in sight in the country that would aid in ameliorating the health and educational conditions that have been perplexing the country for so long.

Gives Valuable Information.

Dr. Lovejoy is also secretary of the National Child Labor committee, with headquarters in New York, and gave his audience some valuable information as to conditions existing in that feature of his work. He said that the war brought about an increase in the number of children employed in America, late estimates placing the total number employed at about 2,500,000.

Co-operation between all social agencies, said the speaker, is the only way in which success can be attained in the mutual effort to correct conditions existing in the country. One organization, he continued, can do a vast amount of good, but not nearly so great as when allied with the operations of other social agencies, with the same ultimate motive, although the field and manner of operation may differ.

"The problem of children at work," said Dr. Lovejoy, "is not just a simple question of removing children from industry. There must be somewhere to put them after they have been taken from industrial labor. We can't have them dangling in the abstract. Schools must be provided."

Dr. Lovejoy also said that the 5,500,000 illiterates in the country—4,000,000 of whom are native-born Americans—are not all illiterate because they have refused to accept an education. He derided the popular saying that "any child can get an education who wants it."

Health Education Needed.

The speaker also stressed the need of health education in the United States to co-ordinate itself with the other educational methods.

In stressing the needs for increased educational facilities, Dr. Lovejoy said that the immense program of Americanization that is absolutely necessary to the country's future welfare will depend on the education of the children, foreign and native-born, into the ideals of America.

The meeting was presided over by Kendall Weisiger, chairman of the central council of social agencies.

The announcement was made by Dr. Lovejoy that the National Conference of Social Work will hold its annual convention in New Orleans in April, at which the attendance of every active social worker in the country is desired.

INDIGESTION Caused by Acid-Stomach

Millions of people—in fact about 9 out of 10—suffer more or less from indigestion, acute or chronic. Nearly every case is caused by Acid-Stomach.

There are other stomach disorders which also are sure signs of Acid-Stomach—belching, heartburn, bloat after eating, food repeating, sour, gassy stomach. There are many ailments which, while they do not cause much distress in the stomach itself, are, nevertheless, traceable to an acid stomach. Among these are nervousness, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, rheumatism, impoverished blood, weakness, insomnia, melancholia and a long train of physical and mental miseries that keep the victims in miserable health year after year.

The right thing to do is to attack these ailments at their source—get rid of the acid-stomach. A wonderful modern remedy called EATONIC now makes it easy to do this.

One of hundreds of thousands of grateful users of EATONIC writes: "I have been troubled with intestinal indigestion for about nine years and have spent quite a sum for medicine, but without relief. After using EATONIC for a few days the gas and pains in my bowels disappeared. EATONIC is just the remedy I needed."

We have thousands of letters telling of these marvelous benefits. Try EATONIC and you, too, will be just as enthusiastic in its praise. Your druggist has EATONIC. Get a big 50c box from him today. He will refund your money if you are not satisfied.

DODSON SOUNDS CALOMEL'S DOOM

The "Liver Tone" Man Warns Folks Against the Sickening, Salivating Drug.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you lose a day.

Calomel is mercury! When it comes into contact with sour bile, it crashes into it, breaking it up. Then is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish, if liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous, go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it can not salivate or make you sick.—(adv.)

HAYS AND GLASS IN SHARP CLASH

Treasury Secretary Resents the Charge of Propaganda Made by the Republican Chairman.

Washington, January 12.—Telegraphinc correspondence between Secretary Glass and Chairman Hays of the republican national committee centering about the assertion of Mr. Hays in his Denver speech last week that the democratic administration had sent out "thousands of tons of propaganda to Liberty bond buyers, food card signers, war workers, etc.," was made public tonight as an "entirely reprehensible species of defamation."

Secretary Glass, in a telegram to Mr. Hays last Friday, the day following the republican chairman's address in Denver, called attention to a dispatch quoting Mr. Hays as saying "that the name of every buyer of Liberty bonds of the United States was put on the democratic mailing list for the forthcoming campaign," and asked that Mr. Hays "either produce proof or publicly retract this slander upon the treasury of the United States."

Chairman Hays Explains.

Replying the following day in a telegram from Salt Lake City, Chairman Hays denied that he had said that the treasury secretary "had furnished the names of all buyers of Liberty bonds for the use of the democratic committee as a mailing list," but that he did say "that the democratic administration sent thousands of tons of propaganda to Liberty bond buyers, food card signers, war workers, etc., during the paper shortage, and while limiting the use of paper by the press, and that a large part of it was democratic political propaganda and that all of it was paid for by the taxpayer's money."

The republican chairman in his telegram said he desired to call the attention of Secretary Glass to what he described as reliable information that "the democratic committee has even resorted to drawing drafts on bankers in whose banks government funds are deposited, wiring such bankers that they had already drawn such drafts," and in conclusion said he hoped the treasury secretary would "join with us in an effort to make the coming campaign a contest between two great political parties."

Glass Replies to Hays.

Replying to Chairman Hays today, Secretary Glass said the only part of the chairman's reply which was "pertinent" to his previous telegram was "the apparent denial" of the press dispatch ascribing to the chairman the statement as to the use of list of Liberty bond buyers.

The chairman's charge as to the sending out of tons of partisan political literature, Secretary Glass telegraphed, conveyed "an implication of gross stupidity as well as downright dishonesty" which Mr. Glass said he resented "as both false and silly."

Denying that he had any knowledge of the financial activities of either the democratic or republican national committees, or the chairmen as regards drawing of drafts on banks having government deposits without previous consent, Secretary Glass said, "It would not be astonishing to find that both of you have repeatedly done this." Agreement with Mr. Hays that "this is no time for little things," is expressed by the treasury secretary.

DOCK STRIKE SETTLED, EMBARGO IS LIFTED

Official confirmation was received Monday at the office of the regional director of railroads that the strike of the long-shoremen at the port of New Orleans had been settled, thereby lifting the embargo on export freight bound for New Orleans. This, however, does not remove the embargo on freight for Havana, Cuba, it was explained, because there is still a strike in existence at the Cuban port that threatens congestion of the port.

The same embargo on freight bound for Havana via New Orleans applies to freight for Havana by way of Mobile, Ala. This ban on freight for the Cuban city will remain in effect until a settlement has been made wit hthe strikers.

Woman Suffrage Assured in 1920 Says Hollomon

Two-Thirds of Necessary States Have Already Ratified the Suffrage Amendment and Leaders Are Concentrating Efforts.

By James A. Hollomon.
(By Constitution Leased Wire.)

Washington, January 12.—Every indication points to the enfranchisement of the women of America before the 1920 general elections. In Georgia last summer I made that statement and many people believed it impracticable. Here is a complete analysis of the situation today:

With the ratification today of the suffrage amendment by Oregon suffragists will be able to point in their campaigns of other states to the fact that twenty-five states out of the total of thirty-six necessary for ratification have approved the amendment.

The suffragist leaders will concentrate efforts on the five states—Maryand, New Jersey, Virginia, Mississippi and South Carolina—whose legislatures meet this month in regular session and are endeavoring to have special sessions called in eight other states which are deemed favorable.

"There are approximately 28,000,000 women of voting age in the United States," the party asserted in a statement just issued. "Approximately 17,000,000 women are already eligible to vote for president in 1920. But only 7,000,000 will be able to vote for congress candidates if the amendment is not ratified. East and west a general scramble has apparently set in among the states to secure a place on the list of thirty-six required for the ratification of the suffrage amendment.

"Hot upon the news of the prompt action by Kentucky and Rhode Island, republican governors meeting in conference in Denver issued a statement that they had agreed among themselves to call special sessions of their legislatures in Wyoming, Idaho and New Mexico.

"These three states, added to the twenty-five, including Oregon, which have already ratified, bring the number of states to have acted to twenty-eight. Eight more chances remain for states to get on the honor list. Action is expected from three now in regular session—Maryland, New Jersey and Mississippi. Eight other legislatures stand ready to ratify if special sessions can be secured—Arizona, Connecticut, Indiana, Nevada, Oklahoma, Vermont, Washington and West Virginia."

OFFICIALS DECLARE GRADY NEEDS SPACE

Supt. Johnston States Patients Are Turned Away Every Day.

Two or three times the hospital facilities now offered by Grady hospital are needed by the city, according to public health officials, who are in a position to know the health conditions of the city.

"Grady hospital is the only general public hospital in Atlanta," said Dr. J. P. Kennedy, head of the city health department. "I do not know exactly the number of patients it can accommodate, but I think it is somewhere between 175 and 200 at the most. A city the size of Atlanta needs accommodations for twice that many in a city hospital.

"Augusta, with a population about one-fourth the size of Atlanta's, has a city hospital which is larger than ours."

More Nurses Needed.

More nurses and more room are badly needed at Grady hospital, according to Steve R. Johnston, superintendent of the hospital, who says that he has to turn away each day many prospective patients.

"If we had a hospital of three times the capacity that we now have we could fill it immediatley," declared the superintendent. "In case of serious emergency we could crowd in perhaps ten or fifteen more patients on the sleeping porches. We have a capacity for only 185 and we have to turn away people every day. There are 100 each day in our free clinics.

"If we secure the additional buildings across the street from us, that would give us a capacity of about double. However, as I said, we could expand to three times the present size without having more room than we need."

175 of R. O. T. C. Georgia Tech Boys Dropped From Ranks

The physical examinations of the members of the Georgia Tech R. O. T. C. unit have been completed, and as a result about 175 men have been dropped from the ranks because of physical disabilities.

A board of four medical officers from Ft. McPherson conducted the examination, giving the men the regular army tests. Under weight and heart trouble were the chief disabilities found.

The men who were rejected have been required to turn in their uniforms and equipment, which was furnished them by the government. They can still enroll for training if they wish, but must furnish their own uniforms. They will be permitted to use other equipment issued for the R. O. T. C. by the government. A course in setting up exercises will be required of those who have been barred from the military training, with a view to developing them to such physical conditions as will assure their acceptance in the R. O. T. C. later.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known as the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Out of accumulated capital have arisen all the successes of industry and applied science, all the comforts and ameliorations of the common lot. Upon it the world must depend for the process of reconstruction in which all have to share.

—JAMES J. HILL

THE successful farmer raises bigger crops and cuts down costs by investment in labor-saving machinery.

Good prices for the farmers' crops encourage new investment, more production and greater prosperity.

But the success of agriculture depends on the growth of railroads—the modern beasts of burden that haul the crops to the world's markets.

The railroads—like the farms—increase their output and cut down unit costs by the constant investment of new capital.

With fair prices for the work they do the railroads are able to attract new capital for expanding their facilities.

Rates high enough to yield a fair return will insure railroad growth, and prevent costly traffic congestion which invariably results in poorer service at higher cost.

Poor railroad service is dear at any price. No growing country can long pay the price of inadequate transportation facilities.

This advertisement is published by the Association of Railway Executives.

Those desiring information concerning the railroad situation may obtain literature by writing to The Association of Railway Executives, 61 Broadway, New York.

NOTHING TAKES THE PLACE OF CALOMEL!

Your Doctor Will Tell You That Nothing Takes the Place of Calomel. Examine Your Prescriptions, and You Will Find That "Hydrarg. Chlor. Mite." (the Latin Term for Calomel) Usually Heads the List.

Calomel is the most necessary, the most important and the most beneficial of all medicines.

Without this valuable drug the world could scarce exist, as there is no substitute for calomel. Only calomel stirs the sluggish liver to its normal functions, stimulating the flow of bile and acting as an intestinal antiseptic.

AXON LIVER TABLETS are a nauseless and effective form of Calomel, pleasant to take with no griping or bad after effects. The Calomel in Axon Liver Tablets is combined with vegetable ingredients which sweep the drug from the system and make it unnecessary to follow the dose with salts or oil.

If you are bilious, headachy, with that run-down tired feeling, with sallow complexion, sour stomach and bad taste in the mouth, you need CALOMEL—and the most pleasant and effective way in which Calomel can be taken is in AXON LIVER TABLETS.

The Liver, Kidneys and Blood Are Your Tripod of Health. When One is in Distress They All Suffer.

Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney & Blood Powders Tone up the Liver and Kidneys, Purifying the Blood and Keeps Your Tripod of Health in Balance.

A Vegetable Compound Will Not Make You Sick. Eat Anything You Like.

When bilious, suffering with indigestion, headaches, rheumatism and feel out of sorts generally, it doesn't necessarily mean that your liver is the only part of your anatomy that needs attention. This upset condition may be caused by either the kidneys or blood, and the liver simply refuses to function out of sympathy. If you only treat your liver, you are only getting at one-third of your trouble.

The Liver, Kidneys and Blood are so closely allied that when one gets out of order the others fall in line Therefore, the only way to put the entire system back to its normal healthy condition is to right the liver and kidneys and purify the blood.

Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney & Blood Powders will clear up these three vital parts of the system—keep your Tripod of Health in balance. This is one of Dr. Hitchcock's favorite prescriptions that he used successfully for over 60 years

INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS FOR BUSY READERS

You want to know what is happening at the Atlanta Business College, don't you? Well, here goes.

After the Christmas vacation, happily spent by most of us, we are "back on the job," with our usual New Year resolves.

Speaking of the weather, it did not keep the old faithfuls from returning to school last week, and many new students were found in our midst.

The long-looked-for college pins are at last here—and they are beauties. Any student or former student of the college may wear the pin. If you want yours, you'll have to hurry.

The Progressive club held its semi-monthly meeting in the college auditorium last Friday afternoon, with Mr. Westmoreland in the chair, and Miss Gilmore at the secretary's desk.

If you want to see a happy college family busily preparing themselves for business positions, just drop around some day—you know our number—AND BEHOLD for yourself.

Here are the names of the men (not boys) who will receive certificates of graduation in Salesmanship: Messrs. Westmoreland, Frierson, Hill, Aderhold, Sneed, Hughes, Mackey, Davis, Van Sluys, Farmer, Hogg, Watts, Drake, Cantrell, Young and Palmer. Messrs. Watts, Drake and Cantrell each made 100 per cent in the final examination. Most of these men were on the firing line "over there," and they will soon be on another kind of firing line over here. Clear the way, ye veterans of the sample case.

Our course in Salesmanship and Commercial Law is pronounced by expert authorities as the most practical short course found anywhere. No other business college in the southeast is giving such a course. A new class begins the first Monday in February. If you want to be a successful salesman and make big money from the start you had better come in—the instructor is fine.

Mr. Hall passed around the hat last Thursday—the object being to send flowers and fruit to Mr. John T. Ellington, one of the students, who has been in a hospital for several days. Ex-service men are on the job when it comes to helping a comrade who is sick or in trouble. John T. writes his appreciation and also says he will soon be able to return to school.

Do you want one of our calendars, either wall or desk size? If so, send us the name and address of a person who ought to be taking a course of business training and we will gladly send you a copy, with our compliments.

We have not the time to compile a list of our students who have recently accepted good positions, and yet business firms by the score are still calling for "ATLANTA" trained stenographers, bookkeepers and salesmen—the demand is overwhelming and the supply is inadequate.

If you want a thorough course of business training in a good business college, write for catalogue NOW.

Learn to Operate A Linotype Or Intertype

The Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association has established a school for teaching typesetting on the linotype and intertype machines. Apprentices in the printing trade and ambitious young men should write for literature. The trade that helped to develop Benjamin Franklin into a master mind is worthy of careful consideration.

For advice apply to the editor of The Constitution and in the meantime send for literature, addressing

MARKET INDORSED BY WOMAN'S CLUB

Unanimous Backing Is Pledged Proposed City Institution, Which Is Declared to Be Long-Felt Want.

Unanimous indorsement of the proposed city market for Atlanta was given yesterday afternoon by the Atlanta Woman's club. Resolutions in favor of the market were presented by Mrs. Irving Thomas, president of the club, and Mrs. Norman Sharp, chairman of the market committee, the two women who started the agitation for a local market.

The resolutions read:

"It is hereby resolved that the Atlanta Woman's club earnestly approves of the movement now inaugurated to establish a public market.

Need Long Felt.

"The need of such a market has long been felt and has placed the householders of the city at a great disadvantage. We recognize the fact that at present there is no incentive to the ambitious, self-respecting farmer to specialize on truck farming in the vicinity of Atlanta.

"We recognize the fact that, with a public market comparable to those in other cities of Atlanta's population the great benefit that will recur to Atlanta and the farmers of this section.

"We realize that the mayor and council are the ones to make a certainty this imperative necessity which is so important to the program of the city."

The meeting yesterday afternoon will be the last one held at the clubhouse on West Baker street, as it is expected that the next meeting will be held in the new home at 946 Peachtree street. In view of this fact, Mrs. Irving Thomas made an appropriate speech, complimenting the original members of the club, who had the vision and courage to purchase the present clubhouse, and gave a forward look into the future.

Land of Promise.

"We are entering the land of promise," said Mrs. Thomas. "The women of this club can make a great success of this step forward. We need a larger income, and a larger membership. We need a membership of 1,000. That means that every member should secure at least three new members. I know you can do it, and do it quickly. I hope that at our next meeting we can present at least 150 new names."

A letter was read from C. E. Robertson, secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, thanking the club upon the instructions of the board of directors for the successful presentation of "The Vision."

"It is in many respects," wrote Mr. Robertson, "the most important community event of the year and I trust that the means will be found to make it an annual occurrence."

Georgia Red Cross Workers in Siberia Are Declared Safe

Atlanta and Georgia Red Cross workers at Vladivostok, Siberia, for whose safety fears were entertained on account of the recent revolution, were declared safe, in a dispatch received yesterday by the southern division of the Red Cross.

Ralph Mosteller, of Atlanta, formerly city bacteriologist and chemist and professor of chemistry in the southern college; Miss Bell Bass, of Rome; Dr. Charles J. Cahill, formerly of the base hospital staff at Fort McPherson, and Chauncey Wallace, of Augusta, were the Georgia workers in the unit.

The dispatch relating to the safety of the workers was sent by Major Hiley H. Allen, of the American Red Cross commission to Siberia.

Murray School Supt.

T. W. Colvard of Crandall, who has been elected superintendent of schools for Murray county, was yesterday commissioned by State Superintendent M. L. Brittain. Mr. Colvard will fill an unexpierd term, which ends on January 1, 1921.

The fastest flowing river in the world is the Sutlej, in India, which rises 15,200 feet above the sea, and falls 12,000 feet in 180 miles.

RIVALRY ARISES OVER LOCATIONS OF HIGH SCHOOLS

Keen rivalry has developed among the cities of several counties to be the location of the county high schools, of which the last legislature authorized the creation in fifty counties which have not now a good available high school. This matter will be taken up at the quarterly meeting of the state board of education to be held in State Superintendent M. L. Brittain's office next Saturday. It is expected that the location of some of the high schools will be settled at that time.

Mr. Brittain yesterday received a call from a Rockmart delegation seeking the location of a county high school there. The delegation was headed by Rev. J. I. Oxford, pastor of the Baptist church at Rockmart. It is claimed that 65 per cent of the pupils attending the Rockmart public school live out of the city limits, and that 56 per cent of them live out of the school district.

The Rockmart delegation had scracely left his office when Mr Brittain received a long distance telephone call from Cedartown urging the claims of that city for the county high school of Polk county.

A delegation from McRae, headed by Max L. McRae and O. A. Thaxton, called on Mr. Brittain in order to push the claims of Telfair county for a high school and to urge that McRae be designated as its location. A communication from S. T. Cockerell, of Charlton county, sought to have a high school located in his county with St. George as its site.

The high school movement seems to be growing in strength and it is believed that under the new act, high school facilities will eventually be afforded to thousands of country children that have hitherto been deprived of them.

ADVENTURES OF YOUTH CUT SHORT BY POLICE

J. M. Mayers, 16 years old, a youthful seker after adventure, who ran away from his home in Macon Sunday night to see the world, evidently did not count upon the quick work of the Atlanta police department.

Monday morning at 6 o'clock, C. M. Meyers discovered that his son was missing from his home in Macon. At 6:20 o'clock the Atlanta police were in receipt of a telegram from the father stating that he thought his son was on his way to Atlanta. At 6:25 o'clock the train from Macon arrived at the terminal station. Off stepped young Meyers, having made his first step in seeing the world. Just as he descended from the steps, two men in blue uniforms were waiting to take him in custody.

At 6:30 o'clock Monday morning a telegram was on its way to the boy's father telling him to come after his son.

The lad at police station told the officers that he had become tired of his home town and wanted to see the world, and that after everything was quiet about the house Sunday night, and all of the lights were out, he had slipped out of a window and boarded a train for Atlanta.

WOODMEN OFFICIALS TO ATTEND MEETING

At the annual installation exercises of Capital City camp, No. 786, W. O. W., tomorrow night, woodcraft officials from all parts of the state will be in attendance. Plans for the ensuing year are to be formulated and the addition of a ladies' circle to the camp will be discussed.

W. P. Varner, head past consul for the state; Dr. H. A. Allen, head consul; R. E. Carter, head adviser, R. A. Jolly, head clerk; E. M. Bass, head banker, and Walter C. Bennett, sovereign delegate for Georgia, are the expected officials.

The officers who will take the oath of office are: M. E. Bell, past consul commander; G. A. Wright consul commander; George P. Whitman, adviser lieutenant; Harry O. Mitchell, banker; Samuel Dunlap clerk; Craddock Goins, escort; A. T Denmark, watchman; E. W. Brooks, sentry, and W. C. Jackson, manager.

TROLLEY CAR TRAFFIC HALTED BY ACCIDENT

A crash between a street car and a truck belonging to the American Express company on Ivy street resulted in the trolley car traffic on that line being halted for over half an hour.

The truck, when the crash took place, was swinging north into Ivy from Ellis street. The car and truck collided and a front wheel of the truck became pinioned under the frame of the car, making it necessary to jack the front of the car up to remove the truck from the line.

REYNOLDS WILL SPEAK ON BIG BOND ISSUE

The fourth annual banquet of the Georgia State Automobile association will take place Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock at the Kimball hotel Frank T. Reynolds, secretary of the association, will speak on the proposed bond issue of $40,000,000 and the application of the proceeds accruing therefrom to the roads of this state.

Other speaksr will include W. Tom Winn, president; Guy Woodward, W R. Nealy, of the state highway commission; C. N. Strahan, of Athens, Ga., and Professor R. D. Kneale, of Georgia Tech.

Alleged Burglar Jailed.

NEITHER BIZARRE NOR ECCENTRIC, ARTIST IS HERE

Leo Tecktonius comes to Atlanta for a piano recital at Egleston hall tonight, unheralded by the usual publicity, as sensational as it can be made, which announces the advent of most musical events.

There si little of the eccentric which can be described of him. He is not a Russian with boishevik hair nor even a youthful prodigy. And the number of his marriages remains shrouded in oblivion, as far as his press agents have given us to know. He also wears regular clothes, both on the stage and off.

The difficulty of making a story about him interesting is therefore apparent.

He is an American by birth, and was educated in France, which, with the paling of German musical propaganda, we are learning, knows how to turn out some excellent artists He did not wait for America to go into the war, but he entered the ambulance service of France in the first year of the great conflict. Paris did not forget him as a pianist while he was serving her at the front, and when he returned last February to the Parisian concert stage, it was to repeat his artistic trimphs of before-the-war times.

There is little to be said of him therefore except that he is a magnificent musician. Of this he gave personal proof on a former appearance in Atlanta, when a tentative tour in this country was interrupted by the events of 1914 and the call to arms.

He might be called a man's musician, so big is his personality, like his person, and so virile his style, except that the heroic in ar artist is as much an ideal with women who love music as with men. It is seldom, however, that there is opportunity for artistic laudation to be offered before a musician who preserves, in spite of the intensity of absorption which art demands of its devotees, a physique as robust and imposing, a temperament as apparently wholesome, although fervent, as Tecktonius.

2,000 BUSINESS CONCERNS LIABLE TO PROSECUTION

Approximately 2,000 Atlanta and Fulton county business concerns are liable to prosecution for their failure to register with the ordinary, as required by the state tax act of 1919, it was stated Monday.

The list of those required to register includes dealers in cigarettes, soda founts, domestic corporations, real estate agents, insurance agents, loan agents, automobile agents, automobile repair shops, brokers, wood and coal dealers and numerous other kinds of businesses.

The law requires the registration on January 1, and the fee is $1.

Bishop Getting Well.

W. H. Bishop, of Columbus, Ga., who has been at Grady hospital several days recuperating from a close escape from being asphyxiated in his room at the Gordon hotel last Thursday, is reported by the hospital authorities to be recovering rapidly and will probably leave the hospital within the next few days. Mr. Bishop states that he was on his way home after being discharged from the army when he became gassed in his room.

"SPEECHLESS" DINNER AT PIEDMONT TONIGHT

Introducing an innovation in the form of a speechless dinner, J. L. Warman, city salesman for the Ragan-Malone company, will be the host at the twelfth annual dinner to the retail merchants, and their buyers, of Atlanta. Covers will be laid for 160 guests.

The Piedmont hotel will be the scene of this annual affair, which takes place tonight at 7 o'clock Dinner will be served in the main dining room and music will be furnished by the Piedmont orchestra and a negro string band. It has been hinted that a big surprise will be offered at the dinner. The main feature of the evening's performance will be the absence of the usual toastmaster and the myriad speakers who are wont to display their wit and oratorical talent on such occasions. In lieu of the customary after-dinner talks, an entertainment has been arranged.

Keen interest is manifested and anticipation shown on this event which will be one of the most unique afairs that has ever taken place in Atlanta. The guests of honor will include: Mayor Key, Eugene R. Black, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Earl H. Cone, president of the Atlanta Rotary club; Colonel Frederick J. Paxon, president of the Atlanta Convention buraeu; Dave W. Webb, president of the Admen's club, and George P. Eubanks, president of the Kiwanis club. Other guests who will be seated at the table with the guests of honor will be: James J. Ragan, of Ragan-Malone company; W. W. Orr, of the George Muse Clothing company; W. H. Brittain, of J. M. High company; Lloyd B. Parks, of the Parks-Chambers-Hardwick company; Beaumont Davison, of the Davison-Paxon-Stokes company; J. P. Allen, of the J. P. Allen company; W. V. Stradley, of C. W. Hatcher & Co.; and Walter C. Barnwell, of the Ragan-Malone Co.

GEORGIA COLLEGE STUDENTS TO GIVE LEAGUE OPINIONS

Students in Emory, Oglethorpe and Georgia Tech will express their opinions on the league of nations and the treaty of peace, as to the disposal they deem best for this perplexing national problem, in a referendum vote to be taken at each of the schools during the day Tuesday.

This is a part of a national movement, 700 universities throughout the United States having been asked to do this in order to obtain the consensus of opinion from the students of America.

The students will vote on six questions, for the league of nations and the peace treaty, against, and for compromise framed after consultation with leaders of both sides in order to present the case fairly.

Great interest is being manifested in the Atlanta schools on this phase of the nation's present post-war collection of problems, and the ballot to be taken Tuesday is expected to furnish quite an additional amount of interest in the country's affairs, by its tendency to localize interest in immediate college circles.

The results of the vote, after it is taken, will be consolidated and telegraphed to the intercollegiate treaty referendum committee in New York, who will record the result of the vote from all parts of the country.

You Need Not Suffer from Catarrh

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood to Get Rid of It Permanently.

You have probably been in the habit of applying external treatments, trying to cure your Catarrh. You have used sprays, washes and lotions and possibly been temporarily relieved. But after a short time you had another attack and wondered why. You must realize that catarrh is an infection of the blood and to get permanent relief the catarrh infection must be driven out of the blood. The quicker you come to understand this, the quicker you will get it out of your system S. S. S., which has been in constant use for over fifty years, will attack the catarrhal poisons, cleanse and strengthen the blood, so it will carry vigor and health to the mucous membranes on its journeys through your body and nature will soon restore you to health, you will be relieved of the droppings of mucus in your throat, sores in nostrils, bad breath, hawking and spitting.

All reputable druggists carry S. S. S. in stock and we recommend you give it a trial at once.

Mrs. Huff Complimented.

Mrs. W. H. Huff, of West Point, was honor guest at a bridge-tea yesterday afternoon given by Mrs. Frank Boland, who entertained at her home on Peachtree circle.

The tea table was exquisitely decorated in pink and white. A lace cloth, with an embroidered linen center, covered the table, and adorning the center was a crystal bowl filled with Columbia roses. The crystal candlesticks held unshaded pink tapers. Mrs. Hugh Lokey, gowned in black satin combined with black georgette crepe, poured tea.

Mrs. Evelyn Harris, wearing a gown of midnight blue satin, assisted in entertaining.

The prizes awarded for top score and consolation were silk stockings, while the honor guest was presented with Madeira handkerchiefs.

HOW TO RELIEVE A BABY'S COLD

Newly Prepared Mild Relief to Take Place of Strong, Irritating Oils and Grease and Sterilizing Vapors.

Mothers and nurses are cautioned against the use of strong and irritating oils and greases in the treatment of the coughs, colds and croup of babies and children. Stifling vapors are also to be avoided, of course, as they irritate the delicate membranes of the nose and throat and may do serious harm.

Mothers can tell whether the medicine is too strong by rubbing some of it up their own nostrils. If it burns, reject it; or, if baby resists the treatment you may be sure that the medicine is too strong for infants, or contains some positively irritating drug.

The best plan is to use a very mild salve, containing the correct proportions of the soothing, cleansing and antiseptic oils of eucalyptus, wintergreen, menthol, and pinus sylvestris with camphor and refined petrolatum. All the drug stores now sell this mild salve under the name of Eucapine Salve. It is especially prepared for the mother's use with her children and sells for fifty cents for a large family jar.

The little tots enjoy Eucapine Salve and soon learn to call for it by name and doctor themselves when they feel irritation of the nose and throat. They consider it fun and it keeps their noses and throats comfortable, clean, sanitary and free from secretions and germs. Your regular drug store will supply you with Eucapine Salve for half a dollar.—(adv.)

Today's Calendar.

Mrs. Joseph Hilsman will give a luncheon today at her home on West Eleventh street, in honor of Mrs. William A. Smith, a recent bride.

Mrs. Edgar Paullin will entertain at an informal luncheon at her home on West Fifteenth street.

Mrs. William Perrin Nicholson, Jr., will entertain at bridge this afternoon at the Piedmont club, in honor of Miss Adelia Johnson.

Miss Mary Thurston, a bride-elect, will be entertained at a bridge-tea given this afternoon at which Mrs. Harry Chamberlin will be hostess.

Mrs. Roy LeCraw will entertain at a matinee party, followed by tea at the Capital City club in compliment to Miss Virginia Collier, a bride-elect.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Collier will entertain the members of the Collier-Estes wedding party at a buffet supper at their home in West End, following the rehearsal at the Park Street Methodist church.

The regular informal dinner-dance will be given in the ball room of the Capital City club this evening.

Atlanta Woman's Club Holds Highly Interesting Meeting

The Atlanta Woman's club held a very interesting meeting this afternoon in the old club building on Baker street. This will probably be the last meeting in this building, as the club will soon move into the new home, which it has recently purchased from W. A. Wimbish on Peachtree street.

Mrs. Earl Sherwood Jackson told of the introduction of the "Vision," the community Christmas play which the Atlanta Woman's club, through the drama and pageant committee, presented to the people of Atlanta as a Christmas gift. Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Ulric Atkinson, her co-chairman, have received many enthusiastic letters asking them to make this an annual event.

Mrs. Thornwell Jacobs, chairman of the child welfare committee, reported the Christmas tree which her committee gave to 375 children in the public schools who otherwise would not have had such an enjoyable Christmas.

Reception on February 6th.

She also announced that her committee would give a reception on February 6th in honor of the teachers in the public schools, in recognition of the wonderful work they have done in the schools and in appreciation of the fact that many of them could obtain more remunerative positions in other lines of work.

Mrs. Newton Wing, chairman of home economics, invited the ladies to send their children to the play room at the war camp community house, which has been established for the benefit of mothers who have no one to care for their children while they do their shopping.

Mrs. Norman Sharp introduced resolutions asking the ladies to assist in establishing a city market. These were enthusiastically received.

Appeal for Budget System.

Mrs. Sam Lumpkin made an appeal to the women to keep an account of their expenditures and to invest their savings in government securities in order that taxes might be reduced.

Mrs. B. M. Boykin asked the endorsement of the ladies in the anti-saloon campaign and called attention to the fact that prohibition would become a law on the sixteenth of this month and as law-abiding citizens we must uphold it.

Mrs. J. Harry Johnson entertained with two delightful vocal numbers and Mrs. Fred White gave two readings in her delightful manner.

The Further Adventures of Jimmie Dale

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

Copyright, 1920, for The Constitution.

It took time—he dared not calculate how long. Carruthers was not the man to let the grass grow under his feet! Carruthers would probably, before leaving home, have telephoned some headquarters' man to meet him—the detective would have telephoned headquarter from Mellnoff's—and after that it would not take the police long to reach the Mole's!

It took time, this tortuous threading of the east side—he did not know how long it had taken—but at last, as he swung into a long, black and narrow alleyway, he drew a quick breath of relief. So far, at least, he was ahead of the police. It was still and silent, there was no sound of any disturbance, and the Mole's now was only a little way ahead. He stole forward noiselessly. It was very quiet—much more quiet even than usual in that far from savoury neighborhood. He remembered, with a grim smile of satisfaction, that the Wowzer had explained there was to be no crowding for front seats for fear of attracting the attention of the police. It had been very thoughtful of the Mole to pass that word around—very! With the underworld, prompted by curiosity and seething with hate, swarming here, the single chance for Jimmie Dale, had of reaching her would have been swept away. He paused now, his lips set hard, crouched by the fence that separated the Mole's backyard from the alleyway. His plan was simple; but it depended for its ultimate success almost entirely on his ability to secure an instant means of disappearance for the Tocsin the moment she was outside the Mole's walls. That he could find her, that he could get her out of the house was another matter—he could only trust to his wits adn nerve in that respect. But if he succeeded in that, then—he moved silently a little further up the lane, crossed to the other side and halted again, this time before the back door of a shed. In an instant his picklock was at work; in another he had opened the door a bare fraction of an inch. His lips grew tigher, as he retraced his steps to the Mole's fence. If that shed were ever needed at all, there would not be time to fumble in the dark for knob or latch—and there would be no necessity for that fumbling now! From the shed there was a very sure means of escape across a small intervening yard, and out through an archway into the street, for the shed was one of the many entrances to Foo Sen's, a place with which he was very intimately acquainted—all this, of course, provided that, if the Tocsin were seen to enter the shed, some one held the pursuers back long enough to afford her time to reach the street.

Jimmie Dale shrugged his shoulders, as he opened a low gate in the fence silently and stepped through into the yard beyond, leaving the gate open behind him. eH was not a fool, blinded to what probably lay ahead! He could not hope to reach the Tocsin, much less effect her rescue, without warning the inmates of this house that loomed up before him now, without a fight with the Mole and the Mole's gangsters. It was not likely that he could reach the shelter of that shed, but the Tocsin could, and, once inside, throwing away her cloak and wig, "Silver Mag" would disappear, and after that there was the Sanctuary, and then her own brave wits. There came a queer twist to Jimmie Dale's lips, and then a shrug of his shoulders again. It was not likely to be the ending to the night that he had thought it might be when sitting there in Bristol Bob's only a few short hours ago!

Faint streaks of light through the nterstices of a shuttered window showed just in front of him, as he stole forward across the yard. Window or back door, it mattered little to Jimmie Dale now, so that he could gain an entry into the house unobserved. It was very quiet—even ominously quiet—that impression came to him suddenly again. The quarter here was full of dives and gambling hells and resorts frequented by the worst in crimeland—but it seemed that the Mole's injunction had been obeyed to the letter! It boded little good —for her! Jimmie Dale's face, under the grime of Larry the Bat's make-up, grew white and set, as he approached the window. God in heaven, was he already too late! The Mole, with his little tobacco shop in front as a blind, and his rooms above rented to "lodgers," thus housing the gand of Apaches that worked under his leadership, had had every opporunity, once the Tocsin was in his power in there, of doing as he would. And then another thought came flashing quick upo nhim. If they had gone that far, if she were dead, they must have discovered that under the cloak and the gray, straggling hair of Silver Mag—was Marie LaSalle. He forced a grip of iron upon himself, fighting mentally like a madman with himself for his self-control. The nigh with every passing moment seemed yawning wider and wider before him in a chasm that threatened ruin, and disaster, and the wreckage of everything that in life was worth the living, and—no! Not yet! The luck had turned! She was there! Silver Mag was there! There! And safe so far!

The window was shoulder high. He was peering in through the blind. There was no light in the room itself, but a faint glow came in through the open doorway of a lighted room beyond—enough to enable him to make out a woman's form the grizzled hair streaming over the threadbare cloak, as she lay on a cheap cot across the room, her face to the wall, her hands bound together behind her back.

It was Jimmie Dale working with all the art he knew now; and those slim, sensitive, wonderful fingers were swift and silent as they had never been before. A stel jimmy loosened the shutters, and they swung apart without a sound. He could see better now—see, at least, that she was alone in the room. He tapped softly on the window pane. It was too dark to see her face, but he saw her raise her head quickly, and then, evidently, quick to meet an emergency as she always was, rise from the cot and steal to the edge of the open door. He was working at the window now. A fever of anxiety was upon him—it seemed that his fingers stumbled, that they had lost their cunning, that an eternity passed as she stood there apparently on guard by the door, her bound hands behind her back like some piteous appeal to him to hurry—to hurry—and, in the name of all that life meant to both of them, to make haste.

"Cinderella's Daughter"

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Synopsis.

Virginia West enters boarding school:

Virginia Is Initiated.

Just after Virginia and her mother had arrived that afternoon, Kathleen, who somehow always managed to discover things without the help of anyone had heard that the Wests had money. She had seen the large touring car drive away and had determined while she was dressing to cultivate the new girl. Kathleen had always had plenty of money herself, but she nevertheless liked others to have it. When she saw Virginia anchored to Miss Patten, she drew away from the dark girl who held her by the arm and hurried across to Virginia.

Virginia never forgot the impression she had of Kathleen crossing the floor toward her. Kathleen wore a white flannel suit with a huge black tie. Her light brown hair, which she wore drawn away from her face and coiled in a knot behind, curled around her face, and her smile, that beautiful smile with so little mirth behind it, was dazzling. It showed her strong white teeth and broke up into little dimples under her eyes and at the corners of her mouth.

Kathleen took Virginia immediately under her wing. She arranged to sit next to her at the table, and she kept every one talking so generally that at the end of the meal Virginia had lost nearly all of her first shyness. Afterward, Kathleen stole into Virginia's room and sat on the bed talking while Virginia undressed. Virginia had a small room to herself at the end of the corridor and the two girls were alone. Kathleen watched the younger girl brush out her short, very dark hair. It stood out all around her face and gave her an elfish expression. Kathleen decided that Virginia had enormous possibilities. Her passionate dark eyes were beautiful, and all she needed was more assurance to bring her out. In her flame-colored dressing gown, she was bewitching.

There wasn't a girl in Palmertown school who did not accept Virginia after this. They followed in Kathleen's footsteps and Virginia was "rushed" for the strongest sorority there. Every one knew that she would go into this sorority to be with Kathleen, and she did, but it was on the night of the initiation that she first saw Kathleen in a new light. For one thing, Kathleen made no exception of Virginia in the treatment accorded the freshmen during these stunts. Virginia was thoroughly hazed and instead of the friend, the girl whom Virginia had idealized, Kathleen had become temporarily obsessed with the one idea of putting Virginia through the third degree. She showed no mercy, and a thousand little humiliations were devised for Virginia mainly because she was game and showed no disposition to cringe and be afraid.

After it was all over, Kathleen came up to Virginia in her old impetuous way, just as though nothing had happened, and Virginia shrank a little. Her spirit was still sore at some of the things she had suffered, small indignities, and the knowledge that Kathleen had been responsible for them. It was somehow impossible for Virginia to treat them impersonally.

"It's all over now an you're one of us," Kathleen said, jubilantly, as she slipped her arm around Virginia's slim waist.

Virginia tried to smile and Kathleen, seeing the brave effort, turned to her quickly.

"You're not cherishing any feeling against us, are you?" she exclaimed. And then without waiting for Virginia to speak, she went on quickly. "Why, you could't do that! It's a tradition, we always make the girls go through stunts to show their mettle. It makes better sorority members of them. There's nothing personal about it."

"Of course not, I know that," Virginia returned, quickly.

They were all standing in a little group, and Hope Bennett, a dark, unusual-looking girl, called out suddenly:

"I was surprised when you suggested that needle trick, Kathleen, we haven't tried that for a long time. You were great about it, Virginia; no foolishness about you."

But Virginia was remembering the needle trick, and Kathleen's face, as she had instigated and put it through. Virginia remembered with odd nagging clearness the fact that she was the only girl who had gone through this stunt. It might have been because she had shown no fear, but there had been something so hard about Kathleen's face, something remorseless and cold, like a person who would torture a fly. Of course this was foolishness and she was being oversensitive, but the thought persisted in her mind just the same.

BETTER THAN WHISKY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Indorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price, While You Wait at Counter, If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the Two-Minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the Laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whisky, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with this wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do, to get rid of that cold, is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk a half dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take a drink at one swallow, and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—(adv.)

See Superfluous Hair Roots Come Right Out

(Entirely New Process.)

New, different, better than all depilatory and electrical treatments, is the marvelous phelactine process. It's the one thing that actually removes the roots as well as the hair on the surface. It does this very quickly, leaving the skin perfectly smooth and hairless.

Get a stick of prepared phelactine from your druggist today, follow the easy instructions, and with your own eyes watch the hair-roots come out! You'll be astonished and delighted. Phelactine is entirely odorless, non-irritating, and so harmless you could eat it without any ill effect.—(adv.)

A Smooth, White Skin That Defies Weather

During the months of biting winds and intense cold, you who would keep your skins smooth, white and velvety, should turn your attention to mercolized wax. Nothing else will so effectively remove a chapped, roughened or discolored surface. By gradually absorbing the weather-beaten cuticle, the complexion is kept in perfect condition, and even the beauty of expression appears more pronounced.

If your skin is blotchy, pimply, coarse, over-red or sallow, why not shed it? One ounce of ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any drug or department store, will completely transform the most unsightly complexion in less than a fortnight. Use the wax nightly, like you use cold cream, washing it off mornings.—(adv.)

Miss Brittain Gives Beautiful Party.

Miss Mary Brittain entertain at a very handsomely appointed bridge-luncheon yesterday at the Druid Hills Golf club, complimenting Miss Virginia Collier, a bride-elect of Wednesday, whose marriage to Mr. Louis Estes, Jr., will be solemnized at the Park Street Methodist church in West End.

The game was played in the sun parlor of the club, and afterward luncheon was served in the main dining room, where the decorations were in narcissi and ferns. The long table was covered with an embroidered linen cloth, introducing lace motifs. For the central decoration, there was a lovely doll, dressed as a bride, in white satin, with tulle veil arranged with orange blossoms, and she was driving with golden ribbons a dozen or more yellow butterflies. At either end of the table there was a large French basket, filled with yellow-centered narcissi, ornamented with yellow tulle bows, while the place of each guest was marked with a hand-painted Cupid, driving a golden butterfly, and attached to the crystal goblet. The mints were in white hearts, the handles of each basket tied with gold tulle.

The invited guests included Miss Virginia Collier, Miss Corinee Johnson, Miss Fan Esther Meakin, Miss Norma Estes, Miss Frances Dudley, Miss Margaret Pratt, Miss Ida Brittain, Miss Genevieve Harper, Miss Dorothy Haverty, Miss Mamie Branch Powers, Miss Willard Therrell, Miss Mary Matthews, Miss Mary Lou Barge, Miss Rebecca Clark, Miss Augusta Cohen, of Marietta, Miss Glennis Hancock, of Marietta; Mrs. Warren Leach, Mrs. Roy Le-Craw, Mrs. Calhoun and Mrs. Irene Weathers.

DREADED FOR NIGHT TO COME

Texas Lady, In Pretty Bad Fix, Heard of Cardui, Tried It, and Now Says It Saved Her Life.

Chilton, Texas.—Mrs. Mary Reese, of this place, states: "Sometime ago I was quite sick and suffered a great deal. I had been suffering quite awhile . . . At times I had such severe pains in my back, across my hips and in my sides—I was in a pretty bad fix . . . was so restless I dreaded for night to come.

"Having heard of Cardui, I thought I'd try it . . . I commenced to get better with my first bottle. I took six bottles of Cardui and will tell any woman what this Cardui Home Treatment has done and will do if taken according to directions. We not only feel it cured but . . . most likely saved my like. I am able to do my work with ease and know Cardui did it."

Cardui has been found to relieve many womanly pains and ailments and thousands of women have written to tell of the benefit it has been to them, in cases of female troubles and weakness.

Cardui is prepared from mild, medicinal ingredients, which act as a tonic and help build up health and strength in a natural manner.

Your Home and You

Breakfast in Bed

If I wanted to be the most popular mother (or wife or sister) in the world I'd sneak down to the shop where all the luxuries are that you always wish you'd get for Christmas, but never do, and I'd buy a bewitching wicker breakfast tray with legs that stand just right upon a counterpane, and I'd equip it with the gayest, sauciest set of breakfast china I could find. Then I'd sit back lynx-eyed and watch for a chance to nab somebody who had been out late the night before or who had a holiday or something and I'd serve their breakfast in bed. Do you know of anything more absolutely luxurious on a morning when you just dreaded getting up than having your breakfast in bed, on a tray that showed how much somebody enjoyed it? Harry Lauder set many heads bobbing in sympathy when he sang:

"* * * it's verra, verra nice
To get yer breakfast in your bed

I don't believe a little child ever forgets the wonder and the importance of having a breakfast tray stood before him just under his elbows, with his own individual sugar bowl and cream pitcher on it and the gold band china instead of his own stout mug and plate. The young son or daughter who went to the Friday night dance will call down blessings upon your head in heartfelt slang, and as for the liege lord, who got up early and went down to argue with the furnace—well, if I wanted to be the most popular woman in the world I'd get a duck of a breakfast tray at once, that's all.

Edwards, 271 East Tenth street, Tuesday afternoon, January 13, at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Keirn will give an informal talk on the art treasures of Tokio before the Woman's Union of the Universalist-Unitarian church. Mrs. Keirn spent 15 years in Japan and during those years was always an interested and alert observer of the art side of Japanese life.

Before Mrs. Keirn's address there will be the usual business meeting. All members urged to come and to bring new ideas and renewed enthusiasm for the new year.

To Visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Duffell gave a small dinner at their home Friday evening, the occasion being a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dean, of Lakeland, Fla., who spent the past week at the Ansley.

GAINESVILLE'S FIGHT AGAINST ILLITERACY

In a letter to C. J. Haden, of Atlanta, Vice President of the Georgia Illiteracy Campaign J. H. Hosch, of Gainesville, Ga., reports a most encouraging campaign against illiteracy in Hall county. Between four and five hundred illiterates have been and are now being taught to read and write since the inauguration of this campaign.

The various teachers of Hall county are intensely enthusiastic over the success of their endeavors. Mr Hosch, head of the illiteracy committee in Gainesville, is keen in his desire to eradicate this blemish and all efforts are being centered on

'GOB' FLYERS ORGANIZE CLUB THURSDAY NIGHT

Organization of a naval aviation club will take place in Atlanta Thursday night at a banquet at the Capital City club. All former officers and student officers of the United States naval flying corps who are now living in Atlanta will be guests at this time. It is believed that there are at least fifty men in the city who are eligible for membership.

W. L. Mattox, formerly an ensign in the naval flying corps, is in charge of the committee which is arranging the banquet. His telephone is West 2000.

MEETINGS

All volunteer members of the Atlanta social service bureau are invited to meet this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock at the Red Cross house, 258 Peachtree street.

Executive board meeting of the Atlanta City Federation of Women's Clubs called for Friday morning at 10 o'clock, January 16, in assembly hall. Open meeting for the following Tuesday morning, January 20, at 10 o'clock, assembly hall. Mrs. Coles, the president, again urges that all resolutions be given to Mrs. Bolling Jones one week in advance of the open meeting.

The regular meeting of the Uncle Remus Memorial association will be held Tuesday morning at the residence of Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, in the Marlborough, at 10:30 o'clock.

The regular meeting of the Forrest Avenue Parent-Teacher association will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the school auditorium. Important meeting; all members are urged to attend.

The Parent-Teacher association of Peeples Street school will hold their regular monthly meeting at the school building on Tuesday at the noon, January 13, at 2:30 o'clock. Miss Blanch Loveridge, of Elizabeth Mather, will be the speaker for the afternoon. A full attendance is urged.

The Parent-Teacher association, of the Fair street school, will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, January 14, at 2:30 o'clock at the school. A full attendance is earnestly requested, as election of officers will take place.

ATLANTA PIGEONS WIN MANY PRIZES AT NATIONAL SHOW

At the National Pigeon Show, held at Indianapolis, Ind., from January 4th through January 8th of this year, an Atlanta man's birds won six prizes. Charles Ivah, 805 Healey building, sent eight birds to the show and four Turbits won as many first prizes, while two of his Carneaux annexed a second and a fourth prize.

Mr. Ivah has been raising pigeons all his life. "They are not for sale," stated Mr. Ivan, "but I will gladly show them to anyone who wishes to see them." His were the only Georgia pigeons on exhibition at the show.

During the 1918 fair, fifty of his birds were entered. Extra prizes were gained by his Turbits. He did not have an exhibit last year, due to his illness.

J. DEWEY CHAMBERS HELD IN $500 BOND

J. Dewey Chambers, of 466 Pulliam street, was bound over to the higher courts by Recorder Johnson in police court Monday morning under a $500 bond on the charge of driving an automobile without the owner's consent.

Chambers was arrested Saturday night by Detectives Malcolm, Meeks and Carter. It was charged by them that he was in possession of a Buick roadster stolen from Fred Merry, 145 Edgewood avenue, two weeks ago. Upon his arrest, Chambers made the statement that he had Merry's consent to drive the car.

Merry appeared in court Monday but was reluctant to prosecute young Chambers, declaring first that he had loaned him the car. Judge Johnson refused to listen to a leniency plea and held Chambers.

ATLANTA BANKS WILL HOLD MEETINGS TODAY

The incerase of capital stock, change in the personnel of bank officers and promotions and the enlargement of the number of directors in several of the banks will probably be voted on. The past year has been one of unusual prosperity for most of the banks and trust companies.

Enlarged activities for the ensuing year will probably follow in the cases of most of these institutions, which will doubtless pile up a huge amount of velvet acquired by their past year of prosperity.

Cab Is Stolen.

That automobiles are not the only vehicles being stolen in this city was shown by a report to the county and city police Monday to the effect that two well-dressed white men had stolen a cab in front of the union station Sunday night. The police conducted a search for the cab throughout the city, and it was later recovered, abandoned by the thieves on Pulliam street.

MANY VITAL TOPICS DISCUSSED MONDAY AT COLLEGE MEET

Business and higher education, the restriction of college entrance requirements, and intelligence tests for college freshmen were among the vital topics discussed at the annual meeting of the Association of Georgia colleges held Monday morning at the Piedmont hotel.

Dr. Edgar H. Johnson, dean of the school of business administration of Emory university, as president of the association, presided at the session. Among the colleges represented in the association are:

Brenau college, Gainesville; Emory university, Atlanta; LaGrange Female college, LaGrange; Mercer university, Macon; Piedmont college, Demorest; Shorter college, Rome; Bessie Tift college, Barnesville; Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta; University of Georgia, Athens, and Wesleyan college, Macon.

Among the addresses given at the meeting were the following: "Should Admission to College Be Further Restricted?" by Dr. Leon P. Smith, professor of chemistry, Wesleyan college; "The Degree of Bachelor of Science in Medicine," by Dr. C. B. Fountain, professor of physics, Mercer university; "The Place of the School of Commerce in Higher Education," by J. M. Watters, Georgia School of Technology; "The Work of the College Registrar," by J. G. Stipe, registrar of Emory university; "Intelligence Tests for College Freshmen," by Dr. Peyton Jacob, professor of education, Mercer university.

TRAVELERS OF MACON PLAN FOR STATE MEET

Macon, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—The local post of the Travelers' Protective association will hold a meeting during the present week at which an entertainment committee will be appointed and plans for the coming state convention of Georgia travelers will be discussed. The executive committee of the state organization has fixed April 15-16 as the dates for the convention. Fully 1,000 traveling men will attend, it is believed. There are between 5,000 and 7,000 members of the association in Georgia, C. V. Styles, of Albany, being the state president.

WORLD WAR OFFICERS TO BANQUET TONIGHT

The Atlanta chapter of the American Officers of the Great War, a recently organized national order, with chapters in many sections of the United States, will hold a banquet tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The charter, which was recently applied for to national headquarters, will be received during the festivities. The guests of honor will be Colonel T. S. Bratton, commander at general hospital No. 6, Fort McPherson, Ga.; Colonel S. Gray Zalenski, zone supply officer; Colonel Charles R. Noyes, ranking officer at Camp Gordon, and Captain W. C. Roper, United States navy.

CHARLES GERDING, SR., BURIED IN GREENSBORO

Greensboro, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—The funeral of Charles Gerding, Sr., was held from the city cemetery here yesterday at 2 o'clock. Mr. Gerding was 93 years old, a native of Georgia and for a number of years a resident of Greensboro. His death occurred at his home, Oliver Springs, Tenn. He had been married for 67 years.

He is survived by his wife, one son, Charles Gerding, Jr., Pittsburg, Pa.; a daughter, Mrs. Julia Gerding Bradford, Atlanta, and two grandchildren, Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Madison, both of Atlanta.

SCOUT ENCAMPMENT OFFICIALS NAMED

Macon, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—Officials for the encampment of the Boy Scouts of Georgia were chosen at a meeting of the executive committee of the Macon council tonight. Mell R. Wilkison, of Atlanta, will be camp commander; Scout Executive W. L. Sprouse, of Waycross, will be camp adjutant; Dr. Herbert Respress, Macon, camp surgeon, and Dr. C. D. Cleghorn, Macon, camp health officer.

MRS. MALCOM PASSES AT AGE OF NINETY-FIVE

Darien, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—Mrs. Catherine Malcolm, the widow of the late John Malcolm, former residents of Doboy Island, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Conway, on Sapelo Island, today. Deceased was 95 years of age.

Prices realized on Swift & Co. sales of carcass beef in Atlanta, Ga., for week ending Saturday, January 10, 1920, on shipments sold out, ranged from 14 cents to 20 cents per pound and averaged .1648 cents per pound.—(adv.)

Woman Brings Family Here To See Husband in Pen

Mrs. James Bowe and her children.

After a several hundred-mile journey with her four-months-old baby daughter, and three other children, Mrs. James Bowe, of Cedar Grove, W. Va., has arrived in Atlanta to be near her husband, who is in the federal prison.

Mrs. Bowe expects to secure work of some kind and support herself and her four children by her own labors while here. She is doing this in order that she may see her husband once every two weeks, as is permitted by prison regulations. Bowe has served nine months of his sentence, which includes fifteen more months.

"We expect to stay here until my husband is out," said Mrs. Bowe. "I can work, and I ought to be able to support the children. I can do waitress or maid work, but I am willing to take in washing, too, if I can't do anything else."

The children of the little family are "Dimple" Louise, the name of the baby, who is four months old; James Dennis, three years old; Charles, nine years, and Clarice, eleven years old. The two older ones are children by a former husband.

Students of State College to Express Opinion of League

Athens, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—Students at the University of Georgia will be given an opportunity to register approval or disapproval of the league of nations covenant Tuesday. Chancellor Barrow has addressed the students advising them that the privilege will be given them.

A straw vote was held at chapel a few days ago and it was found that a majority of students were in favor of the league. Chancellor Barrow expressed himself as being in approval of the league and made a short talk in its behalf. A special program will probably be carried out, during which several students will be permitted to speak for or against the league and the treaty.

In cold temperatures rats are found to develop a sort of "overcoat" or additional outer covering, which grows very quickly.

SHERIFF OF BRYAN, HOME IN CHATHAM, RESIGNS HIS OFFICE

Savannah, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—Sheriff W. A. Gibson, of Bryan county, who still maintains that his residence is in Bryan, where he has a farm, even though his family lives in Savannah, Chatham county, has settled the much-mooted question of vacancy in his office by resigning, his resignation going to the governor today. The question was wrestled with by the Bryan grand jury, by numbers of lawyers, by the governor and the attorney general of the state and never solved.

British Attache Robbed.

Havana, January 12.—Captain Geoffre Block, attache of the British embassy at Washington, who left aboard the British cruiser New Zealand yesterday, notified the police that while riding in a taxicab he either forgot or was robbed of a valise containing $1,645 sterling and important documents.

HALF OF THE WORK OF CENSUS TAKING IS NOW COMPLETE

Half of the work of securing the census in Atlanta has now been completed, and it is expected that the city will have been covered by the end of the week, if there is no bad weather to hinder. The bad weather last week retarded somewhat the work of the enumerators, according to Walter O. Marshburn, fifth district census supervisor.

Work in the country and small towns outside Atlanta included in this district, is somewhat more difficult. The territory to be covered is large, and when the roads are bad, traveling is slow. Until the end of the month is allowed for the computation of the census in the district outside of Atlanta.

"For the most part, people are co-operating well," said Mr. Marshburn. "If those who have rooming houses will make an extra effort to be ready for the enumerators it will help considerably."

Negro Slayer Surrenders.

Fred Smith, colored, surrendered to the police Monday and confessed to the shooting of Nathan Gray, also colored, Sunday night, in the former's home on Blackgum street. Smith made the statement to police Monday that he had killed Gray in self-defense, that Gray was advancing upon him with an open knife when the fatal shot was fired. Pending an investigation of the affair, Smith is being held at police station without bond.

The inquest over the body of Sergeant Casey, the negro soldier who was shot and killed Thursday night at the corner of Ivy street and Auburn avenue, was continued Monday afternoon until Wednesday afternoon by Coroner Paul Donehoo. The inquest was continued in order to get other witnesses. No light was thrown on the shooting by the persons examined Monday.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets that are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nauseless calomel tablet called Calotabs, and which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calotab on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calotabs only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you do not find them delightful.—(adv.)

Nothing Will Give and Preserve Fine Teeth—Except

Good health and dental cleanliness. Therefore a dentifrice, wisely chosen, is of great help. And, in the exercise of wise care, Dr. Lyon's is most widely selected, probably because it has the greatest number of years of safe and efficient service back of it.

It has never pretended to do more than clean the teeth, for with good health "a clean tooth never decays." Beyond meeting the need of cleanliness no dentifrice can assist—only a physician or dentist should be considered.

RATIFY THE TREATY!

Above the hubbub growing out of the Jackson Day democratic banquet rises the voice of the press of the country which, reflecting public sentiment, calls for the ratification of the peace treaty without further delay.

The New York World, an unyielding advocate of the league of nations, fairly expresses the comment of the democratic press in its declaration—

"The United States senate has a great constitutional duty to perform in relation to the treaty, and it should discharge that duty without further delay. The president's hope of an unqualified ratification of the treaty cannot be realized, much to our regret. Senator Lodge's reservations have been decisively beaten, much to our delight. But there is left a great middle ground of compromise, and it is the business of the two factions to reach an agreement for which sixty-four senators can vote, mindful of their responsibility."

In The World's opinion, "President Wilson will not reject an honest compromise. . . . But it must be a fair compromise."

The president's message to the democrats gathered at the Jackson Day dinner in Washington does not bar reservations to the treaty; it does not put him on record as being opposed to interpretative reservations. On the other hand, it practically invites compromise if the treaty cannot be ratified without it.

Unquestionably the sentiment of the country in relation to the league of nations is that if we cannot get the whole loaf it is better to take half than none—for, after all, the principle involved is the main thing.

The world is adjusting itself to after-war conditions, with this country unrepresented in its counsels over a situation which was created largely by our participation.

We are still at war with Germany—the only nation in the world that is.

It is an intolerable anachronism!

The country is sick and tired of the situation that exists in the senate.

The democratic senators were right in contending for the ratification of the peace treaty as it came from Versailles; and if the treaty had been ratified when submitted—seven months ago—the world's work of readjustment would by now have been well under way, thousands of lives would have been spared and much of the chaos that now exists would have been averted.

But the republican senate would not ratify.

The continued discussion of reservations now will not solve problems; it will not feed hungry children; it will not put commerce on the oceans of the world; it will not substitute peace for chaos.

It only aggravates the seriousness of the situation.

The world must have a basis upon which to start the work of reconstruction; and that basis is not going to be established until the treaty gets out of the senate!

The democrats have made the fight for ratification of the treaty as it stands, and failed; and since they cannot get it without reservations—not even if they won on the issue at the polls next fall, for the reason that only one-third of the senate's membership is to be elected at that time—the thing for them to do is to get the best they can, get the treaty out of the senate, and trust the future to strengthen it as occasion arises and as opportunity is presented.

Ratify the treaty!

The league of nations is soon to assemble, and Uncle Sam should have a place at the table!

HELP THE STARVING.

The request of Secretary of the Treasury Glass for authority to extend additional loan credits to European nations, to the extent of $150,000,000, in order to thus provide a measure of relief for the starving masses of the war-torn countries, is now receiving the attention of congress.

There exists in the countries of Europe that were hardest hit by the war a condition that is indescribable. Old and infirm, men and women, and weak children have starved to death by thousands, and millions more are facing starvation during the winter unless relief comes from the outside.

Herbert Hoover, who is more intimately conversant with the food situation throughout the world than, perhaps, any other American, and Sir William Goode, British director of relief in Europe, have stated that unless America comes to the rescue the consequences will be terrible, because Europe is powerless to even begin to cope with the situation without our aid.

What the suffering nations and their would-be saviors need most is money with which to buy food and raw materials.

Of money there is little in those countries; but they have the latent resources, so credit extended to them now is equivalent to cash.

Sir William estimates that two billion pounds sterling, one-half of which would be administered through the German government, is required to adequately meet the situation.

America has the money—plenty of it; our banks are fairly bursting with it.

Not only should the credit asked for by Secretary Glass be granted, but it should be only the beginning of a great American manifestation of sympathy and helpfulness that will not cease until there is not a hungry child in the whole world!

Surrounded by plenty, living off the fat of the richest land in the world and making money as never before—America must not falter in her humane duty to unfortunates who now turn to us for help.

Our country is asked to give nothing, but simply to extend credits for loans, every dollar of which will be returned in the course of time.

Congress should act favorably upon the proposal, and not delay a moment longer than necessary in doing it; because every hour of time saved in applying this relief means the saving of hundreds, if not thousands, of human lives.

FOR A BETTER ARMY.

Beginning January 19 and continuing through March 31, the United States army will conduct an intensified campaign of recruiting, the objective being not only the enlistment of as many recruits as possible, but of men of good qualities of citizenship and of physical fitness.

In a sense it marks a new departure in American military affairs, and a change in policy governing the United States army; and it is calculated to, and doubtless will, materially elevate the standard of the manhood constituting the personnel of the fighting and defense forces of Uncle Sam.

This attitude on the part of the government is not a reflection on the army as at present constituted; but there never was an institution so nearly perfect that improvement was impossible, and the United States army is not an exception.

Briefly, the new policy contemplates a vigorous campaign of advertising and education; an appeal to the best young men in every community, and putting before them and their kinfolk arguments to convince them that a term in their country's military service would be highly beneficial to them as well as to their country, and then to substantiate such representations by service to the men after enlistment.

It provides for the maintenance of recruiting stations in the best quarters in the best buildings in the most highly respectable business sections of the cities in which such headquarters are to be maintained, instead of in cheap quarters in inferior neighborhoods—putting the recruiting officers in surroundings not demeaning to themselves and their sense of pride.

The plan is elevating, and, put in operation, it will add dignity to the business of "soldiering."

Taken with the provisions that have been made for the education of enlisted men and officers, to fit them for remunerative civilian careers after leaving the army, the plan will not only improve the army, but have a decided tendency to raise the standard of private citizenship of ex-service men and increase the efficiency of the country as a whole.

This vocational education scheme is now in successful operation, congress having voted a creditable appropriation to start it off; and at this time the young men in service are being educated in the various army camps in the professions, arts, the skilled crafts, etc.

The tendency of the times, so far as the government is concerned, is to "humanize" the army; to democratize its personnel; to make as inconspicuous as possible the line of demarkation between army and public.

Uncle Sam wants everybody, soldier and civilian alike, to feel that, after all, the army is composed of "just folks;" and the result is bound to be a more effective, stronger, happier and a more contented army.

Mrs. I. Springer Appeals For Aid to Austria

Editor Constitution: In an article in The Constitution I read that the women and children at Vienna, Austria, appealed to the sisters of this country for help, and our people should answer.

I have people living there whom I help most every month.

This is one of the proudest of cities and they surely would not ask for help if they did not need it in their critical condition.

I would like for you to take this up. It would not be hard to raise a good amount of money for them. This country, and Atlanta and the state of Georgia, from my past experience, are always willing and ready to give a helping hand to the needy.

How about starting a fund? I would be willing to come to Atlanta and start to work. I am willing to give the first $10 to this cause.

MRS. I. SPRINGER.

Sparta, Ga., January 10, 1920.

"The Night Wind"

A sound—not whisp'ring moan nor sigh,
But smooth and soft and low and deep;
So sad, yet ceaseless in its croon,
Its croon, that sings the world to sleep.

When Nature's harp-strings are atune,
When Nature rests and all is still,
Breathes out its secret, plaintive croon.

One song, one tune, one vibrant strain
That Nature's choir breathes through the pines,
With patience, anguish, love and joy
All mingled in its softened lines.

The sound—'tis soft, and deep, and low;
'Tis whisp'ring now; 'tis almost gone:
A sigh; a breath; a calmness still:
And Nature meets another dawn.

Says Fulton Should Constitute Single Congressional District

By Sam W. Small.

The census of 1920 is now being taken and one of its effects should be to make Fulton county into a single congressional district on and after the election of 1922.

This congress, before its final adjournment on March 3, 1921, will doubtless pass the decennial apportionment act and the Georgia legislature of June following will have the duty of fixing the new congressional districts of the state for the following ten years.

Because of the late war and the consequent heavy decline of immigration the prospect is that the enumeration of inhabitants in the forty-eight states will not show such an increase of population in 1920 over 1910 as will necessitate a sensible enlargement of the ratio for congressional representation.

Whatever increases may appear are likely to be so distributed as to make it possible to absorb them by a slight increase of the membership of the house of representatives; and it can stand for widely casual increases from its present number of 435 members up to perhaps 450.

That last named figure is pretty certain to take up all the increase of population that the new census will show. That increase will be in spots over the map and the added members be widely distributed, not materially raising the representation of any one or more states. The redistributions of population through war exigencies will locate the new memberships very likely in the larger cities of the nation.

In either case, in all justice and equity, Fulton county should be set up as a congressional unit.

She will unquestionably have a population that will entitle her to that classification.

Her position as the capital county of the state and the great interests, subject especially to national legislation, that are centered in and about Atlanta, make it eminently the square deal to give them an unique and undivided representation in the national house.

In asking that much of the legislators of Georgia, when they come to make the new apportionment in 1921, the people of Fulton county will be advancing no unusual or flamboyant request.

There are seventeen such districts in the union now, not counting those greater cities that have more than a single congressman.

The single counties containing the following cities are whole congressional districts, viz.: Birmingham in Alabama, Berkeley in California, Denver in Colorado, Hartford in Connecticut, Stamford in same state, Indianapolis in Indiana, Louisville in Kentucky, St. Paul in Minnesota, Kansas City in Missouri, Paterson in New Jersey, Columbus in Ohio, Portland in Oregon, Seattle in Washington, and the four following in Pennsylvania, namely, Lancaster, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Pottsville.

The ratio of population per district in 1910 was 211,877. By the census on which these districts were made, for instance, Lancaster county in Pennsylvania had 167,029 population, and for ten years has been one undivided congressional district.

Passaic county in New Jersey, with Paterson as its city, had only 209,891. The Pennsylvania district which embraces Pottsville had 205,894; and even Denver, city and county, one congressional district, had 213,381.

Let some of our Fulton county political sharps round up the available and necessary data, and let Atlanta's council and business bodies frame up in advance the campaign that will put Atlanta, in this congressional aspect, equal with such other state capitals as Denver, Hartford, Indianapolis, St. Paul and Columbus.

Crime of Mob Violence Unpunished In Georgia, Declares Mrs. Felton

Editor Constitution: After reading the able article of Sam W. Small in The Constitution of January 7, I feel constrained to echo the statements made in his closing paragraph:

"When a mob can safely mock the judge, sidetrack the sheriff and his power to summon the whole country to his side, pack the jury box, and defiantly sit down to supper with its hands red with the blood and grimy from the charred bones of a safely-captured and surely helpless human subject of the law, then civilization has become a delusion and the face of God become clouded by the smoke of its funeral pyre."

It goes without saying that the hope of the country lies in the honesty of our judiciary and the integrity of our juries.

Since it has been made the privilege of juries to fix the sentence on the person or persons convicted of the crime of mob violence, the matter has become worse. For instance, I can direct you to a case tried before a superior court judge as late as September, where a white man, or a man born with a white skin, for there is a distinction and a difference, entered the home of a negro woman, surrounded by her children, and committed such acts of violence as to be indicted by a grand jury of white men, and convicted, on the evidence furnished at the trial, by a jury of white men, and that jury, with the usual mob spirit inside of them, placed a sentence of a year in the chaingang.

The indictment was for rape.

SAYS JURIES ARE PUSSYFOOTING.

The sentence declared the crime to be rape. The extenuating circumstances, as mentioned to me, were an alleged "blind tiger" kept in the house of the negro woman, and that the white rapist was drunk.

It also goes without saying that a crime of that sort committed by a negro on a white woman would have been finished by daylight, by Judge Lynch, and the negro would have been only "charred remains." The rapist was let out on bond, seeking a new trial. He was pointed out to me, riding in a buggy through the county town, as brazen as the brass on a policeman's official badge, and as free as you or I.

If a new trial is allowed a white jury will repeat its verdict and fix the sentence, and that will end it.

Compare this matter with the atrocity that was perpetrated less than a year ago near the town of McRae, published in full and denounced in your own columns, where two negro girls pursued by two drunken white rapists, also married men, escaped to a cabin inhabited by an aged negro man, over 70, and in his endeavor to shield these colored girls he shot one of the drunken rapists in the leg, or arm, perhaps. Before daylight dawned the old negro was lynched and his body shot to giblets. When you discovered that this dismal affair was covered up and kept from public notice you called a halt and gave it needed publicity.

No notice of a court trial for that offense has been published where I might read of it.

Those lynchers were known to be white men. They had but one idea, namely, to shelter the white rapists.

The courts will not handle these peculiar acts of violence. Mob law is the only law that deals with them.

As a rule, the county officers cannot discern a lyncher. There is no such animal when he gets in sight or halting distance. As a rule, the juries are pussy-footing around the facts, if they are informed of them by indignant citizens in the grand jury room.

As a rule, the judges who are called upon to listen to court trials of such crimes are much relieved that the obliging juries can convict and name the punishment.

For the life of me, I cannot see where the judge is needed at all—he is only allowed to pronounce the verdict of the white jury, and the white jury will always shield the white man, in all such cases. He would have to emigrate if he exercised the prerogative of dealing out justice in the raw to these lynchers—who are not only lynching for the crime of rape, but for any other offense that violent men are certainly caught—red-handed.

SEVEN LYNCHINGS IN ONE WEEK.

Years and years ago mob law prevailed in Georgia to such extent that seven lynchings in one week were published—just succeeding the Sam Hose incident—that the most of your readers still remember.

I was invited to address the State Agricultural society by its president. I attended and made the address in the noted pavilion on Tybee island. I warned the farmers that mob law would wreck law and order, so long as our politicians hugged the negro voter with one arm and slung a lynch-torch in the other, that women were not safe in their farm homes, etc. That speech went like fire in dead grass all over the United States. I was pictured as a fiend—all over the northern states—but nearly every man who listened to me rose to his feet and shouted for me at Tybee.

More than twenty years have come and gone since that speech at Tybee. Painful it is to me that I now say to you, in all truth and soberness, that our courts will not deal out justice, that our judges pussyfoot around these lynching atrocities, that our county officials cannot be depended on to arrest criminals and stand by the truth and the facts in the case.

The strangest part of all these things lies in the security that violent people are sure to experience. Mr. Small says there were 21 lynchings in Georgia in 1919—more than a fourth of all that occurred in the United States. As he wisely remarks, the judges are elected or defeated at the polls by the votes of these violent men and their backers. The created are not greater than their creator—the fruit is no better than its tree. The stream cannot rise higher than its source. I hazard nothing, when I say that every one of those 21 lynchings ended in the very same way.

Last Night's Dreams; What They Mean Did You Dream of Candles?

If we may believe the mystics to see candles burning in a dream is an omen of good fortune if they burn brightly. It is a sign that you will eventually become possessed of a comfortable fortune. Some say that it means a legacy, but this is a disputed point. However as the fortune is to come the manner of its coming is perhaps of secondary consideration. The burning candle is also said to signify that you will receive praise for something and that you will be the recipient of favors. If you dream of lighting a candle then your undertakings will prosper. But to see the candles burn dimly is an unfavorable sign. So say the mystics.

Frederick Greenwood—who of all the scientific investigators of dream phenomena, with the exception of Dr. Radcliffe, seems least inclined to dismiss the mystics with scorn—says in his book, "Imagination in Dreams," that his object "is not to reinstate a superstitious interpretation of dreams or to encourage the practice of searching into them for omens as fortune-tellers pry into the lees of a cup of tea." He does not admit that the modern mystics possess the art of interpretating prophetic dreams, but seems equally convinced that such dreams do occur. He says: "Why may not some dreams be supernatural in the sense that imagination has a range of power far beyond what is thought natural to it or that reason can account for with comfort to itself? From time immemorial the power has been felt and acknowledged as the gift of seers and prophets under the name of second-sight, inspiration, divine intimation," etc. And again: "As the body can never know what powers the mind may be able to exert, neither will any thinker affect to map out the limitations of intuition, which is acknowledged to be beyond the ken of thought. And since what is called intuition and what is called imagination have the strange gift of unveiling and revealing, why should one start from the appearance of this same revealing power when imagination is followed into sleep?"

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE HIGH COST OF SICKNESS—2. LADY BOUNTIFUL INSISTS.

Some thirty-five years ago there was established in Germany a socialistic scheme which purported to insure medical care and other necessities to working people in time of sickness. In Germany under this paternalistic plan the working people received perhaps the most unconsiderate care and treatment the sick in any civilized country have ever been given. Every doctor who has ever visited Germany knows how insignificant the patient is in the estimation of the medical man under this socialistic plan.

In England a similar scheme was adopted a few years ago, and far from improving public health, as its sponsors had predicted, the so-called health insurance law rather lowered the health standard of England. It was inevitable that the scheme should do so, for in practice it placed a premium on commercialism and dishonesty in the medical profession. Doctors, being human, have their weaknesses, their cupidity and their underhanded tactics, which the so-called health insurance scheme too frequently called into play. When a doctor, under such a scheme, is paid so much a head, rather than the actual value of his service in a given case, he is likely to rush matters, if he happens to be a man of easy conscience, and merely string along those under his care, precisely as the lodge doctor, the prison doctor, the contract industrial doctor does in America.

Who wants compulsory health insurance in this country? Why, everyone wants it, of course, if there is really such a thing. But there is no such thing. What is called compulsory health insurance is actually compulsory sickness insurance, and a disappointing kind of insurance at that. The representatives of organized labor are on record against this socialistic plan; the medical profession everywhere is almost unanimously against the plan—I mean the real practitioners, not those la-de-da boys whose interest in medicine or healing is merely academic.

Lady Bountiful seems to be the chief supporter of the plan. She is just wild about it. It seems to her the loveliest thing. It will give the workingmens' pay envelope over to her control, to a certain extent, for out of each pay, under compulsory sickness insurance, a certain amount will be deducted by Lady Bountiful to help defray the cost of the insurance. Better than a "drive," my dear!

The lame ducks are all for it, because the plan, if enacted into law, will create a whole lot of nice soft jobs—an unworked mine of political preferment and graft.

And then, of course, Lady Bountiful's squires are all for it, those la-de-da boys with the social service bug, those welfare workers with no better job in sight, those agitators who agitate for a living—and backing the whole lot, those politicians who think they see socialism enthroned in the future of our land.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Sairey Shocked.

I am in the habit of preparing a tub of tepid water and letting my 18-months-old baby paddle in it naked. She enjoys it immensely for from five to thirty minutes every day. But when I told "Sairey" about it she nearly had a fit. She declared it is "weakenin'." Is it? Baby seems perfectly well and strong. (H. W. A.)

ANSWER—The effect on Sairey is wealnin'. The effect on the baby is just fine.

Tea.

Which has the greatest food value, tea with or without milk and sugar? Is tea a better stimulant than water and sugar? Is tea a stimulant at all? (G. C. S.)

ANSWER—Tea has practically no food value. The addition of milk and sugar of course gives the mixture considerable food value. Tea is a stimulant to the brain, heart and kidneys. Sugar is not a stimulant, but a very quickly utilized food for the muscles, especially the heart muscle, in any emergency or test of endurance.

∴ Short Talks on Psychology ∴

By PROF. CHARLES GRAY SHAW, Ph. D.
New York University

Psychological Moments

In the Franco-Prussian war the Germans talked about the "psychological moment," by which they meant the psychic factor or momentum rather than any special time. In this war they have been talking about the day. It is time itself which will defeat these same Germans.

Do you have psychological moments, or are your times purely physical? Does time act upon you as it has worked upon the stone, as it shows its powers in the plant, or do you take the pendulum into your own hands? Do you watch the clock, or do you yourself drive the hands around?

Psychological moments are internal; they are marked by clock wheels within wheels. Time is so arranged that a moment here may be altogether different from a moment there. All depends upon the will of the individual. The clock is neutral; it marks all hours alike. If you are to have special psychological moments you must mark them yourself.

True time is such that a cycle of Cathay cannot compare with a century of Europe. Standard time is so constituted that a day in the high courts of Truth and Beauty is better than a thousand upon the lowlands of humdrum and drab. The real moment is psychological, soul-like.

To make psychological moments you must look into the clock. The special, sudden moment is measured in terms of insight. When one has seen into the mystery of things the time moment is really eternal. The first moment when the Wright brothers flew in the simple airplane had the power to lift them above the mere time of earth to the time-lessness of the skies. From that moment forth the character of time was changed.

The times that are psychological are those in which the will takes hold of life and makes resolutions for us. The will has the power to turn time into eternity. It can change general considerations into the overt act. It can change the earth into a star.

Feeling is another factor which has power to change time into timelessness. Grand emotion is so rare with us that we have to pay actors to engender and express it for us. The grand emotion is eternal. It makes the heart stand still and lets it lay hold of the eternal.

Perhaps you need to change the clock. You have set it an hour ahead. Why not try to have it mark the depth as well as the length of your moments, your psychological ones?

∴ Bits of New York Life ∴

BY O. O. M'INTYRE

New York, January 12.—(Special.) Harry Pilcer, a young east side boy who gained fame as the dancing partner of Gaby Deslys, is running the Apollo cafe in Paris and now that American jazz music is further cementing French-American ties his place is becoming a rendezvous. It is near the Montmartre district and Pilcer, who is appearing in a French revue next door, runs in between acts to dance with American sightseers.

The Apollo is trying to be a strictly Bohemian resort and with the hordes of Americans going to Paris now—instead of New York—for an occasional fling young Pilcer is becoming richer by several thousands every week. Once a week Gaby shows up at the Apollo and dances with Pilcer and this proves a great drawing card. A negro crew of Jazzers from Birmingham furnish and whiny, syncopated notes.

A writing friend returns from Paris to tell me that he saw a comic opera star, three writers, two pugilists and a novelist at tables in the Apollo and the place bids fair to be like the place run by a Swiss publican named Pfaff in the late forties. The restaurant was near the old Broadway Central hotel and it was the first of the Bohemian colonies in Gotham.

The chief attractions aside from the brilliance of the guests were pancakes and beer and it was at Pfaff's that Georges Clemenceau visited often when he came to America long before he ever dreamed of world power. Among the other patrons were William Winter, foremost theatrical critic; E. C. Stedman, the poet, and James O'Brien, a gifted young Irish writer. Too, there was Artemus Ward who found congenial company at Pfaff's.

Just as Pfaff came to America and founded a strictly Bohemian resort, so it is reported Pilcer is doing in Paris. Pilcer is a product of Broadway and his manner and dress are typical of the street. He had the gayest shirts and the loudest shrieking scarfs on the thoroughfare. It is told that in his most startling checkered suit and haberdashed to vie with the rainbow, Pilcer stood one day looking at the Grand Canyon.

A moving picture actor on his way west was going along with a guide when they came upon Pilcer. "What do you think of the scenery?" asked the guide with a wide sweep of his hand. The movie actor, unable to move on account of his fascination for Pilcer's clothes, replied: "Snappiest scenery I ever saw off Broadway."

Since nearly every saloonkeeper on the east side has decided that it is no use to hang on any longer to such frail hopes, only a few remain open. The big problem of the welfare workers is to provide some place for the men who played a game of cards or chess and drank a glass of beer in the back room of a saloon. Many of them, it is said, were steady workers who never indulged and had no other place to spend idle moments. Some have drifted into the dark underground holes run by bootleggers and have taken to moonshine whisky. A noted social worker in an address the other night declared that now that prohibition was becoming an actual condition it was up to New York to provide places of recreation or poor men's clubs for those driven from saloons.

New York grammarians are all fussed up over the correctness of this sentence: "Alfred, than whom a greater king never reigned, deserves to be held up as a model to all future sovereigns." Grammar sharks say "whom" is wrong. It should be "who," and others state for sake of euphony it should be "whom." Others, too, say "whom" is correct. I think grammar depends upon surroundings. I know a man who broke up a pool game saying "Whom do I follow?" He was too gosh-awful educated for pool.

FEEDING EUROPE NO BIG PROBLEM

Herbert Hoover Tells Congress Committee. Getting Smaller All the Time—Credit of $150,000,000 Sufficient.

Washington, January 12.—Establishment through the United States Grain corporation of $150,000,000 in credits would feed Europe until the next harvest without imposing any burden on taxpayers, Herbert Hoover today told the house ways and means committee, which began consideration of Secretary Glass' request for authority to advance that much from grain corporation funds. Early payment of the loans made could be counted upon, Mr. Hoover said.

The financial problem of feeding Europe is "getting smaller all the time," Hoover informed the committee, explaining that the need this winter was centered in ten or twelve large cities in Austria, Poland and Armenia. Most of Europe, he said, was in shape to feed itself or get its breadstuffs through private financial channels.

Private Charities at Work.

Private charities in the United States are sending $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 worth of food abroad monthly and within a fortnight 3,000,000 American families with relatives in central and eastern Europe will be able to buy "food drafts" from banks in the United States. These drafts will be exchangeable abroad for a barrel of flour or other food to supplement that now being rationed by authorities and will serve as a substitute for cash remittances.

"Remittance of money is the height of folly," he declared, explaining that with food distribution under government control one might have plenty of cash but still be unable to obtain additional food. Hoover predicted that from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 a month would be spent in this country for "food drafts."

The children's fund, an organization that is feeding 2,500,000 children in Europe, is back of the "food draft" plan, Hoover said, adding that it also was aided by banks and other private charities, including the Red Cross, the committee for relief in the near east and the Jewish joint distribution. Foreign governments, he said, have agreed to the plan, which also has been approved by the treasury and the federal reserve board.

Would Build Up Security.

By aiding Poland with food and helping ten or twelve European cities escape starvation this winter, Hoover said the United States would "build up security for its $10,000,000,000 lent abroad," as well as perform a humanitarian service.

"From the signing of the armistice until last July 1, the provisioning of Europe cost two and one-half billion dollars," Mr. Hoover said. "That was a burden on our government and the taxpayers. In one form or another, the United States treasury advanced $2,250,000,000 to feed Europe. But this year Europe will be largely able to feed herself by the exchange of goods, and credits of $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 from the United States. In all, the situation is that of fronting the echo of the situation we had to front last year."

FATHER OF W. B. GREEN PASSES AT FAIRBURN

Fairburn, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—E. W. Green, 75, farmer and prominent citizen, father of William B. Green, former vice president of the Fairburn bank, died here today of a stroke of paralysis. His son, William B. Green, caught him in his arms as his fathered suffered the stroke, and was with him when he passed away.

Mr. Green had lived here practically all his life, had extensive property holdings and was widely known and popular. He was a steward of the Methodist church and a former director of the Fairburn Banking company. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Bettie Green; two daughters, Mrs. A. C. Touchton, of Avon Park, Fla., and Miss Sally Green, of Fairburn; and three sons, William B. Green and George Green, of Fairburn, and Dr. Albert Green, of Union City.

W. P. SPARKS PASSES SUDDENLY ON SUNDAY

Thomasville, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—William Pearsons Sparks suddenly died Sunday afternoon in the lobby of the Rennert hotel, Baltimore, of heart failure. He was a native of Tolbert county and a resident of Thomasville for forty-five years, where he was engaged in the bagging and tie business with splendid success. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. T. A. Collins, of Ellaville, and Mrs. Lester, of Montezuma, and three brothers, all of Brookwood, Ala. The body is to be taken to Ellaville for interment.

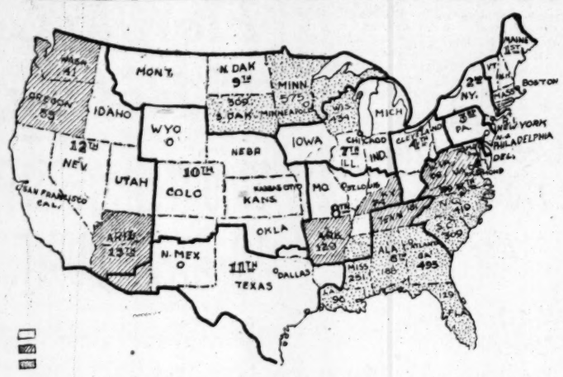

Higher U. S. Witness Fees.

Washington, January 12.—A bill increasing federal court witness fees from $1.50 to $3 a day was passed today by the senate and sent to the house. Senator Nelson, republican, Minnesota, said a man could not get three square meals and a bed for a dollar and a half.

Clearance of Bank Checks At Par Is Now Mandatory

That the clearance of bank checks at par under the federal reserve bank act is mandatory and that of the 30,260 banks in the United States only 3,945 are not on par clearance, one-third of them being in the Atlanta reserve district, was the declaration made by M. B. Wellborn, governor of the Federal Reserve bank here, yesterday, in reply to the claim of the Country Bankers' Association of Georgia that the ruling of the reserve board would cost them a million dollars a year.

Mr. Wellborn says that the federal reserve system has, since it began operations, been trying to impress upon non-member state banks the wisdom and necessity of a central agency in each district through which checks could be collected at par. All of the banks in the United States have acceded this with the exception of 3,945 and of these 1,168 are state banks in the Atlanta reserve district.

Why Charge Is Made.

As the banks in Atlanta, members of the federal reserve system, are not allowed to charge exchange on checks or drafts on other banks, many of their customers have doubtless been at a loss to know why they have to pay exchange when they present a check drawn on a country bank. The truth is that the charge is not made in Atlanta, but by the bank on which the check is drawn.

In other words, a check presented to them over the counter is paid without charge, but the same check sent them through the mail from another bank pays a toll. This is what Mr. Wellborn refers to in his statement when he says that customers of banks have a right that their checks shall be paid at par whether presented at the bank window or through the mail."

The records of the Atlanta clearing house show that between $175,000 and $200,000 were paid by Atlanta banks to country banks last year for cashing checks drawn on these banks.

Wellborn's Statement.

Mr. Wellborn's statement is as follows:

"The question of par-clearing of checks through the federal reserve banks," said Mr. Wellborn, "is one of the mandatory provisions of the federal reserve act, as enacted by the congress of the United States by an almost unanimous vote. Since the beginning of operations of the federal reserve system it has been the endeavor to impress upon the non-member state banks the wisdom and necessity of a central agency in each district through which checks could be collected at par, and at present 26,315 banks out of a total of 30,260 national and state banks in the United States have joined the collection system instituted by the federal reserve. These banks do approximately 85 per cent of the commercial business and do not charge for paying checks.

"In the district known as the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta district, all national banks and 400 state banks at present remit at par for checks sent them by the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta or its branches, leaving in the district 1,168 state banks that do not remit at par, out of a total of 3,945 non-member banks in the entire United States not on the par list.

"Under the law federal reserve banks are not permitted to pay exchange charges for the collection of bank notes and drafts payable upon presentation—and in compliance with the law federal reserve banks must receive on deposit, at par, checks and drafts, payable upon presentation, drawn on any bank in the United States, whether a member of the federal reserve system or not. So that state banks not members of the federal reserve system have no tenable grounds for refusing to pay checks on them by their customers, at par, when sent them by the federal reserve bank. All national banks and the state banks that have joined the federal reserve system remit at par for all checks drawn on them and any loss of profit for performing this service for their customers has not caused the banks to pass dividends. The public speaking through congress has decided that checks must be collected at par, the business interests demand it and the customers of banks have a right that their checks shall be paid at par whether presented at the bank window or through the mail. The bank's depositors are entitled to the service, for the reason that they keep their funds in the bank, which item is the main earning power of a bank.

Loss of Million.

"In a recent statement by the Country Bankers' Association of Georgia it was claimed that if the law of congress prevails and the state banks not members of the federal reserve system have to remit at par it will entail a loss of a million dollars to the country bankers of the state. If this is true, the general business and agricultural interests of the state will be the gainer and the earlier the law is complied with the better. For a bank to charge exchange for paying its own customers checks sent them through the mail is a burden and an unnecessary toll on commerce.

"The Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America, the National Grange of the United States, representing more than a million farmers, the national associations of hardware merchants, grocery merchants, retail dry goods merchants, credit men and various other organized bodies of them by their customers and payable upon presentation, the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta in sending them such items will:

1. Enclose in each letter a stamped envelope for return remittance.
2. Permit the bank to send us currency, at our expense, in payment of letter enclosing items to them.
3. Or permit banks to open with us a non-member clearing account and send to us for credit, at par, items drawn on any of the 25,000 and more banks in the United States shown on our par list.
4. Or will accept in payment therefor usual bank draft.

In answer to the question, "What does the Federal Reserve bank propose to do should a state bank dishonor a check of their customer by refusal to pay upon presentation through the mail by the Federal Reserve bank on account of not being permitted under the law to charge the Federal Reserve bank any "exchange charge," Governor Wellborn stated:

"While the law does not permit us to pay any "exchange charges," we are permitted to incur expense in the adoption of the most convenient method of making such collections. I feel, however, that in view of the public interest that has been stirred up over this question that non-member state banks will continue to join the par list and thereby obviate the necessity of any expense on our part in the collection of checks."

In connection with the statement issued, Governor Wellborn furnished a map showing the present par facilities of the system and the following data explanatory of same:

Total number of banks in the United States	30,260
Total number of banks in the United States on federal reserve par list (Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Kansas City and Dallas federal reserve districts being entirely par)	26,315

A Winter Romance

By Jean Baird

XI. Nan's Confession

My husband had just come home and we were chatting before dinner was announced.

"Frank, I think Herb is in love with Nan."

"Well, can you blame him—hope he wins her," was his response.

"So do I, and if attention counts for anything, Herb has certainly given Nan that. Why, even today, in this rain, they are out walking."

A sound of footsteps on the porch—voices in the hall, and then in came Nan and Herb. Fresh from their walk—full of youth and vigor, they made a charming pair.

"Better stay to dinner," invited Frank, "call up your people and tell them you are here with us."

Whatever excuses Herb had were weak, and he was delighted with the opportunity to stay, I know. And while he and Frank chatted, Nan and I ran upstairs to get ready for dinner.

"My old standby," said Nan, as she applied Magnolia Balm to her face and neck with a tiny sponge.

"Yes, and mine, too," said I. "It's an ideal liquid powder—never comes off—can't be detected, and so fragrant."

Truly Magnolia Balm is a "standby" for those who want to keep their complexions beautiful. Every woman should have it on her dressing table. Besides, it is splendid for the chapped skin. It only costs 75 cents at dealers or post paid from the Lyon Manufacturing Co., 100 So. Fifth St., Brooklyn, N. Y. Neither greasy nor injurious to the skin. There is a choice of three colors—white, pink and rose red.

"Herb's a splendid chap, isn't he?" I ventured asually to Nan as we got ready.

"I think he's wonderful," said Nan impulsively.

ATHLETIC TEAMS TO BE ORGANIZED BY CAMP SERVICE

The third organization for young people inaugurated under the supervision of the War Camp Community service was formed Monday night at a gathering of Atlanta young people at Community center, 190 Peachtree street.

The organization will be known as Red circle No. 3. Circles Nos. 1 and 2 had been formed at previous meetings. The meeting, which began at 7 o'clock, opened with W. N. Wilson, athletic director of the War Camp Community service, acting as temporary chairman.

After Mr. Wilson had outlined to the body the aim and purpose of the proposed organization, nominations for permanent officers were declared in order, and the following officers were duly nominated and elected:

After the election and installation of the officers, four athletic teams, to compete in games with teams of circle 1 and 2, were organized, and the following team captains were selected: Miss Mary Goode, girls' basketball team; Miss Willie Mae Martin, girls' volleyball team, George R. Rusk, men's basketball team, and Hill Shropshire, men's volleyball team.

A meeting of the athletic team captains of all three circles will be held at 190 Peachtree street tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of arranging a schedule of games to be played during the spring and summer months.

After the discussion of athletic events had been disposed of, Miss Holbrook, the president, talked of the work that should be carried on by the club. She stated that it was her intentions to have the body take up the study of some interesting subject, and that in addition to athletics, other recreational features would be fostered by the organization, including dramatics and musical events. Acting upon her suggestion concerning the musical features of the body, the gathering upon nomination elected George Rusk musical director.

Before adjournment it was decided to hold meetings twice a month at 8:30 o'clock on Friday nights. The next meeting of the organization will be on Friday, January 22.

Flames Damage Church

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH AFTER FIRE

Until damage aggregating $50,000 by fire to the All Saints' Episcopal church can be repaired, the congregation will hold their usual services in Egleston Memorial hall, which is located next door to the church building. The fire occurred Sunday morning, ruining the chancel, walls and roof. Three beautiful memorial windows, valued at $11,000, and an organ valued at $10,000, were badly damaged. The loss is fully covered by insurance for $75,000.

Deaths and Illness Force Postponement Of Cases on Monday

Two deaths on Sunday and a case of serious illness interrupted the business in the criminal division of the municipal court Monday morning.

When the case of Morris Feldman, proprietor of the Southern Hotel barber shop, charged with the murder of C. D. Young, on the morning of August 7, 1919, was called in the municipal court Monday morning, Attorney Cam Dorsey, counsel for the defendant, asked that the case be continued for several days, as the principal witness for the defendant had died Sunday.

Judge T. O. Hathcock continued the case until Wednesday morning, January 28, at 11 o'clock. Feldman was arrested Friday morning on a warrant charging murder, which was sworn out by James E. Young, of Lawrenceville, father of the dead man. He was released Friday night when he made bond in the amount of $10,000.

There were five cases on the docket in the criminal division of the superior court.

When the second case was called, it was announced that the prosecutor had died Sunday and there was nobody present to prosecute the case.

At the calling of the third case on the docket, it was announced that the prosecutor was taken very ill Sunday and was not expected to live.

Georgia Tech Plans To Take Up Boxing As Major Activity

By Keller Melton.

The Georgia School of Technology is going to take up boxing as a major college sport and within the near future put on an intercollegiate boxing team. That announcement was made by Dr. J. B. Crenshaw, faculty athletic supervisor of Tech, who Monday morning outlined a plan of athletic campaign to The Constitution, which is going to place that institution at the top in southern intercollegiate activities and up with the major colleges of the east and north, where similar steps have been taken.

While no contracts have been signed, it is almost an assured fact, according to Dr. Crenshaw, that J. Hume McDonald, popular Atlanta promoter, will be signed under contract by Tech authorities to coach the students in the manly art of self defense and turn out an intercollegiate team.

This action is taken by Dr. Crenshaw, following similar steps which have been taken by the leading colleges of America. He has recently returned to Atlanta from a meeting of the leading colleges up north, where they had all agreed to foster the boxing game, the University of Pennsylvania being the first school to adopt the plan.

May Be Delayed.

Because of there being no suitable place to conduct such a school as is planned for Tech, Dr. Crenshaw states that it may be necessary to wait until spring, at which time the training can take place out of doors, but at any rate, the plan is firmly adopted and the work will be carried on just as soon as suitable arrangements have been made.

Regardless of whether the scheme can get in full blast or not before next year, it is highly probable that Promoter McDonald will be secured within a few weeks to start training members of the various classes who wish to take up the game. Although hampered for suitable facilities, it will be possible for Coach McDonald to ascertain the best boxers in the various classes and thereby have a nucleus to work with when the time comes to put out the Tech intercollegiate team.

Following action which is gradually being taken all over the country, it is thought in practically all athletic circles that the S. I. A. A. will soon incorporate boxing as one of its principal activities and Tech is going to be one of the first schools ready when that time comes.

It may even be found, after Tech has blazed the way, according to Dr. Crenshaw, that the other colleges and universities of the south are ready and anxious to take up the work and thereby furnish plenty of contests with any intercollegiate team which the Gold and White can produce.

The importance of boxing as a preparedness sport for every boy and young man has come to be realized in preparatory schools as well as colleges and for the last several months that importance has been growing with the revival of boxing as a popular sport after a slump naturally due to the world war.

Regular Instruction Tour.

The course of procedure which Dr. Crenshaw is thinking of taking is to have a regular tour of instruction planned for any Tech students who wish to take it. It will probably last six or eight weeks and will be standard with the other courses of other institutions.

At the end of the course it is proposed to stage a big boxing carnival at which every class and weight of fighter will be given an opportunity of showing in contest for prizes to be awarded by the Athletic association. The champions of Tech will then represent the Jackets against other teams. It is also probable that letters will be awarded for the winners in their various classes.

"This is going to be one of the biggest things Tech has ever started," said Dr. Crenshaw Monday, "as I fully expect the other big schools of the south to fall in line and announce similar plans as soon as they see what we are going to try and put out. It will mean a great deal to athletics, as boxing is a form of exercise which develops the individual man in more ways than one.

"All expenses of the game will be met by the athletic association, and we are going to try and make it just as enjoyable and profitable a game as any now at the institution, football included."

McDonald Is Ready.

Promoter McDonald, when communicated with by The Constitution last night, stated that he thought Tech is blazing the way in one of the greatest things which has been started in the south and the S. I. A. A. in some time.

"There is no doubt that the boxing game will take to a popular degree with the students and supporters of the college," said McDonald, "butit wouldn't very hard to to pack Grant field with 15,000 or 20,000 fans if, say for instance, Auburn's boxing team came here to battle a boxing team representing Tech.

"There are wonderful possibilities in the plan, and the eastern schools are fast realizing it, which is shown by the way they have taken it up. I am glad Tech is the first school of the south to take it up and, although I have not made any agreement with Dr. Crenshaw, I have given him to understand that I will help him to the best of my ability in anything he wishes to undertake."

MANAGERS REFUSE TO GET WORRIED

San Diego, Cal., January 12.—Little promotion of the proposed Dempsey-Carpentier fight has been carried on in California, said James W. Coffroth, who offered a purse of $400,000 for the bout, in commenting today upon opposition of Governor Stephens, of California, to staging the meeting at Tiajuana, Lower California. Coffroth said he was "greatly concerned" over the announcement last night of gubernatorial opposition.

"I have been up against the same thing practically every time I have promoted a prize ring match in the last fifteen or twenty years," he said. "As for the fight being promoted in California, that is wrong. The work of promotion has gone on in almost all other parts of the world, but little of it has been done in California."

Governor Stephens said he would feel obliged, if necessary, to request the federal government through control of the international border to prevent the contest being held.

"I can't see a chance in the world of holding the fight at Tiajuana," said Kearns. "Until I went to San Diego last week I thought there was a possibility of holding the bout there, but after going over the ground personally I came to the conclusion that Lower California is not the proper site."

"In the first place, Tiajuana is beyond the extreme southwestern boundary of the United States and transportation facilities are sadly lacking. Then there is not a large enough local population to draw from.

"As far as I can see now, there doesn't appear to be much chance of holding the fight in the United States at all. Judging from the present outlook London or Paris will land it. In the meantime, neither Dempsey nor myself is worrying."

Martin Signs Umpires.

Memphis, Tenn., January 12.—Announcement was made at Southern association headquarters here today that four of last season's umpires, Dan Pfenninger, Hadley Williams, William Brennan and Harry Johnson, had signed contracts for the 1920 season. Louis Roth, a former Western league umpire, also has agreed to terms offered by the Southern association.

Trials Well Under Way.

Montgomery, Ala., January 12.—Ten brace of dogs were run in the all-age stake of National Field Trials club at Letchatchie today, with no holdovers for a special series. The stake will be completed with the running of four brace and a bye Tuesday and the winners announced. The derby stake will follow on Wednesday.

CALIFORNIA INVITED EAST.

Cambridge, Mass., January 12. The University of California baseball team has been invited to play Harvard here this spring. it was announced today. Acceptance of the invitation is expected as the Californians are scheduled to make an eastern trip to meet several middle west college teams.

Prep Teams Ready For Grand Opening Thursday Afternoon

City's Quints Have Been Grinding Hard for Opening Contests of Season, Which Will Be Fast One.

By Roy E. White.

"Practice, practice and more practice" is the slogan of the coaches of the prep teams in the city, for there are only two more afternoons left for practice before the initial games of the 1920 season are played, beginning at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The places and lineups of the opening games will be announced later, also the officials who will handle the games.

The games Thursday loom up as a good start for the season. The B. H. S.-G. M. A. game is one that will attract much attention as the cadets are determined to show what they possess in the way of basketball material. Coach Tolbert has been working hard since school began the 1920 term, in order that the cadets will have a formidable five to take the floor against Boys' High. They have been practicing on their outdoor court and when it was impossible to work on that one they journeyed up to the Y. M. C. A. court for several afternoons.

Several very promising young athletes have been practicing with the squad last week and they will be given a chance Thursday.

Boy's High also has been working hard on the Auditorium court since the opening of school. Captain McGarrity and "Baby" Roane still continue to do the same good work on the court that made them noted in prep circles last year. Jerry Albright and John Staton are also showing up good.

The hopes of the Tech High five were strengthened Monday afternoon when Fred Saunders appeared on the court. Saunders was not in uniform, but only working a little just after school was dismissed. He said, however, that he intended to go out for practice Tuesday afternoon and take his turn at shooting the baskets.

Saunders was a scrub of the 1915 team, but was given a letter. He will be remembered as a guard on the championship football eleven of Tech High for the past season, also as the one elected to the place of manager for the 1920 football team.

He is fast, and with the added weight that he acquired during football season, should be one of the best basketball men on the Tech High five.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR CAGE TOURNEY

By Les Rawlings.

With the basketball season getting in full swing and the Atlantic Athletic club making a record which other teams in the country will have a hard time keeping up with, fans in the city are beginning to look forward to the amateur basketball championship tournament to be held at the Auditorium in Atlanta during March.

Announcement was received by Chairman Al Doonan, of the Athletic club's committee in charge of staging the big affair, that the Los Angeles Athletic club, the team which holds the national championship, has accepted the invitation of this city and will be glad to give the other contestants a chance at its title.

Daily, Chairman Doonan is receiving notification from various clubs of the country which intend journeying to the New York of the south in March. Among the great teams, which hold national reputations on the basketball court, the Olympics, of Madison, Wis., and the Edisons, of New London, Wis., have both notified Mr. Doonan, through their managers, that they will be on hand when the big fight is waged.

From present indications the Atlantic team is going to be in shape to give any and all comers a run for the American laurels, as the record made by Joe Bean's aggregation up to date is one which few other teams of this section, at any rate, can boast.

It begins to look as if the A. A. C. crowd is going to go through its entire season undefeated, unless, of course, one of the many unexpected things which can happen in sports, bobs up to throw the players off their stride.

As the games have gone on the fans have seen that Morrison at center is about the best bet seen on a local court in many a day. In Graves, McCall, Pingan and Oliver, Joe Bean has four guards who have demonstrated their ability to stay with most any opponent who has been picked out for them. Captain Bass, Westmoreland and Sullivan are forwards who combine speed, accuracy and a knowledge of the game to such an extent that no guards that have played against them so far this season have been able to hold them down.

Combined with the individual ability of the A. A. C. players, Joe Bean has given them a team work which has made the machine a formidable one playing as a unit, with no one man a star, to the detriment of all around combination playing. This much was shown in the last two games in Atlanta, when the passing of the club was commented upon by critics present as being the best ever seen on a local court.

Taking it all the way around, prospects for the tournament are exceedingly bright even at this stage of the game, which should argue mighty well for interest in the event in March.

Fred Fulton Defeats Moran of Pittsburg

Minnesota Heavy Wore Down the Smoky City Fighter in Vicious Toe-to-Toe Fight in Newark Armory.

Newark, January 12.—Fred Fulton, of Rochester, Minn., outfought Frank Moran, of Pittsburg, in an eight-round bout at the First Regiment armory here tonight in a gruelling battle from start to finish.

Fulton weighed 214 pounds and Moran 194. Moran wore himself out in the first round in an effort to end the bout quickly. Fulton used a left jab with effect during the remaining rounds, and although his opponent was groggy in the seventh appeared unable to knock him out.

As the bell rang starting the contest, Moran rushed and met Fulton in his corner and in a swift exchange placed a hard right swing to the heavier man's head which staggered him to the ropes. Fulton recovered quickly and sent several hard blows to the body. Moran kept trying to land a hard swing. The round was even.

Moran showed the effect of his hard efforts and Fulton had little difficulty in outfighting him in the remainder of the rounds. After receiving two swings to the head in the second, Fulton appeared unsteady, but came back and did good work at close quarters.

In the fourth round the fighters failed to hear the bell while they were engaged in a mixup in which they stood toe to toe. Moran received considerable punishment about the face, but kept boring in.

PENN GRID STARS CAUSE BIG STIR

Six Football Players Leave at Once and College Goes Wild Over Mystery of Events Until Explanation Follows.

Philadelphia, January 12.—Some excitement was caused in University of Pennsylvanai athletic circles today when a report was widely circulated that six members of last year's football team had left college and that three were about to leave. Investigation showed that of the nine mentoned, seven were not eligible to play next fall, having played their allotted number of seasons under the university's eligibility rules. These were "Hobey" X. Light, fullback; Ben Derr, halfback; "Heinie" Miller, end; Walter Peace, substitute quarterback; former Captain Bert Bell, quarterback; Lou Little, tackle, and Lud Wray, center.

Some of the seven have already quit college and the remainder are expected to leave soon to enter business, it was said. Wray Miller, end, and "Bots" Brunner, halfback, were eligible to play this year, but have left the university. Miller, it is said, quit after the final game of the season.

Frenchman Breaks Record.

Paris, January 12.—A French distance runner named Guillemot yesterday ran eight miles in the fast time of thirty-nine minutes twenty and four-fifth seconds, which is a record for France. The course was laid out from Versailles common to Precatalan in the Bois de Boulogne, and Guillemot ran the distance in better time than the railroa dt rains average between Paris and Versailles.

The eight-mile world's running record is held by Alfred Shrubb, who made it in England in November, 1904. Shrubb's time was forty minutes sixteen seconds. This time was made in a ten-mile run by Shrubb, who lowered all records from six miles to ten miles, finishing the run in fifty minutes forty and three-fifths seconds.

Yale Schedule Announced.

New Haven, Conn., January 12.—Yale's football schedule for this year, announced tonight, shows the Blue will meet three teams that were not played last season. They are Carnegie Tech, West Virginia and Colgate, which replace Springfield, Tufts and Maryland State. All games will be played in the Yale bowl except the Princeton contest. The schedule:

October 2, Carnegie Tech; October 9, North Carolina; October 16, Boston College; October 23, West Virginia; October 30, Colgate; November 6, Brown; November 13, Princeton at Princeton; November 20, Harvard.

CHANEY DELAYED, ARRIVES TUESDAY

Baltimore Boy Will Start Training at Once—Lawler Is Already Hard at Work at the Progressive Club.

By Gene Hinton.

A fight card that promises to be one of the most exciting and thrilling that has ever been presented before an Atlanta audience will be pulled off next Thursday night at the Auditorium and is being promoted by J. Hume McDonald. The main attraction will be a fight between Jack Lawler, of Omaha, and Young Chaney, of Baltimore.

These two feathers are top-notchers in their class and there seems to be but little doubt that the featherweight crown will one day rest upon the brow of one or the other. They are both about the same type of fighter. Fans who saw Leonard administer a licking to Jake Abel will ever remember the cleverness and speed shown by the lightweight champion. The two boys who are to fight aat the Auditorium Thursday are very much the same type of fighter as Leonard. They might be termed "clever sluggers." Both are very shifty and quick, with a vast knowledge of all ends of the ring game, and both possess a terrific punch in either mitt.

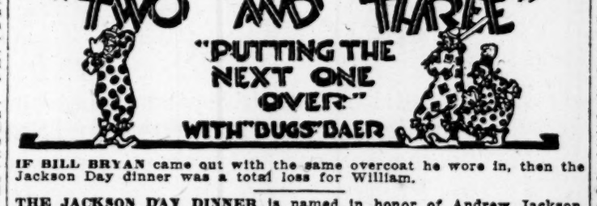

The pair met in New Orleans some time ago in a twenty-round bout and it was practically a tossup as to which fighter would get the verdict. The decision was finally given to the Baltimore boy, but it was declared the merest shade. Lawler is confident that he has improved enough since that time to give Chaney a boxing lesson and incidentally a beating, and he is going into the ring Thursday night to do that express thing.

Jack Lawler fought Dick Loadman here last summer and was given the verdict of a draw. He made an excellent showing in the bout, but it has been said that he has improved so much since that time that he is hardly to be recognized as the same boy. He has learned more of the boxing game and the experience gained in his many hard ring tussles has helped him materially. He is still only a kid, being but 19 years of age, and is taking great strides to the top every day.

On April 12 Lawler fought Johnny Kilbane at Charlestown, W. Va., in ano-decision bout of eight rounds. The newspapers were divided on the fight, but the fact that Kilbane was the champion swayed the verdict his way, and he received it. In a long bout Lawler expressed himself as being confident of stopping the title holder, and, no doubt, he would have a much better chance in such a mill, as Kilbane is no longer a spring chicken.

The fact that the winner of this bout will be given a bout with Champion Kilbane in the near future is an assurance that both scrappers will open up with every punch in their repertoire. The bout will go ten rounds to a decision.

Supporting the headliner will be three high-class preliminaries, completing a card of twenty-eight rounds.

IF BILL BRYAN came out with the same overcoat he wore in, then the Jackson Day dinner was a total loss for William.

THE JACKSON DAY DINNER is named in honor of Andrew Jackson, the seventh president of these glorious Divided States and the land of the brave and the home of the freak. Andy was known as "Old Hickory."

BILL ACTED and spoke as if he thought that Andy's title was "Old Hickory Nut."

JACKSON WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT because he stymied the English at New Orleans. He licked the enemy after the treaty of peace was signed. In order to take no chance on Pershing doing this, congress isn't going to sign this treaty until 1987. They want to make sure that the war is over before attaching any headlong signatures to any precipitate document. Think twice before signing, is a good motto. This will take some time, as there is no indication that congress has thought once.

ALL THE DEMOCRATIC president possibilities were there, heavily outnumbered by the democratic impossibilities. Sec. Daniels made a speech in a low voice, taking no chance on being overheard by Admiral Sims. The Sec. looked much refreshed after his arduous labor of distributing swanboat citations and drydock medals to the navy.

REFERENDUM WAS THE TOPIC of the evening. It looks as if referendum is getting referendumber and dumber. Woody wasn't present. After looking over the guest list, he decided that he could have more fun staying home and being sick.

AS A REPRESENTATIVE of the soda population, Bryan touched lightly on the grape juice debauches now prevalent in suburban sewing circles. At the conclusion there wasn't a dry eye or a wet throat in the works. Toasts were drunk to the Democratic party in Potomac River water. Right now it looks as if the next toasts will be drawn from the Salt River.

ALL THE GUESTS were Democrats. Owing to the effect of prohibition on the restaurant business, the dinner committee were forced to draw on the Republican party for their waiters.

THE MENU.

Evaporated Soup — Clam Shells — Dried Beef
Dried Apples — Dry Toast
Sahara Sandwiches — Hardboiled Eggs — Cooked Prospects
Speeches au Gratin

BRYAN IS DECIDELY agin Woody for our next President. He cites George Washington who refused a third term. Woody might get mean and cite George Washington who refused a third nomination.

THIS MIGHT MEAN SOMETHING and it might not mean anything to Bill. But, anyway, he is getting ready to grab that fourth nomination in order to complete the set.

THAT'S ALL for the Jackson Day dinner, children. The morning papers published all the important details—except how the checkroom boys made out.

MILWAUKEE CLUB SOLD.

Milwaukee, Wis., January 12 The Milwaukee American Association Baseball club has been sold by Clarence Rowland and Hugh Brennan to a local syndicate at a figure said to approximate $100,000. William H. Park, formerly a Milwaukee newspaper publisher, is said to be among those acquiring the property.

Georgia Quintet Takes Road Today For Two Contests

Woford and Furman Teams Will Be Played by Red and Black on Two-Day Tour.

By Comer Howell.

Athens, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—The University of Georgia basketball squadron leaves Tuesday morning for a two-day trip to South Carolina, where the quintets of Wofford and Furman colleges will be taken on. Wofford will be met Tuesday night in Spartanburg while Furman will be played Wednesday night in Greenville.

A squad of seven men will be accompanied by Coach Stegeman and will retur nto Athens Thursday, when practice will start again for the game here with Mercer next Monday. The men who will take the trip are Captain Kennon Mott, left guard; Cheeves, right guard; Anderson, center; Pound, left forward; Satterfield, right forward; Campbell, sub forward, and Rawson, sub guard

All of these men, with the exception of Rawson, played in the Auburn game last Friday, and showed up splendidly. The first five named are the ones who compose the first string line-up and are all letter men from last year's team. The only change in this year's aggregation from that of last year is Satterfield's taking the place of Cox at forward. Satterfield was a sub last season who got in most of the games and made a letter. Cox did not return to college this fall.

The debut made Friday night against the fast Auburn quintet which trimmed Tech was taken as a favorable omen for a championship team for the Red and Black. The Auburnites were taken into camp to the tune of a 31 to 16 count. A great amount of team work was displayed by the Georgians for their opening game and the Alabamians were held at bay during the entire evening by the superb guarding of the Athenians.

In Coach Stegeman Georgia has one of the best basketball coaches of the country and one who is being counted on to take the teams of the south into camp. He has been putting the squad through strenuous practices every afternoon, developing a splendid system of team work and clever passing and shooting.

The team has showed much improvement in practice since the Auburn game, most of the stiffness having worn off. There is now not a single weak spot in the entire machine, which is expected to work with clocklike precision against the two teams of the South Carolina colleges and when the bunch return to Athens Thursday they are expected to have in tow two more scalps.

TWO HARD BATTLES FACED BY JACKETS

Tech Stars Will Play Mercer and Macon Y. M. C. A. Friday and Saturday Nights—Plainsmen Coming Back.

With two such important games as Mercer Friday and Macon Y. M. C. A. Saturday coming so close on the heels of the affair with Auburn, Coach Alexander would allow his basket tossers no rest and had the Tech basketball squad at practice for about and hour and a half Monday at noon.

Old Bill Fincher, of football fame, turned up for his first practice Monday and when allowed to get into a strimmage showed that he was in wonderful shape and what is more, seems to have retained the same ability to ring the basket as he did in days of old as a Tech High star.

Practice consisted of quite a bit of goal shooting for it was in this feature of the game with Auburn that the Jackets did not measure up to standard, quite a number of easy shots being missed. Coach Alex is going to work hard during the week to eradicate this fault.

Manager Sanford announced that he had been able to secure a return game with Auburn. This time Tech will invade the home of the Tiger in Auburn, Ala., and there on March 13, try to revenge their close defeat of Saturday night. Manager Sanford has also received a telegram from the management of the Vanderbilt basketball team requesting two games with Tech. As both the dates suggested by Vandy are full on the Tech schedule, it is impossible to know yet whether these two rivals will be able to get together on the basketball court.

In order to keep the squad in shape, a 20-minute practice game took up the last part of the practice. The varsity quintet lined up at the start with Brewster and McMath, forward; Frazier, center, and Staton and Mayer, guards. Many substitutions were made during the process of the game so it is hardly fair to call the bunch that started the varsity quintet.

TROTTING HORSE MEN BREAK FROM NATIONAL

Syracuse, N. Y., January 12.—A new governing body to formufate rules for trotting was organized here this afternoon when a committee of six representing the American Associationof Trotting Horse breeders voted to break from the American Trotting association and the National Trotting association, which have controlled the light harness esport in this country.

David N. Look, of New York, was suggested for president, and an invitation to horsemen to join the new association was issued tonight. An open meeting, at which organization will be undertaken, will be held tomorrow.

The stewards will meet in a body tomorrow for the first time this year. Matters before them for consideratino, other than dates for the ensuing year and drafting of rules, are the new organization, which asks the support of big line tracks, and consideration of the time allowance of "unshackling" rules which were directly responsible for the split in the turf factions.

EMORY UNIVERSITY TO HAVE QUINTET

Methodists Intend Putting Fast Cage Crew on Floor for 1920 Season. Interclass Games Start Soon.

By W. Ernest Rogers.

Emory University, Ga., January 12, (Special.)—As an aftermath of the Yuletide season comes the announcement that Emory is to have a red-hot basketball season this year.

While there is still some uncertainty concerning the location, it is a settled fact that the niftiest thing i nthe way of interclass rivalry on the basketball floor will be staged at Emory during the winter months. Emory is lucky in that so many stars of high school fame have been enrolled and are rearing to get a chance to display their wares. Three men of the famous Covington High quintet are at Emory this year. They are Dick Lester, Bill Aiken and White, and from their past record should make a combination hard to beat. Buck Tarver, of Albany, is another strong contender for a place on the team and is said to be in a class with the three men just named.

From last year there are several stellar performers remaining. Tom Harmon, of the senior class, is a veritable demon at the cage sport and with any kind of help should get a team worthy to represent the fourth year contingent.

O'Sheal, Millican and Watkins are the hope of the sophomores and they are ready and willing to do their share to uphold the honor of their class.

The outlook is unusually bright and just as soon as a suitable court is located the active season will open with the well-known "tooth and nail" spirit prevalent.

123 GOLFERS QUALIFY FOR PINEHURST MEET

Pinehurst, N. C., January 12.—(Special.)—The qualifying rounds of the men's and women's tournaments were played by the Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests at Pinehurst today. One hundred and twenty-three played 18 holes on the No. 2 or championship course, and qualified in four divisions or classes of thirty-two players each.

Twenty-four women members played over the first nine holes of the difficult No. 3 course and qualified in four eights. T. Russell Brown, of Scarsdale, Tex., led the big field home by a margin of 5 strokes and won the qualifying medal with a round of 39-38—77. Brown's 38 for the last nine holes included a 7 on the par 16th hole, and also incidentally a brace of birdies. His card follows:

Out ..4 5 5 5 5 3 5 4 3—39
In ....5 4 4 4 3 4 3 7 3 5—38

Lou Hamilton, of Garden City, pulled down the second gross prize with 82, which would have been better if he had not had some rough luck coming home after going out neck and neck with Brown in 39. William Campbell, of Detroit, who led the field until late in the afternoon, tied for third honors at 85 with E. T. Mason, of Birmingham. R. M. Purves, of Woodland, who had a 78 in Saturday's preliminary event, took an 86 today and tied at that figure with F. V. Burton, Jr., of the Rockaway hunt.

Mrs. J. F. Durea, of Springfield, Mass., and the Braeburn club triumphed in the women's round. Mrs. Durea went over the first nine holes of the troublesome No. 3 course in a fine 46 and led the field by a margin of six strokes. Mrs. W. S. Byrd, of Sleepy Hollow, finished second in 52. Mrs. Charles W. S. Hoyt, of Cherry Valley, won the prize for the best net score with a round of 58-10-48. Mrs. Roy Durstine, of White Plains, who qualified for the third eight with three players behind her, had never before played a round of golf.

Overflow Crowd Packed Macon Y. M. C. A. for the Opening S. I. A. A. Game for Two Colleges This Season.

Macon, Ga., January 12.—Special.) The S. S. I. A. A. basketball season was opened here tonight when the Mercer university "Fighting Tigers" won a hard-fought game from the University of Florida "Gators" by the score of 30 to 20. The game was a hot one from start to finish, and rarely have Macon fans seen such roughing as was used in last night's battle.

The game was played in the Macon Y. M. C. A. gym because of the bad condition of the Mercer gym that is being repaired. An overflow crowd turned out for the contest and were well rewarded for their pains. A feature of the game was the presence of the Lanier High School band that kept the players and spectators screaming and yelling throughout the entire battle. Besides the Lanier band, seventy or more Wesleyan girls and a howling mob of over three hundred Mercer students saw the game.

The score at the end of the first half of the battle was Mercer 17, Florida 7. Mercer rang up a total of 10 points in the first half before Florida had scored more than one lone field goal. The second half was a better game than that played in the first half, the Florida boys coming back in the half and playing their best ball.

For the Mercer team the work of one "Slap" Rentz was by far the best besides the fact that Rentz plays good ball, he plays it with more science and aggression than any man that has ever shown in these parts. The best thing that can be said about him, however, is that he plays the clean game only. Second only to Rentz was the work of Captain "Buddy" Newton at a standing guard position. These two men went like a house afire throughout the game for Mercer. For Florida, the work of W. Ward and Matterson, the Latter subbing for a Florida player in the first half was the best.

The Florida team plays here again tomorrow night. At that time they are to take on the Macon Y. M. C. A. in the local Y's gym for a battle. They will have the advantage tomorrow of having played one game on the local court, and it is expected a great game will result. The score and lineup of the team follows:

Rentz (10)	L. F.	W. Ward (4)
O'Quinn (12)	C.	Husck (0)
Harper (0)	R. G.	W. Coxe (2)
Newton (capt.) (0)	L. G.	Byrd (0)

Referee, Ansley, Macon Y. M. C. A. Umpire, Whitehead, Macon Y. M. C. A. Timer, Brunce, Lanier. Fuss. Scores: End first half, Mercer 17, Florida 7. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

See where the American Legion post of a city out west takes an awful crack at our friend Jack Dempsey. The boys came to the conclusion that Jack hadn't treated his Uncle Samuel exactly right in the late mix-up with the Vons and Wilhelms and proceed to brand him "slacker" and get up a pot of twenty-five berries to wager on Georges, the Pollu, in the coming championship battle.

Sickness Cure or Sickness Prevention

When Pasteur proved the relation of germs to infectious disease, he marked a big advance in that development of medical science which reigns today—the Idea of Sickness Prevention.

As a result, many plagues and epidemics that were the bane of former ages no longer terrify the world, and science has now developed an effective agent against the condition which is the first cause of over 90% of all human disease—constipation.

That effective agent is Nujol.

Nujol by relieving constipation prevents the absorbtion of poisons which otherwise would be taken into the blood and so under-mine the whole system.

Nujol helps nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

Mr. Weltner expressed the opinion that the work of the women police in Atlanta is especially praiseworthy for securing work and homes for the young girls coming out of the city prison, after the service of their term.

ATTACK BARRED ON PROHIBITION

U. S. Supreme Court Refuses to Allow Jersey Liquor Dealers to Bring Proceedings to Test the Validity of Amendment.

Washington, January 12.—Steps to bring test proceedings for determination of the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution, received a setback today when the supreme court denied, for lack of jurisdiction, motions filed on behalf of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association of New Jersey, seeking permission to institute an original suit for that purpose.

The denial, however, does not terminate the efforts to expedite determination of the question for motions filed by the state of Rhode Island asking similar permission were argued today and remain to be acted upon. As the federal amendment becomes effective Friday, action on the Rhode Island motion within the next few days is anticipated.

The order denying permission to bring the New Jersey suit was made orally by Chief Justice White who held the motion to file the case "rested upon a plain disregard of two principles of jurisdiction that has been set from the beginning." One, he said, was that a citizen of a state could not bring a suit against the state without its consent while the other was that the federal constitution does not create jurisdiction but only apportions it and accordingly under the constitution, the supreme court had no jurisdiction in such a case as that from New Jersey.

In attacking the constitutionality of the amendment, Herbert A. Rice, of Rhode Island, questioned the validity of its ratification as well as of the passage of the resolution by congress and asserted amendment was interference with state police powers and was "usurpatory, unconstitutional and void."

In a brief filed with the court the Rhode Island attorney general further argued that enforcement of national prohibition would affect injuriously the rights of Rhode Island and that because the defendants named in the case are outside the boundaries of that state, the supreme court was the proper tribunal in which to bring the suit.

These contentions were denied by the government, which asserted that the questions involved were political and that the court was without jurisdiction to hear the case.

Mrs. Amick Tells Story of Troubles With Her Husband

Denies Making Statement in Court That She Shot Him—Still Loves Him for Baby's Sake, She Says.

For the first time since her arrest on Wednesday, December 31, 1919, in connection with the mysterious shooting of her husband, Mrs. W. W. Amick talked freely to a reporter for The Constitution yesterday.

Mrs. Amick emphatically denied having stated in the federal grand jury room Saturday afternoon, where her husband, W. W. Amick, was being given a preliminary hearing before Judge Carter on charges of forgery, that she had shot her husband, and "would do it again." The statement in question had been attributed to her in an account of the hearing which appeared Sunday in an Atlanta newspaper. According to the newspaper report, she had said, after the attorney for Amick had declared that she had shot Amick: "Yes, I shot him. I'd shoot him again."

Woman Denies Statement.

"I absolutely did not make that remark," said Mrs. Amick, commenting on the statement accredited to her. She further declared that she had not at any time made any remark to that effect.

Amick was arraigned before Commissioner Carter Saturday afternoon for perliminary hearing on a federal warrant sworn out by Mrs. Amick, in which she charges him with having forged her name to certain postoffice money orders in December, 1918. The money orders consisted of monthly allotments made by C. B. Dodson, a former husband of Mrs. Amick, who was at that time in France, to Mrs. Amick for the support of his five-year-old child. The hearing was postponed after two hours of discussion by attorneys for both sides, until January 23.

During the course of the hearing letters were introduced by attorneys for Amck purporting to show Mrs. Amick to be a woman of doubtful character. Speaking on this phase of the case Mrs. Amick said Monday:

"There is nothing low down that Amick has left undone. These efforts to hurt my name are only characteristic of his conduct towards me all the time. Attorneys forAmick sought to show that I have recently traveled from one large city to another. I have. But I was doing only what any other mother would have done. I was going from city to city in search of Amick, who had kidnaped my baby, and had him in his possession. As God is my judge, I have done nothing to bring stain on my name."

Tells Pathetic Story.

Mrs. Amick told a pathetic story of the alleged cruel treatment on the part of Amick. She told in detail an incident which she ascribed as being the indirect cause of the recent developments in their domestic troubles.

According to Mrs. Amick, on the night of October 1, while she and Amick, with their nine-months-old boy, were on a train en route to Portsmouth, Va., Amick left the berth, on the pretense of going to the smoker Upon awakening along about 1 o'clock the following morning, she found that Amick had left the train, taking with him a large quantity of wearing apparel, and more than $40 in cash, leaving Mrs. Amick with only 4 cents. Mrs. Amick declares she had to enlist in Portsmouth, sh ehad to enlist help in providing clothing for herself and baby.

Mrs. Amick took out warrants in Greenville, which was their home at that time, charging Amick with desertion and cruel treatment. Later, Mrs. Amick says, Amick kidnapped the baby and for several weeks she employed detectives to aid her in the search for him.

No word was received from Amick until November 8, when she received a communication from him saying that he and the baby were in Atlanta. She came here, and upon the entreaties of Amick, who she says earnestly promised to settle down with her and try to lead a happy life, she had the warrants in Greenville withdrawn, thus releasing him from a $500 bond which he was under, to insure his appearance for trial in Greenville on January 3, 1920.

Mrs. Amick says that as soon as the warrants were withdrawn Amick became as cruel as ever. Almost in the same breath that contained attacks on Amick, Mrs. Amick declared that she still loved him, but that the charge of forging the money orders had been brought by her because he had broken his promises to treat her right.

"At the time Amick asked me to withdraw the warrants, I resolved to do so, and was glad for the sake of the baby to give him another chance, for I loved him. I still love him, for the baby's sake," she said.

VISITOR LOSES $342 IN FLIM-FLAM GAME

It was just the simple game of the three matching, odd man out, and Mr. Freeman kept persisting and didn't get wise until his last dollar had slipped, and then he called for police aid. He gave a good description of the men and a vigorous search is on for them.

Jesse Courtney, of Kissime, Fla., also lost several dollars to two friendly strangers at the terminal station Sunday afternoon, and from descriptions given the police they are believed to be the same men who took Mr. Freeman's money.

HARDWICK IS COUNSEL FOR SOVIET DIPLOMAT

By James A. Hollomon.
(By Constitution Leased Wire.)

Washington, January 12.—The appearance of former Senator Thomas W. Hardwick, of Georgia, in Washington today for the purpose of becoming one of the counsel for Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self-styled ambassador from soviet Russia, in the hearing before the senate foreign relations committee, has created keen interest.

This interest has been accentuated, it is recalled, that one of the first acts of the "reds" in the post-war campaign of violence in America was the sending of a number of death bombs through the mails to prominent men of the country, one of which was addressed to the Georgian, the latter exploding in the presence of Mrs. Hardwick and her maid and severely wounding the latter. No man has been more strenuously opposed to alien radicalism, and has denounced more vigorously the acts of violence of anarchists, bolshevists, soviets or any other faction or clan, than the Georgia ex-senator. It is with knowledge of this fact that Mr. Hardwick's appearance in defense of the soviet "ambassador" is received with interest. That his reasons, professional and personal, for doing so are sound no one will question.

Department of justice officials hold a deportation warrant for Martens, the service of which will be deferred until after the hearing, and then not until the point as to whether his appearance before the committee immunizes him from deportation is settled.

A request for more time in which to prepare for his testimony was asked today by Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self-styled ambassador of soviet Russia, through his counsel, Thomas W. Hardwick, former senator from Georgia, who appeared before the state foreign relations subcommittee with Santeri Nuorteva, secretary to Martens. As a consequence, the subcommittee's hearing will not get under way before Wednesday and possibly later, as Martens will be the first witness.

Consideration of a resolution to authorize employment of counsel was blocked by Senator Hitchcock, democrat, of Nebraska, who urged that to save expenses the committee request the department of justice detail an attorney. Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, chairman of the committee, replied that the department might be embarrassed in view of "certain trails of evidence opened up." The resolution thereupon was referred to the expenditures committee.

KAPPA ALPHAS TO HOLD DINNER NEXT MONDAY

The Atlanta Alumni association of the Kappa Alpha fraternity will hold their annual banquet at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, January 19, at the Capital City club. According to John S. Westmoreland, president of the association, a large attendance is expected, as there are a large number of Kappa Alphas in Atlanta.

Henry Heinz will perform the duties of toastmaster. The occasion is expected to be a great success, as it is to be the first annual banquet held by the organization in three years. They were discontinued during the war, and had not until now been resumed.

It is announced that a number of prominent Atlantans are on the program for speeches, and an orchestra has been secured to furnish music during the occasion.

Mr. Westmoreland has asked members to make reservations, if they have not done so, with R. S. Sleet, secretary. He can be reached by phoning Ivy 564.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL LAW HIGHLY PRAISED

Rev. B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes institute, in delivering a lecture on the subject, "The Benefits the State Derives From the Compulsory Educational Law," Sunday morning in Reed Street Baptist church, said:

"The compulsory educational law which went into effect on the 1st of January has resulted in thousands of colored children in the cities and rural districts of the state entering school who have never attended the public and private schools. This is one of the best laws ever made by the state to diminish crime among the negroes." Rev. E. P. Johnson, the pastor, made the closing remarks and highly indorsed the work of the institute.

WARNOCK RE-ELECTED CITY PRISON DOCTOR

The prison committee of council Monday afternoon re-elected Dr. S. D. Warnock as city prison physician. The committee also arranged for an early visit to the stockade as a body with a view of investigating and make some recommendation to council regarding the profitable utilization of much space said to be vacant in the buildings at the plant.

The committee plans to ask council to open and grade a new street through the city's property at the stockade, with the object of promoting industrial growth in this section which lies along the Belt line railroad.

Good Health Within Easy Reach

Creates Rich, Red Blood

Pepto-Mangan Obtainable in Liquid or Tablets—Insist on "Gude's," the Genuine.

There is really no reason why men or women with thin, watery blood and consequent poor health should remain in that unfortunate condition. Thin, nervous, run-down, tired people never get much happiness out of life.

Men and women with the bloom of health in their cheeks, a cheerful, sunny disposition and an attractive personality are the folks who get most of life's enjoyment, pleasure, and success.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan furnishes thin, watery blood with the necessary nourishment to enrich it, enabling it to supply energy, vitality, and strength to every part of the body.

Physicians recommend Gude's Pepto-Mangan to patients suffering from anemia because its beneficial and lasting qualities are well known to the medical profession.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is obtainable in either liquid or tablet form. Both forms contain exactly the same strength and medicinal properties.

(The Constitution—Philadelphia Public Ledger Service—Copyright, 1920.)

Washington, January 12.—A hay wagon, two photographers, a privet hedge and inside the wall a much-sought photographic study. It reads just like the story of the pictures taken of the former German emperor at Amerongen, but today it was the white house instead, and the prototypes of the Dutch camera men got nothing for their pains but a plate showing them being shooed away by the guardians of the executive mansion.

At that, the idea was good, and it might mave worked but for the following facts:

GREATER FACILITIES FOR SOUTHERN PORTS

Cincinnati, January 12.—Greater port facilities of the gulf and South Atlantic, the building up of the American merchant marine, the development of South and Central America and the Orient as outlets for American production were advocated today at a meeting here of the Mid-West-Gulf-South Atlantic foreign trade transportation committee.

Those attending the meeting were John W. Thomas, Chicago, chairman; Matthew Hale, Washington, vice chairman; Thomas F. Cunningham, New Orleans, representing the New Orleans board of trade and the New Orleans Association of Commerce; C. W. Thacker, Pensacola, Fla., of the Pensacola Chamber of Commerce; M. Smith, Brunswick, Ga., managing secretary of the Brunswick board of trade; Charles G. Edwards, Savannah, Ga., president of the Savannah board of trade; R. G. Cobb, Mobile, Ala., manager of the traffic bureau of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce, and A. P. Adair, Jacksonville, representing the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce.

New York, Jan. 12.—An excited early advance on covering or re-buying by Saturday's se[illegible] was followed by reactions in the cotton market today. March sold up to 37.05 at the start, or a full cent above the low level of Saturday, but later declined to 36.11 and closed at 36.28, with the general list closing steady at net avdances of 8 to 45 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 70 to 93 points on buying by interests who had sold on Saturday's unconfirmed rumors of a political upheaval in Germany. For a time the buying was extremely active and excited and bullish sentiment was encouraged by the strong showing of Liverpool, but the demand was supplied around the opening figures and after the close of the English market shut out arbitrage orders, prices have turned easier under realizing.

There was also scattered southern selling on the decline, which carried January off from 38.50 to 37.80, or back to the closing price of Saturday, while May broke from 35.50 to 34.68 and July from 33.80 to 33.15, compared with 33.00, at the end of last week.

Trade interests were good buyers on a scale down, however, while there was no change in the generally bullish character of the news from the goods trade or southern spot markets and closing prices showed recoveries of 15 to 20 points from the lowest.

Trading was comparatively quiet after the first rush of covering or re-buying and demand was attributed largely to brokers with foreign or domestic trade connections. Rumors that a foreign pool had been organized to buy up low grades in the south helped a midafternoon rally, which, however, was not fully sustained.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET TAKES WIDE SWINGS

New Orleans, January 12.—Swings were made in the price of cotton today and the market made quick changes. There was ready response to both bullish and bearish news. The opening was higher and the improvement continued until the active months were 82 to 90 points over the close of Saturday.

From this there was a reaction until the advance amounted to only 2 to 25 points, but in the early afternoon the market was up again to gains of about 30 to 50 points. Late in the day the weakest period occurred and the active months went to levels 8 points under to 15 points over the final prices of Saturday. The close was at net advances for the day of 7 to 25 points.

The opening rise was due to very good cables and to the denial over Suliday of the rumors of Saturday of the overthrow of the German government. The reaction from the advance was due mainly to realizing from the long side, while the upturn of the early afternoon was caused by exports for the day of 56,300 bales from all ports against 5,951 this day last year.

The weakness late in the session was in response to weakness in the stock market. On the whole it was an active session, with a large business doing.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, January 12.—(Special.)—The fact that the reported German revolution was unconfirmed and the decidedly more optimistic feeling as to the prospects of a treaty compromise, coupled with a higher Liverpool market, brought in extensive buying on the opening of the New York market today, but unfortunately the completion of these orders brought about a level that was out of line both with Liverpool and with general expectations. Lack of buying power following the initial advance left the market vulnerable to the wave of selling that entered it later. Judged by the news of the day immediately higher prices would seem to be in order, but a lack of immediate demand for spots is indicated by the relative weakness of the near months, and without this sustaining influence the market does not seem to be in a position temporarily to absorb any great amount of selling. It would seem to us, therefore, that caution in making purchases would seem advisable until the market has better absorbed the cotton that is for sale around this level.

JOHNSTON BROS.

New York, January 12.—(Special.)—The unusual strength of the foreign market and glowing reports of big business in Manchester sent the market skyward on the opening. Heavy realizing by those who bought on Saturday's unwarranted break forced a reaction, which carried March to within a few points of the previous close. Some people advocate taking a position on the short side and maintaining it, but we cannot share this view as long as there is such an insistent demand for cotton at such a splendd premium compared with contracts.

CLARK & CO.

New York, January 12.—(Special.)—Saturday's rumor of a German revolution was unconfirmed and prices advanced about 100 points as the result of better cables from abroad and both fo[illegible]n and domestic trade buying. There was a[illegible] some recovering of contracts sold late on Saturday. The market did not hold its early gain. As renewed realizing and heavy southern selling was encountered prices reacted and finally closed about 20 points net higher. We look for rapid fluctuations in both directions and favor the buying side on all good declines.

J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, January 12.—(Special.)—Denial from Berlin that a revolution had taken place, the disturbance being a railroad strike of clerks, brought a very sharp advance on the opening this morning as a result of overnight buying orders principally from Europe. Cotton carried ober the decline of Saturday was immediately for sale with an easier tendency throughout most of the day. In the late afternoon some short covering with buying orders from the south carried a reaction to over the 35-cent level for May. The near positions were relatively weak and the easier securities market was also an unsatisfactory feature, with money as high as 12 per cent. Sentiment is very mixed, for the trade do not like the way the market eases quickly under liquidating orders, but on the other hand, recognize the determination of southern holders to await higher prices.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, January 12.—(Special.)—The signing of the treaty of peace and failure to have the report of revolution in Germany confirmed were doubtless the incentives for the very heavy buying orders in the market on the opening today. The demand was so eager that prices were sent up about 1 cent over Saturday's closing before sufficient cotton was found for sale to satify it. Immediately after this demand was satisfied absence of important buying power offered an opportunity for selling the market down easily. Throughout the day the market was lower than the opening and lost practically all of its gain. At one time the trade bought moderately on the easy spots.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

NEW ORLEANS LETTER.

New Orleans, January 12.—(Special.)—The cotton market opened at the advance today and made wide gains before realizing set in sufficiently strong to cause reactions. Buying was induced by good cables and the denial of Saturday's rumors of the overthrow of the German government. Profit-taking on the long side was heavy, and toward the middle of the day much of the advance was lost, but heavy exports caused another bulge in the early afternoon. This improvement, however, melted under heavy selling in response to weakness in the stock market. Cotton still is easily affected by outside influences. Total exports for the day were 56,000 bales against 5,591 this day last year, bringing the movement thus far this week up to 115,595 bales against 34,876 during the same period last year.

STOCKS GOVERNED BY MONEY REPORTS

List Was Reactionary Throughout Day, But Royal Dutch and Some Minor Oils and Equipments Withstand Strain.

New York, January 12.—Another deficit in clearing house reserves, stiffer money rates and continued abstention of public supoprt constituted the chief deterrent factors of today's reactionary stock market.

Failure of the United States supreme court to act on the stock dividend case and widely circulated, but confirmed, reports that several of the important Mexican oil properties had sustained severe damage from earthquake disturbanecs, provided the shorts with material to depress prices. There were several neutralizing features, notably the very favorable tonnage statement of the United States Steel corporation for December and encouraging business advices from western and southwestern points. Aside from the relative firmness of United Staes Steel shares, however, these developments exercised no apparent influence.

Rumors were current that negotiations were actively progressing for the consolidation or merger of several of the secondary steel and equipment companies, but these met with little credence in authoritative financial circles.

Oils and motors were heavy almost from the outset, but it was not until the final hour, when call loans rose by successive stages from 10 to 18 per cent, that the selling and consequent declines became quite general.

As usual, there were a few stocks which stood out for their comparative strength, especially Royal Dutch and some of the less prominent oils and equipments. Rails also resisted pressure, but trading in that division was light at best.

The bond market presented no new features, apart from a moderate accession of activity. Liberty bonds and rails eased slightly, but internationals, as represented by Anglo-French 5s, were steady to firm. Total sales, par value, were $15,500,000. Old United States bonds were unaltered on call.

DECLINE IN CORN CHANGES TO RISE

Chicago, January 12.—Industries and shippers competed for corn today and rallied the market from declines due to an official warning against price hazards on wheat and flour after withdrawal of government control.

The close was unsettled at the same as Saturday's finish to ⅞ cent higher, with May $1.34½ to $1.34⅝ and July $1.32⅞ to $1.33. Oats closed unchanged to ¼ cent down, and provisions varying from 25 cents loss to 50 cents advance.

At first selling in the corn market was very active as a result of bearish conclusions drawn from statements of National Wheat Director Julius H. Barnes. Besides, receipts of corn here today were larger and there was also a drop in hog values.

Later, however, the force of the Barnes statement was minimized by the fact that spring wheat was selling at the highest figure on record and that even chicken feed wheat was quoted at about equal to the government guarantee. Then came reports indicating that the supply of railroad cars showed little or no improvement. Good upturns during the later trade followed.

Coffee.

New York, January 12.—There was an advance of 29 to 37 points in the market for coffee futures during today's earlier trading on covering or rebuying by people who had sold on Saturday's unconfirmed rumors of political troubles in Germany. The advance was also encouraged by firmer Brazilian cables and continued light receipts, but after selling at 16.57 for May and 16.70 for July, prices eased off under realizing, closing at a net advance of 9 to 20 points. January, 15.86; March, 16.16; May, 16.33; July, 16.53; September, 16.30; October, 16.23; December, 16.10.

Spot, quiet; Rio 7s, 16⅝@17; Santos 4s, 25¾@26. Offers were reported very scarce in the cost and freight market, with sales of Bourbon 4s at 30¾; London credits. Santos 4s were offered at 23.95@25.60; American credits. No fresh offers were reported from Rio.

The official cable reported a decline of 50 reis in the Rio market, but the Santos spot market was unchanged and the early cable showing an advance of 175 to 325 reis in Santos futures was followed by a later cable, which was unchanged to 125 reis higher. Receipts at the two Brazilian ports were 15,000; Jundiahy receipts, 8,000. The advance in Santos was taken as indicating no expectation of further government sales for the present.

Sugar.

New York, January 12.—The local market for raw sugar was quieter today and while no purchases were definitely reported, it was rumored that a local refiner had purchased about 11,000 bags of Cubas, now loading, at 12 cents, cost and freight, equal to 13.04 cents for centrifugal, which is unchanged from the previous sale price. The market at the close was a little easier, if anything, with holders still offering January shipment at 12 cents, cost and freight.

There were no fresh developments in refined, with some allocations being made by refiners to their regular customers, while business in general is still light.

Prices are unchanged at 16 cents for fine granulated.

Money Market.

New York, January 12.—Mercantile paper, 6; sterling 60-day bills, 3.70⅝; commercial 60-day bills on banks, 3.70⅝; commercial 60-day bills, 3.70; demand, 3.73½; cables, 3 74½.

Market Declines Rapidly After a Strong Opening

BY R. L. BARNUM

(The Constitution-Philadelphia Public Ledger Service. Copyright, 1920.)

New Lork, January 12.—There was a strong opening this morning on short covering by bears who oversold the market on Saturday's unfounded rumors of a revolution in Germany. But a downward trend soon developed, which carried prices by the end of the first hour far below the opening quotations, United States Rubber being off 4 points, American Wool 6, Mexican Petroleum 8. Then there was a recovery, followed by another downward movement.

Call money made a new high record for the year today. However, it was the general money and credit situation rather than the current rate for call loans that upset the stock market today. The facts are that Wall street is now taking his question seriously.

In a statement today James A. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce, and one of the ablest bankers in Wall street, said:

"Credit is no longer a matter of private business between bankers and individuals, but must be looked upon as one of our national essential resources. The best banking thought is agreed that expansion of credit has reached a point where there should be no further expansion except for strictly constructive or necessary public purposes, such as supplying the public with its economic needs."

Reserve Ratio Down.

"Mr. Alexander had your week-end bank statement in mind as well as our own. Your reserve ratio was down to 40.2 against 41.00 a week ago and 46.4 at this time last year. Ours was down to a new low record of 38.6 against 38.7 a week ago and 46.5 a year ago. As a whole the twelve banks showed 45.5 against 43.7 a week ago and 51.8 at this time in 1919.

"Beyond question our federal reserve bank is in a far worse position than any other, largely because it must bear the brunt of gold exports. But thereare others that need to build up their surplus. On this point the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis has just issued a timely warning. This widely published statement said:

"'It devolves on bankers to impress upon their clients the virtue o fa conservative viewpoint in the conduct of their business. Loans speculative in intent are not granted by professedly conservative institutions.'"

Wall Street Gossip.

Call money opened today at 7 per cent and remained at that rate until 1 o'clock, when 8 per cent was quoted. From that point to 18, the high for the day, the advance was steady. There was no change in the time money situation.

Trading in bonds started out today very heavy, but soon slowed down. Prices held firm, with the exception of the Liberty and Victory issues, which were lower. The Victory 4¾s, which were up to 99 only a few days ago, were down in the early trading today to 98.74.

United States Realty 5s of 1924, which were selling at 60 last year, are now up to 82. This remarkable advance is due to the leases which the company has been able to make with its clients at very much higher rentals. Only very long leases are being made. Those who object to signing a long term lease at higher rents are being asked to get out.

Statement Causes Misunderstanding.

Secretary Glass' statement this morning that if congress increases the estimated expenditure, or reduces taxes, there may have to be another government loan, which is interpreted in the financial district as merely serving notice on congress not to tamper with the treasury's plans. A good deal of misunderstanding exists, however, regarding the secretary's position on taxes. It has been widely believed that Mr. Glass had advccated a reduction. This is true in so far as it refers to specific taxes, but he has never advocated a reduction of the aggregate. Excess profits taxes and certain "brackets" of the sur-tax he has believed might be modified, but the loss in one direction was to be compensated by increases in others.

Wall street had an object lesson last week to the effect that the federal reserve bank must pay off its debts like anybody else, and that when it does, money is apt to be scarce. The New York institution lost $30,000,000 gold through the gold settlement of the fund, in addition to about $20,000,000 which apparently went for export. Not long ago the local bank to help itself out of a tight position, sold a large block of acceptances to other regional banks. Now that the acceptances are falling due, they have to be paid through the gold settlement fund, precisely as though the reserve bank had actually borrowed from the interior instead of merely selling acceptances. The point is that the interior banks themselves, with a few exceptions, are in a position where they cannot give much aid to New York.

Westinghouse Electric Notes.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company has $15,000,000 notes falling due on the first of Februrary, and up to the present time there has been no announcement as to what arrangements have been made to take care of this issue. There are reports around brokerage houses that some new financing will have to be done. This may be true, but until some official announcements are made all reports are merely conjecture. It is stated, however, that the full amount will not have to be taken up. as the company has been buying the notes in the open market. The last statement of the company, which was issued as of March 31, 1919, showed the company to have over $14,000,000 cash on hand, and this was added to as a result of the sale of some British property which netted the company over $5,000,000. It is doubted, however, very much, if the company will use up its cash reserve to pay off the notes.

An offering of a large block of the shares of the DeBers mines is looked for in this market before long. Although no name can be mentioned at this time, it can be stated that the house which will probably make the offering is a very large foreign exchange house with influential connections in Paris. This offering, on top of the recent sale of 60,000 American shares of the Rand mines, limited, may, according to the belief prevailing in certain quarters, be the beginning of a movement to float oreign listed securities in this country on a large scale.

A recovery in the foreign exchange rate on England to very near par within the next year and a half would not surprise some Wall street falk in view of the rapid strides being made by England with her foreign trade to all parts of the world. This belief is believed to be a little too optimistic in banking quarters, however.

RECORD TURPENTINE PRICES IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., January 12.—With a quotation of $1.78¾ a gallon, turpentine in the local naval stores market has reached the highest price ever known. The increase is attributed to the high cost of labor and material and the increasing scarcity of yellow pine forests.

Savannah, Ga., Januuary 12.—(Special.)—Speculation is attributed by market experts as the principal cause of the latest rise in spirits of turpentine prices, which made another new record today, bringing 3 cents more than Saturday quotations and 10 cents above this day last year. Other advances are expected.

London Stock Market.

London, January 12.—(Special Cable.)—The course of prices in the stock markets was erratic. The gilt-edged market weakened amid discussion of the question of future government borrowing. Prices of home railway stocks were marked down on labor news and foreign bonds were still on fears of German selling now that the peace treaty has been ratified.

The strongest market in the house was that for oil shares, prices of shells and Mexican Eagle reaching a new high level. Sections of the industrial market also showed strength. Telegraphic and telephonic communication with the north, also with the continent, was interrupted as a result of the gale and business somewhat hampered in consequence.

Money was slightly better, request at 3 1-2 and 4 per cent, but the floating supply of credit was ample for all requirements and balances were placed at 3 per cent at the close. The tendency of the discount market was rather firmer for all maturities, as there was an inclination to hold off bills for the moment.

New York exchange showed a further improvement, the rate closing at $3.74. Paris was better, there being much less fluctuation.

War Against Booze In South America Urged by Speaker

That the liquor lords of this republic be not allowed to fasten their fangs upon younger and less developed nations was the plea of Miss Hordynia K. Norville, renowned temperance lecturer of Argentina, South America, in her address at the Atlanta Woman's club yesterday afternoon at the clubhouse on Baker street.

Miss Norville urges North American women to give their utmost aid in curbing the liquor traffic and to support the suppression of its entrance into the young republics of South America.

The attitude of South American countries toward the United States was brought up in her discussion. There was ill feeling toward this country before our entrance into the war, she said. They thought, she claimed, that our neutrality was occasioned by the fact that the United States wished to become enriched by enormous exports of munitions to the belligerents. But there was a reversal of public opinion in favor of this nation on the advent of the United States' declaration of war on Germany.

"Now is the golden opportunity for North American women to link hands with their South American sisters in their titanic struggle against the legalized liquor traffic which is swooping down upon these younger republics," states Miss Norville.

She outlined a plan for orphan adoption, asking every one who can to adopt an orphan, preferably of the kindergarten age, and contribute $25 annually for its upkeep, as well as a box of clothing. Anyone wishing to maintain an orphan is requested to communicate with Mrs. Leila A. Dilliard, state president, W. C. T. U., Emory university.

The next world's convention of the Women's Temperance leagues, of which Rosaline, Countess of Carlisle, is world president, convenes in London from April 15 through the 20th. Representatives from forty-two nations will be present. The object of this meeting is an intensified world campaign against vice in all of its forms for the protection of homes.

Other features of the meeting were an interesting talk by Mrs. Irving Thomas, who presided. She discoursed on plans for the new year, removal to the new clubhouse on Peachtree street and the past accomplishments of the club. A one act play was read by Mrs. Fred White and two solos were rendered by Mrs. James Harris Johnson.

The meeting was favored by a large attendance and at the conclusion of the program an informal half-hour followed.

$500 Offered as Prize For the Best Solution Of Women's Problems

The best letter from an American woman, offering a solution of the problems of readjustment facing women who are now demobilized, will be awarded a prize of $500 by a committee appointed for the purpose of conducting this competition on a national scale.

The judges of the contest include such famous men as Rex Beach, Rupert Hughes, Henry Irving Brock, Kenneth Macgowan and Joseph Dunn.

MRS. SOPHIA JOHNSON DIES MONDAY AT NOON

Funeral services for Mrs. Sophia N. Johnson, a resident of Atlanta for more than fifty years, whose death occurred Monday shortly after noon, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the residence, 38 Peachtree circle. Rev. B. F. Fraser will officiate, and interment will be at Oakland.

Mrs. Johnson was 77 years of age and was a much beloved woman. She was the mother of four sons and a daughter, who are all well-known Atlantans. She was the widow of the late Joseph M. Johnson. She was a pioneer member of the Walker Street Methodist church. Her death occurred after an illness lasting several weeks, and the members of the family were at the bedside when she died.

Mrs. Johnson is survived by her four sons, William H., Alonzo J., Thomas W. and Oliver Johnson; her daughter, Miss Lula Johnson, principal of the Fraser street school, and two sisters, Mrs. W. A. Dodge and Mrs. Oliver Jones.

Official Forecaster Says Balmy Weather Of Week to Continue

The forecast of the local weather bureau, given out Monday by C. F. von Herrman, does not anticipate any rain in Atlanta and vicinity and predicts a continuation of the gradual rise in temperature that has been pleasing most Atlantans since early Monday morning.

The general forecast for Georgia, however, is that showers will fall in most localities over the state and that the whole state will feel an appreciable rise in the temperature that has been such an enigmatic quantity during recent weeks.

"The Rainbow Girl" Proves One of Season's Best Hits

After hard and serious contemplation, for a span of time that brings the writing of this review dangerously close to that immovable hour when newspaper forms close for the last edition, the conclusion has been reached that it is impossible to find an opening sentence that will fully express the superlatively good time that the writer enjoyed at the Atlanta theater last night. The best that can be said is simply a regret that journalistic duties will prohibit the seeing of "The Rainbow Girl" again before the engagement of three nights and matinee is ended.

It is difficult to tell just what particular feature of the performance gave the most pleasure. There was Billy B. Van—it's fifteen years since we two met across the footlights the last time, and that was in Toronto, with two feet of snow on the ground and the thermometer below the zero point by about twenty degrees. Billy is, if possible, even funnier than fond retrospect had painted him, and that's saying a lot, when the seances of "those good old days" that have been held are recalled.

Then there's Sydney Greenstreet. In this production he has the role of an English butler—a most pompous, overbearing and superdignified characterization. He is a very large part of the show and his work is a revelation in the possibilities in indirect humor. Incidentally, Mr. Greenstreet is an Englishman, and learned his profession in London. There is an interesting story connected with his coming to America, in which a certain well-known Atlantan figures—but that must be told another day. Suffice it to say, that the American stage won one of the cleverest character actors of the day when he was persuaded to cross the Atlantic.

Another important factor in the delight of the entertainment are the numerous dancers. There are two little girls—one of them would tempt any man to leave his happy home, but the program cannot tell which it is—their names are given as Johnnie Jordan and Sybil Fooshee. Then there is a team composed of Richard Demar and Lulu Swan. Their dance in the second act, when Mr. Demar introduced his violin, brought more encores than any other item in the entire performance, and indications were that the audience would never have tired of bringing them back. Gladys Fooshee also danced delightfully in one or two numbers.

And the music. Some of the most haunting melodies of recent months are heard in "The Rainbow Girl." The "I'll Think of You" number and "My Rainbow Girl" probably divided popularity with last night's house. Others included "Just You Alone," "In a Month or Two," "Love's Ever New" and "Beautiful Lady." And, by no means to be overlooked, Billy B. Van's "Alimony Blues."

There was a considerably augmented orchestra last night, whose work added much to the beauty of the entire score.

And, it would be omitting an important feature, if mention of the costumes and settings were overlooked. The costumes are unusually beautiful and very fresh looking, while the scenery is the work of Joseph Urban, which means that it is at all times artistic, colorful and suitable.

And the chorus! Such a chorus. For once in a lifetime, without danger of a smarting conscience compelling a sleepless night to follow, it can be said that there isn't a single solitary individual member of the fair chorus who is in the slightest degree hard to look upon. Every one is pretty; every one is comely, and every one is really and truly attractive. Sometimes, you know, out of a natural inclination to be courteous to the ladies, deficiencies in a chorus are overlooked in a comment such as this, but there is nary a deficiency to be skipped lightly this time. If anyone disagrees and considers that there is, all that can be said is that he is altogether too carping in his criticism and too drastic in his demands. Mother Nature couldn't be expected to do better by any bald-headed row than she has in this instance.

The leads are played by Grace Walsh and Edward Forbes. Miss Walsh has a charming personality and her voice, while not overly powerful, is very sweet and attractive. She brings a humanness to her part that exictes the sympathies of her audience at an early stage. Mr. Forbes likewise is possessed of a pleasant voice, though it too is not very strong. William Clifton has a character part as the theatrical manager, which he fits nicely, and two dear old ladies are properly played by Jane Burby and Margaret Merriman.

In glancing back over what has been written, the only thing that seems to be missing is a reference to the plot. Of course, in a musical play, it is usually not very necessary to pay much attention to the plot. In this instance, however, it means more than usual. The story is taken from a comedy written by Jerome K. Jerome. It is all about the girl who stars upon the stage and marries the man she loves, in ignorance that he is the owner of a title and a big estate, and he in ignorance of who her family were. After the marriage, he takes her to his ancestral home, discloses his identity and she finds that the entire retinue of servants, from the butler down, are her relatives. That's enough! The vast possibilities in the situation—particularly when it is remembered that Sydney Greenstreet is the butler, and Billy B. Van is the old friend of the wife's from the theater—a comedian—who poses as a Bishop and a fake uncle of her's—will be realized without any further enlarging upon the theme.

"The Rainbow Girl" stands out pre-eminently as one of the most scintillating, most entertaining and most laughable shows which have been here this season. In fact, there can be no contradiction to anyone who wishes to place it on the very topmost pinnacle of local theatrical offerings of the winter.

RALPH T. JONES.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

There are two acts on the new bill opening at Keith's Lyric with yesterday's matinee that stand out preeminently as among the best ever presented in Atlanta. One is the comedy turn by May, Kilduff and Allerton, and the other a bit of musical comedy by Earl and Mullen. Which does not mean that the other acts are not good, for, as a matter of fact, the bill abounds in variety and is splendidly balanced.

Arthur May comes into his own as one of the best rural comedians who has ever walked the boards in Atlanta. He plays the part of a "handy man" around a theater and, incidentally, has two stunning girls to boost his act.

Helen Kilduff plays the dual role of an actress and "Mirandy," a "rube" girl, while Marie Allerton appears as a bewitching soubrette. There are special songs and some dances that brought the act to a whirlwind finish of laughter.

The act of Mullen and Page is staged in elaborate and colorful fashion. Frances Earl is a dainty bit of femininity who has a wardrobe that would be the envy of a queen. As a dancer and a singer she may be classed among the best, while Mr. Mullen's eccentric dances drew round after round of applause. Particularly effective was the number in which Miss Earl appeared as a champagne girl, as intoxicating as the real beverage.

Arthur Page and Ethel Gray, the latter with a shimmering gown with its back cut a la Kitty Gordon, were winners with their "odds and ends of vaudeville." Wire and Walker opened the bill with a particularly clever wire act. The show was closed by Valentine and Bell in a cycling novelty, one of the best parts of which is the good looks of the woman. The usual picture program was offered.

Loew Vaudeville.

Will Stanton in a comedy innovation, entitled "His Last Drop," depicted the role of a convivial clubman with such realism that members of the audience were taken back to those halcyon days when a sport could take a drink without incurring the chance of imbibing chafing dish fuel and going to the hospital or blind. He was the drunkest sober man to be found in these prohibition days, and combined with his laughable stunts were acrobatic feats of the highest order. Stanton was supported in his act by Rosalind May and others, who staged a first-class cabaret show.

Fred Elliott, in his freak fun, was one of the hits of the bill. Playing the part of a small town sport, he created a continuous round of laughter by his singing and his uncannily clever musical manipulation of broomsticks and other improvised instruments. In persuading his crude, home-made violin to release the strains of music, Fred offered contortions that varied between St. Vitus' dance and calisthenics.

"The Baseball Four" comprised a male quartet of especial note. These four professional balltossers staged not only realistic game of ball, but a high-class musical entertainment as well. Each of the four possesses a good voice and put up a good act that went over big.

The Barra Sisters, with singing and piano playing, combined beautiful ballads and comedy stuff in an act of real worth. Harry Larned pulled a bunch of original methods of locomotion. He spun about the stage on everything movable, except the stepladder, and he rode up that on his unicycle.

The picture, with May Murray, the maid of many moods, in a gripping drama, "The A, B, C of Love," was a good film play well received. The bill played to packed houses all day Monday.

Neil O'Brien Minstrels.

(Coming to the Atlanta.)

With an increased number of good features, unusually good singing and new comedy, the Neil O'Brien Minstrels will appear at the Atlanta theater on Thursday, when they begin an engagement of three nights and Saturday matinee. This is the eighth annual tour of this organization and Manager Oscar F. Hodge promises this season a show that will reveal a new elaborate stage setting, a well proportioned mixture of song, dance and comedy and the same absence of coarseness that has been the foundation stone of the success of this organization. The entire production having been staged by Mr. O'Brien makes it assured of being full of dash and vim. The list of comedians is a large one, including Bert Swor, "Sugarfoot" Gaffney, Ollie Debro, Bobby Gossans, Frank Quinn, Charles Strong, Fred Miller, George Faust, Vic Barret and Major Nowak. Seats are now on sale.

"The Cinema Murder."

Marion Davies, one of the screen's most beautiful women, is strikingly presented the first three days of this week at the Forsyth in "The Cinema Murder," a dramatization of Oppenheim's famous story, now appearing serially in an Atlanta paper—you may read the story and see it played in the same week, if you go to the Forsyth before the engagement closes Wednesday night. The play is a remarkable effort, showing the intimate side of studio and stage life, with an absorbing romance and a strange tragedy, brilliantly cleared up at the end. A Christie comedy, "Can Wives Be Trusted?" and a Paramount Magazine are shown on the same bill.

Mary Pickford.

(At the Savoy.)

Mary Pickford in "The Hoodlum," a successor to "Daddy Long Legs," is the attraction at the Savoy theater today. With dramatic, comedy and melodramatic angles in a modern story with a big city atmosphere, the star runs the scale of human emotions. Miss Pickford has no sympathetic role; this is destroyed at the start by a display of temper. But she appears later in the story in a character that all her admirers will thoroughly enjoy and will also consider most unique. It is a well produced picture and bound to entertain any audience. The star was never better than in "The Hoodlum."

Charles Ray.

(At the Vaudette.)

The Vaudette has today "Hayfoot, Strawfoot," a lively drama featuring Charles Ray, and a comedy under the Christie brand, Billy West in "Hot Dogs." In addition, the vaudeville act that proved so popular last week, Halligan and O'Rourke, in "Songs and Smiles," is continued all this week on an extended engagement. The pictorial feature Thursday and Friday will be Dorothy Dalton in a strong play, "A Gamble in Souls."

Daring Locklear Featured in Film Showing at Tudor

When war was declared he was commissioned and assigned to an aviation training camp. After a few weeks he performed the feat of changing planes which brought him a severe reprimand. Later the value of his daring as an inspiration to student aviators was recognized and—he was asked to continue his death-defying act!

At the Tudor theater last night the audience was thrilled and aroused to enthusiasm by "The Great Air Robbery," a master photoproduction by Universal, starring the noted air man.

Lieutenant Locklear appears in the picture as the crack pilot of the United States aerial mail service whose skill in mid-air saves his friend from disgrace, brings to earth a band of desperate air pirates who prey upon the flying mail, and wins him the girl he loves.

In telling this story, which is the pioneer of many such plots that undoubtedly will follow, Universal has accomplished unusual results. Not only do the principal players perform hair-raising feats in midair, but the camera men have accomplished equal wonders in filming the scenes. Many of the hazardous feats, especially the changing from one fast-moving plane to another, were performed within a few yards of the winged cameras.

Scenes of rare interest are shown in the lively air-thriller. The audience sees the vast field of the United States mail service at night, the aeroplanes outlined by searchlights, and the exhaust from the engines leaving comet-like trails in the sky. One gets a glimpse of strange vistas of cities, rivers, woods and mountains as the daring riders pilot their craft on transcontinental flights.

The story was written and directed by Jacques Jaccard. Lieutenant Locklear, who is as clever an actor as he is an aviator, is surrounded by a company which includes Francelia Billington, Allan Forrest, Ray Ripley and Carmen Phillips.

Watch for the "Jessie James" of the sky, who will appear at midday every day this week over Five Points and drop one hundred or more passes to the sensational drama, "The Great Air Robbery." This pass will entitle the holder to be admitted to the Tudor theater, where this picture is being run the entire week, free of charge.

Personal Appearance Sennett Bathing Girls At Criterion Theater

A dazzling combination of feminine loveliness and a filmed satire of convulsing, yet heroically patriotic plot, is revealed to amusement seekers at the Criterion theater this week, where Mack Sennett's "Yankee Doodle in Berlin" is projected on the screen and Mack Sennett's Bathing Beauties from California—yes, themselves—appear for the first time professionally outside of the Sennett studios.

The shapely, wholesome and beautiful models of feminine perfections are seen in person in their fetching costumery and in an act specially designed and lighted to reveal them at their athletic best.

Bigger even than Sennett's recent success, "Mickey," is his latest screen feature, "Yankee Doodle in Berlin," and in it, Sennett, while resuming his role of humorist, satirist and burlesque expert, appears in the role of a prophet of patriotism and a first aid to history; for Sennett has shown up the kaiser in his true colors.

How this somewhat serious scheme is developed in an atmosphere of burlesque and travesty, satire and ridicule, is Mr. Sennett's trick. He is the only picture producer who could accomplish it, and that he has done it will be conceded by all who see this masterpiece.

"Everywoman" Begins Last Week of Special Run at the Rialto

The second week of "Everywoman" on an extended run at the Rialto, opened Monday to packed houses, with every prospect of surpassing the business of the first week, which was such as to demand that the great morality play be held over in an extended engagement. In spite of the shockingly bad weather that greeted the great Paramount-Artcraft super-special last week, the patronage held up steadily.

This week, however, is positively the last chance to see on the screen the famous morality play that made such a tremendous hit on the stage. With an all-star cast, headed by Violet Heming, Wanda Hawley and Theodore Roberts, George Melford, the director, even surpassed the stage production in his screen version—due perhaps to the limitless possibilities of the screen for an allegorical presentation; while the intense dramatic power of the great play is strikingly preserved in every detail.

Atlanta is given the unusual compliment of a two weeks' engagement of "Everywoman"—a compliment to the excellent taste of the southern metropolis as well as to the drawing power of one of the greatest of screen productions.

TELLS HOW 'DRY' FUND WILL BE EXPENDED

Dr. Howard Russell, founder of the Anti-Saloon League of America, who has been in Atlanta for some time assisting in the co-ordination of plans for the inception of the campaign for funds to assist in law enforcement, to begin on January 16, the day the eighteenth amendment goes into effect, recently gave out an announcement as to how the funds raised in the drive are to be expended.

Georgia's quota in the drive is $650,000, $200,000 of which is expected to be raised in Atlanta, although the actual quota assigned to Atlanta is only $156,000.

The funds raised, according to Dr. Russell, are to be used in an extensive program, involving the following three heads: (1) home law enforcement; (2) Americanization of the foreign; (3) a dry world by 1930.

One-fourth of the money collected will be left in the state to aid home law enforcement. By this is meant the enforcement of national and state prohibition laws by keeping public sentiment alert and active in backing all officials in the enforcement of law, keeping the question before the people and educating the masses in regard to the dangerous character of alcohol, the reasonableness of prohibition and the benefits of strict enforcement.

"Officers who enforce the law must be supported and those who are lax in enforcement must be opposed," says Dr. Russell. "Liquor interests have organizer—with a $400,000,000 fund, it is said—twenty-four states in the effort to elect a congress that will weaken or repeal the prohibition laws."

Another one-fourth of the money, according to Dr. Russell, will go to the National Anti-Saloon league for work among the aliens in this country. Law-abiding citizens must be made of these foreigners who stay in America through education, literature and speaking in the language they know and understand. These scattered colonies can only be reached through the systematic and studied propaganda as planned by this organization.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

The Alexander Hamilton club of Atlanta will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, in the committee room of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. The officers of the club announce that an interesting program of speeches has been arranged, and that the present trend of economic conditions will be discussed by men familiar with conditions throughout the country.

All members of the club, and prospective new members are urged to attend the meeting.

CITIZENS RALLY TO SOCIALISTS

New York, January 12.—Leading members of the New York Bar association, the trustees of the New York City club and the trustees of the Citizens' Union united today in voicing condemnation of the action of the state assembly in suspending its five socialist members. At the same time representatives of more than one hundred labor and social organizations pledged the suport of their bodies in the fight to reinstate the social legislators at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the socialist party tonight. The mass meeting was opened with the announcement of a contribution of $10,000 by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

The first protest of the day against the action of the assembly came in the form of a resolution which will be offered at the annual meeting of the bar association tomorrow night and which is sponsored by Charles E. Hughes, Charles S. Whitman, George W. Wickersham, Louis Marshal, Morgan J. O'Brien, Henry L. Stimson, Herbert L. Parsons and Ogden L. Mills. This resolution denounces the suspensions of the five assemblymen as a threat to "the very foundations of representative government."

The same ground was taken by the trustees of the city club who issued a statement declaring that the assembly's action "can be regarded as nothing less than an assault upon representative government in this city and state and upon the peace and social welfare of this community." Copies of the statement were telegraphed tonight to the legislative leaders.

ASSEMBLY REFUSES TO RESCIND ACTION.

Albany, N. Y., January 12.—An attempt to reinstate the five suspended socialist members of the assembly failed tonight. Assemblyman Charles D. Donahue, of New York, the democratic leader, moved reconsideration of the vote by which the suspending resolution was adopted, but the motion was lost 33 to 71.

Mr. Donahue first introduced a resolution calling upon the assembly to allow the socialists to resume their seats until such time as that body might, by a proper vote, decide the charges contained in the preamble of the Adler resolution, by which they were barred from further proceedings last Wednesday.

Speaker Sweet ruled that the resolution was not in order, in that under the rules only by reconsideration of the vote on the Adler resolution could the question be brought before the house.

"The inference has gone abroad throughout the entire nation," Mr. Donohue said, "that the men who have been indicted by a resolution presented by the majority leader have been convicted before they have had an opportunity to be heard. Their constituents are deprived of representation here, and I believe they ought to be represented.

Calls Action Hasty.

"I condemn socialist principles and propaganda. We of the city of New York know how insidious and invidious it is, but if a mistake has been made in denying these men seats in this body, every member ought to be enough of a man to stand up and say so. When the members of my party reached Albany this evening, they thought the only safe, sane and honorable thing to do was to admit that they had been hasty in denying five duly accredited members seats in this body."

With the exception of eleven New York city republicans, those supporting the Donohue motion were democrats.

Assemblyman Hamil, democrat, New York, and McKee, democrat, of the Bronx, introduced resolutions designed to make the assembly, instead of the judiciary committee, the court to hear the case of the suspended socialists. Consideration of both resolutions were deferred until tomorrow.

In the upper house, Senator Julius Miller, democrat, of New York, had prepared a resolution to put the senate on record as declaring that in its judgment the assembly reconsider the action of last week. Majority Leader Walters, however, blocked Senator Miller's plan by moving an adjournment before the order of motion and resolutions was reached.

ATLANTA WILL BE AEROPLANE CENTER ASSERTS LAMBERT

That Atlanta will shortly be an important aeroplane center is the opinion expressed Monday by Captain W. C. Lambart, who is in the city for a few days with his passenger-carrying aeroplane.

"Of course Atlanta will be a great flying center," said Captain Lambert. "I've seen flying conditions in France, England and in all sections of the United States, and have come to the conclusion that flying conditions in Atlanta compare most favorably with other centers.

"Atlanta has many advantages for establishing a great flying center here. It lies more or less in the foothills of mountains. There are any number of places in the immediate country surrouding the city where a forced landing could be made.

"Being recognized as the chief industrial center of the south, Atlanta should awake to the fact that she occupies a vantage point in the aeroplane industry."

Captain Lambert is an American, hailing from Ironton, Ohio, but during the war he was a captain in the Canadian army.

This morning at 11 o'clock he will have as his guests at Candler field the Mack Sennett Bathing Beauties. One or two of the girls will be taken for a ride over the city and souvenirs will be dropped by them.

PROPOSED TO REFUND WAR COTTON TAXES

Washington, January 12.—Taxes collected on cotton during the civil war period would be refunded to the states in which they were collected under a bill introduced today by Representative Heflin, democrat, Alabama, his measure seeking to revive similar legislative proposals of the past which failed of enactment.

Mr. Heflin's bill would direct that heirs of persons who paid the taxes might establish their claims to repayment in the state courts, while any unclaimed part would be divided for road improvements and a fund for pensions to ex-Confederate veterans.

Alabama, $10,388,072; Arkansas, $2,555,638; Florida, $918,944; Georgia, $11,897,000; Kentucky, $555,327; Louisiana, $10,093,500; Maryland, $51,349; Mississippi, $8,742,900; North Carolina, $1,959,704; South Carolina, $4,172,420; Tennessee, $7,873,460; Texas, $5,502,400, and Virginia, $657,588.

Smaller sums also would be repaid to other states, principally New England.

Wonderful Answer to "Should a Woman Tell?" In Picture at Strand

Alice Lake, new screen star, and an admirable cast, including Jack Mulhall as leading man, give a wonderful presentation all this week at the Strand of Finis Fox's problem story, "Should a Woman Tell?" a powerful expression and an odd solution of one of the oldest and most puzzling questions that grow out of modern civilization and the so-called "double standard."

In this play, Miss Lake has the role of an innocent young girl who has been persuaded into a single false step. Then—the real prince of her heart comes back to her. They love each other. He begs her to marry him.

Should she tell him? That's the question. She is an honorable girl and cannot bear to think of keeping this dark chapter in her life a secret. But what will he do, when he learns?

"A Lady's Tailor," featuring Ford Sterling and the famous "Sennett Bathing Girls," is the companion picture all week; a Sennett comedy of purest ray serene. The bill is an unusually strong one.

NOTICE

By virtue of the authority conveyed by an act of the general assembly of Georgia, approved August 13, 1915, and printed in the Georgia Laws of 1915, pages 56-57, and amendment thereto, Georgia laws 1919, page 330, I will receive at the governor's office at the capitol in Atlanta, Monday, January 26, 1920, up to 1 p. m. Barnes' time, this being 12 o'clock noon standard central time, sealed bids for the purchase of $3,000,000 of warrants to be drawn by the governor on the funds appropriated by the legislature for the public schools for the year 1920, said warrants to be drawn at the end of each month in such sums as needed and for such amounts as are then due to the teachers. The warrants to be disposed of to the bidder offering the lowest rate of discount.

Said warrants will be issued by the governor for the purpose of anticipating the collection of taxes for the year 1920, and will be payable on February 1, 1921.

Under the same law warrants were issued and sold as follows last year: February, $330,837; March, $351,286; April, $331,379; May, $215,945; June, $138,102; July, $45,926; October, $190,388. Total, $1,603,863. This should give an approximate idea of the time and amount of loans needed.

Governor.

A TITLE GUARANTEE POLICY

"The thing to remember in the case of real estate is to be certain that the title one receives is good and clear of all incumbrances. With ordinary town or city real estate the USUAL and SAFEST method is to have the title INSURED by some guaranty or trust company that makes a business of insuring titles." —Saturday Evening Post.

PROVOST GUARDS NEAR DEATH WHEN CAR AND AUTO HIT

Lieutenant George A. Davis and Sergeant Creich, of the Atlanta detachment of provost guards, narrowly escaped serious injuries and possibly death Monday morning when the small touring car in which they were riding was telescoped between two trolley cars.

The two were going out Peachtree street about 8:30 o'clock, intending to go to Camp Gordon. Near the junction of Forsyth and Peachtree streets, their car became trapped between a moving trolley and a stationery one, and before they could clear the rail the moving car had crashed into their auto, jamming it against the one standing still.

Neither of the men was injured, but their automobile was practically destroyed. The moving trolley was run by Motorman E. C. Carter.

CLUB WOMEN WILL ATTEND COOKING SCHOOL ON TUESDAY

The Home Economics committee of the Atlanta Woman's club will attend in a body today the cooking school of the War Camp Community service, at Community Center, 190 Peachtree street.

The lessons, which are held every Tuesday at 9:30 o'clock, are under the supervision of Mrs. S. R. Dull, community cooking instructor. The class today will witness a demonstration of the method used in eliminating smoke when cooking waffles without grease.

Funeral for Wright.

Brunswick, Ga., January 12.—(Special.)—The funeral of J. Hazel Wright, popular young Brunswick man who passed away in Asheville, N. C., Saturday, was held yesterday afternoon from St. Xavier's Catholic church and was attended by an unusually large number of friends. Mr. Wright's death came after an illness extending over a period of two or three years. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Wright, both of whom passed away on the same day just four years ago.

Wants County to Share Cost Of Operating Grady Hospital

C. C. McGehee Tells of Plan by Which County and City Would Cooperate in Maintaining Institution.

C. C. McGEHEE.

Declaring that, while it was too early for him to outline definitely everything he hoped to bring to the immediate attention of the hospital board, C. C. McGehee, newly elected Grady hospital trustee from the eighth ward, started Monday afternoon that he would start work at once in an effort to formulate some plan by which the city and county could share mutually in the benefits of the institution, and at the same time arrange a system of appropriations whereby each should pay a corresponding share of the operating expenses of the hospital.

"Of course, it is too early for me to state just what my first plan of action will be," said Mr. McGehee. "I have not yet attended any of the board meetings and until I do, it will be impossible for me to offer any intimation as to the first thing we will take up."

Plan Tried Once.

"Speaking offhand," continued Mr. McGehee, "I should think the matter of splitting operating expenses between the city and county should be taken up as the first big issue. This plan was tried once, when the mayor appointed a special committee to look into the situation.

"At that time, the county attorney stated the step was not legal, and the matter was subsequently dropped. The committee is still in existence, but their work ended with the county attorney's ruling. Recent developments, however, have convinced me that it is legal for the county to bear some share of the expenses of operating Grady hospital. County convicts are employed in working the streets of Atlanta, because their labors result in mutual benefit to city and county. Granting an appropriation to Grady from county funds, because the hospital is an institution where residents of Fulton county are accorded the same privileges and given the same attention as citizens of Atlanta, would be just as legal, and I think it could be adjusted harmoniously.

"Grady hospital must expand, must grow in the same proportions as Atlanta. To accomplish this, money is needed. If appropriations to care for the continued growth of the hospital are not granted, then we will be forced to get along with an institution just one-third as large as we should have.

"We must realize," said Mr. McGehee, "that conditions which applied to Atlanta, when it was a city of perhaps 50,000 population, are not applicable now, that the city's growth has boosted the population to numbers that approach the quarter million mark. Our public institutions must, through necessity, be cared for by liberal annual appropriations."

Adequate Funds Needed.

"If Grady hospital is to be a pride to Atlanta and Fulton county; if its future expansion is to commensurate with the growth of Atlanta and the county, adequate funds must be provided, and the city and county should arrange a system that would look after the granting of them."

Mr. McGehee was elected to the board of trustees at the last meeting of city council, to succeed Alfred C. Newell, for several years a member from the eighth ward. Mr. Newell removed to a different section of the city, thus creating the vacancy.

The new trustee is a Harvard graduate, and a short time after leaving the university, began his business career by entering the real estate and insurance field in Atlanta. Since that time he has been prominent in all municipal affairs.

Mr. McGehee attended his first board meeting at Grady Monday afternoon, but did not outline his plans, as the meeting adjourned without attending to any business to meet again during the latter part of the month.

Aged Negroes Helped.

Eleven aged and helpless darkies, several of whom are ex-slaves, have been aided through the efforts of Rev. M. Roberts, pastor of the Turner Chapel church, colored, and the Fifth Ward Pleasure club. Recently the minister, who has taken an active interest in the amelioration of old members of his race, especially ex-slaves, braved icy winds and made short open-air talks in the interest of these people, and raised money, through free-will offerings, with which to assist them. The Fifth Ward Pleasure club, a social organization, also rendered helpful aid to them.

CENSUS WORK SLOWED BY RAIDS ON RADICALS

Washington, January 12.—Radical raids by the department of justice have caused a slowing up of the 1920 census count in New York, Boston and other cities with large foreign-born population, according to reports today to Sam L. Rogers, director of the census. In order that foreigners may be assured that census enumerators are not department of justice agents, the director has ordered interpreters to precede enumerators in districts inhabited by foreigners.

Protest from Minneapolis that Los Angeles is counting tourists as residents is being investigated by the census bureau.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work. People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood, and purifying the entire system. They do that which calomel does, without any of the bad after effects. Take one or two every night for a week and note the pleasing effect. 10c and 25c a box.

J. L. LOGAN TO TELL OF SUCCESS OF TRIP

Six Big Firms May Establish Branch Offices in Atlanta.

James L. Logan, chairman of the industrial promotion committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, returned to the city Monday, and on Wednesday evening at 6:30 will render a full report of the success he encountered in his trip through the east to a special meeting of the industrial promotions committee.

Mr. Logan announces that he has interested six firms in establishing in Atlanta, two of which will send representatives to the city within the next few days. These are the Morris Weil's Sons company, of Philadelphia, and the Minter Home Building company, of Huntington, W. Va.

While in Buffalo Mr. Logan conferred with officials of the Beaver Board company, who wish to locate a branch plant in the city, if 1,000,000 gallons of water a day and 6,000 k. w. of electric power can be obtained.

Another firm interested by Mr. Logan in establishing branch houses in Atlanta is the Lakewood Engineering company, of Cleveland, Ohio, builders of road machinery and trucks. Representatives of this firm will be here in two weeks for the purpose of looking over the location for a larger warehouse.

The American Spike company, of New York, manufacturers of railroad spikes and supplies, are building a large plant in Baltimore and representatives will come here with reference to negotiating for a large plant in Atlanta.

REV. W. H. BRANSON TO SERVE "OVERSEAS"

Appointment to foreign service has been received by Rev. W. H. Branson, 169 Bryan street, president of the Southeastern Union of the Seventh-day Adventists. He will leave in a few weeks for South Africa to be in charge of denominational activities in that country.

The Southeastern Union conference will convene in its quadrennial convention from January 23 to February 5 in Graysville, Tenn. The Atlanta conference headquarters have been in charge and all efforts have been made to provide for a large concourse. The following states will be represented: Georgia, Tennessee, Florida and the Carolinas.

Election of officers for the coming four-year period, reports from committees on denominational work and tentative plans for the future will be taken up at this meeting.

KENNEDY WILL VISIT CHINA, JAPAN, INDIA

(By Constitution Leased Wire.)

Washington, January 12.—Passports have been issued by the state department to A. D. Kennedy, vice president and general manager of the American Machine and Manufacturing company, Atlanta, Ga., to visit Japan, China, Philippine Islands and India, and Val S. Dawson, of the same concern, to visit China. These representatives go to investigate the vegetable oil industry and the sale of oil mill machinery in these countries.

Electrical and compressed-air cutting machines will be introduced into coal mines in three British regions.

Dyspepsia and Home Life

To Be Free of Indigestion Contributes Wonderfully to the Happiness of Home Life.

real enjoyment when there isn't a dyspeptic jinx among them. Of course, a case of dyspepsia or daily indigestion must be looked after. But it is far more to the point to prevent as well as to treat sour stomach, belching, water brash, etc., by such a valuable means as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Coddling the stomach with soft food and predigested stuff merely invites sluggishness.

Eat your little pork sausages for breakfast without fears; have a plate of beans and a piece of pie with cheese for lunch, and end the day with a real dinner, instead of a bowl of bread and milk. Follow each meal with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and get right back to your natural self.

These tablets digest food and assist the stomach to prepare the content for assimilation in the intestinal tract. Thus you get the practical relief and help which induces a better appetite and a greater freedom in the selection of foods. You will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale at any drug store in the United States and Canada, as they are considered one of the standbys by the druggist.—(adv.)

Woodrow Wilson's Double Pays Atlanta Short Visit

By Parks Rusk.

No doubt rumors have drifted over the country to the effect that President Wilson has paid Atlanta a semi-secret visit. If they have, they had a foundation a bit firmer than the ordinary rumor that floats around, for there was real cause last week for such a rumor to get a start.

You're wrong. It isn't Woodrow Wilson urging the ratification of the peace treaty, but is James J. McCabe, noted musical composer and educator, relating a good joke to friends.

There are doubtless few persons outside of books and the movies with features so much alike as Woodrow Wilson and James J. McCabe, noted musical composer, and prominent educator, being a district school supervisor in New York city, who stopped over in Atlanta a short while last week, en route from Oklahoma, where he had been visiting, to his home in New York city.

The marked resemblance between the two has been the basis for many unusual happenings. During his stay in Atlanta he was a guest at the Piedmont hotel. On the first night of his stay there, rumors were circulated, probably by bell-hops or elevator maids, taht the president was a guest at the hotel.

Taller Than President.

These rumors eventually reached a great many of the guests, who went down to the lobby to satisfy their curiosity. Upon their first glance at Mr. McCabe they thought they were indeed fortunate in stopping at the same hotel with the chief executive of the nation.

Mr. McCabe is a trifle taller than the president, and more powerfully built. Photographed, however, they look alike. It's not an unusual occurrence for Mr. McCabe to have someone on the street gaze at him with a startled expression, and then, after passing by, peer at him, apparently puzzled, for the resemblance is remarkable, to say the least.

On November 11, 1918, the day that the whole nation was jubilant over the signing of the world-war armistice, Mr. McCabe happened to be leisurely strolling along near the public library in New York city. The victory celebration in that city was at its height. Someone in the jostling crowd of merry-makers singled Mr. McCabe out and raised the shout of "the president!"

The mob took up the cry, and the embarrassed citizen fled, with a crowd that gradually became a gathering of several thousand at his heels. He attempted to enter the library, but was caught on the steps of the institution. Photographers sprang from all sides. Frantically waving his arms and making various gestures, he attempted to make an explanation.

Thought He Was Speaking.

"Hush! the president is making a speech!" someone in the crowd roared. He again waved his arms, in denial. "He's leading the cheers," shouted the crowd. He burst out laughing at the situation, and the laugh made the resemblance more emphatic than ever. Thousands of New Yorkers did not know, until they read the papers the following morning, that they had not witnessed in pantomime a speech by President Wilson from the steps of the public library.

Mr. McCabe won nation-wide fame as a musical composer when he wrote an entirely new tune for the anthem, "America." This work invoked editorial praise from leading musical publications in America, and letters of congratulations from eminent musical authorities over the country. In commenting on his reasons for thinking a new air was needed for the anthem, Mr. McCabe said:

"This tune was written in response to the feeling that our beautiful anthem should be sung to music composed for it by an American, and that the borrowed tune of "God Save the King" should be used solely for the British anthem, to which it rightfully belongs."

It is said that this American tune has been adopted by the New York board of education for use in the schools of that city, and is now in use in thousands of places in the United States, in Hawaii, in Alaska and in some of the American missions in the Far East. More than 1,500,000 free copies of the vocal score have been sent by the composer in response to requests from all parts of the world.

TICKETS GO ON SALE FOR BARKER LECTURE

Tickets went on sale Monday at the Cable Piano company and the Cole Book company for the series of three lectures by famous Englishmen of letters who are being brought to Atlanta by the Atlanta center of the Drama League of America.

The tickets are being sold for the entire series only, with no seats to any single lecture. The prices are $3 for the series, with a special rate of $2.25 to students and of $2 to members of the league. Members of the league will sell tickets in the schools and colleges of Atlanta this week. All proceeds go to the Martha Berry circle to provide an athletic recreation hall at the Martha Berry school, money for which already has been partly subscribed by hard-working graduates of the school.

The first of the lectures is January 20 by Granville Barker, who speaks on "The Only Possible Theater." Mr. Barker is not unknown to Atlantans, many of whom have enjoyed his "The Madras House," "The Voysey Inheritance" and other plays.

All lectures will be at 4 o'clock in the afternoons at Egleston Memorial hall.

MORTUARY

Hobson and Miss Bessie Brandis, both of Atlanta; three sons, George and Willie Brandis, of Atlanta; Henry Brandis of Salisbury, N. C.; a brother, Wellington Brandis, of Richmond, Va., and a sister, Mrs. Mannell, of Richmond, Va. The body will be sent to Richmond, Va., his old home. Mr. Brandis was a Mason and belonged to the Richmond, Va., lodge.

Harris Urges Body.

(By Constitution Leased Wire.)

Washington, January 12.—The placing of a lighted buoy on the east end of the south jetty marking the entrance to Cumberland Sound, off the Georgia coast, is being urged upon the department of commerce by Senator Harris. This point marks the entrance to the ports of St. Marys, Georgia, Fernandina, Fla., and Secretary James T. Vocelle, of the St. Marys board of trade, states that the buoy is necessary for safe navigation. Senator Harris has also asked that a small beacon light be erected on a dangerous shoal reef where the Jolly rivers empties into the St. Marys river.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention The Atlanta Daily Constitution. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—(adv.)

WOODMEN OF ATLANTA CAMP WILL CELEBRATE

Woodmen of the World, Atlanta camp, 430, will hold their tenth annual celebration next Friday evening at the camp hall, 10½ West Mitchell street. Elaborate plans have been made for this gala affair and indications point to an enjoyable evening.

Several of the officers of the camp will give short talks during the course of the meeting. T. E. Bennett, state manager for north Georgia, is scheduled to give a brief lecture on interesting topics.

At the last meeting, the following officers were installed: H. W. Quinn (fifth term), consul commander; W. C. Golson (second term), adviser lieutenant; W. M. Leas, banker; John C. Quinn (third term), clerk; M. A. Beiter (second term), escort; O. P. Stanley, watchman; E. M. Martin, sentry; Paul Donehoo, musician, and E. T. Williams, G. K. Churchill and J. W. Kyle, managers.

The American consul general at Athens has cabled, under date of December 24, that the government of Greece has prohibited until the end of 1920 the importation of alcohol, distilled wines of all kinds, excepting such as has been distilled for mixing with must or wine, and of alcoholic beverages in general excepting those put up in bottles.

Diamonds of Quality
In view of the increasing demand for Diamonds, and the general scarcity of Diamonds of quality, we are fortunate in being able to offer a selection that has never been surpassed in our history.
Added to the beauty of stones of the first quality is found all the artistry and finesse of the most expert craftsmen in exclusive mountings.
We will, if you like, send a collecaion of stones to your home, in the city or elsewhere, so that you may make your selection under the most favorable circumstances.

INCREASED DEMAND FOR GRADUATES OF DRAUGHON'S BUSINESS COLLEGE REQUIRES ALL AVAILABLE STUDENTS

Large Enrollment Not Sufficient to Meet Demands for Draughon Trained Office Assistants—Many Atlanta Firms Ask to Be Placed on Waiting List—Home-Study Courses Offered Those Who Cannot Attend School--Draughon's Teaches the Best There Is in Shorthand—Graham, Pitman and Gregg.

So urgent has been the recent demand for the graduates of Draughon's Business College that every student who will be available within the next ten days has already been engaged for a good position. This enviable reputation of Draughon's Business College among the big business men of Atlanta is due to the efficient service of its graduates.

Draughon's is the place to secure your business training, because it is recognized by business men as a school where they can secure the most competent bookkeepers and stenographers.

Draughon's College has always insisted on thorough courses and employed none but expert instructors. Every teacher connected with Draughon's is college trained.

The Draughon method of individual instructions in training young people for business makes it easy for the student to go direct from the college office and take up her work in the business world without embarrassment. That is why business men employ Draughon Trained students in preference to others. That is why thousands of Draughon students are holding the very best positions with the government and the business houses all over the land. The Draughon training stands supreme in Commercial Education. Its facilities for qualifying and placing its students in good positions are unexcelled.

The mid-winter term has opened with a rush. Many students have enrolled for day and night courses, while the Home Study department has enrolled students in almost every state from New York to Texas, many of these students have already completed their courses and are accepting good positions.

Write for 1920 catalogue and state whether you are interested in a course at college or by mail. Address H. R. Todd, Pres., Draughon's Business College, Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)
